An Important Letter

BEAVERTON, OREGON.—"I was taken very sick with a bad case of liver trouble and indigestion, and had a severe case of catarrh of long standing, since I was a young girl.

I doctored and doctored with different doctors and the last doctor we paid $200.00 and I was no better than when I began. I almost gave up, but happened to think of my mother's being cured of a severe case of salt-rheum with 'Golden Medical Discovery' so I wrote to Dr. Pierce while lying in bed and stated my case. I followed his directions to the letter and can say that I was cured. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets,' also used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Later I was cured of a bad case of bladder trouble with Dr. Pierce's Anuric.

"I have a son and a daughter that were also cured of the worst chronic coughs by taking the 'Discovery.' My family cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines too highly. We are never without them and I have had a copy of Doctor Pierce's book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser (price 50 cents) for the past 30 years. I cannot say too much for Dr. Pierce's medicines."—MRS. CAROLINE BOLES, Box 363.

JACKSON COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF HEALTH TO MEET

The Jackson County Public Health association, which has charge of the work of the county public health nurse, will hold its second annual meeting next Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the Medford public library. Anyone in the county who is interested is invited to attend.

At this meeting reports of the year's activities will be read by the president, Mrs. Louise Perozzi of Ashland, by the chairman of the different committees and by the nurse, Mrs. Florence Lee.

The annual election of officers will also be held, a nominating committee having met last Saturday afternoon in the nurse's office to prepare a tentative slate.

Miss Jane C. Allen, state advisory nurse of the state bureau of nursing which has supervision of all the county nurses in the state, is in Medford this week assisting in preparations for next Friday's meeting. She states that the state bureau of nursing which is under the state board of health, has adopted a general plan for the county work throughout the state. Coos, Lane, Union, Washington and Clackamas counties are supervising their county nurses through county public health associations organized according to this state plan and are finding it very satisfactory.

Under this plan each of the community centers of a county has its own community vice president and a member on each of the committees of the county association. As the nurse makes her rounds over the county, the community vice presidents call the local groups of workers in conference with the nurse concerning local work. These local conferences serve to keep the interest of the different communities alive and keen and are of great help to the nurse in handling local problems.

It is Miss Allen's hope that the work in Jackson county will go forward during the coming year in accordance with this general plan being found so successful in these other counties. A good, enthusiastic meeting next Friday would make a most auspicious beginning for the new year's work.

CONSUELO VANDERBILT'S SON MARRIED LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Marquis of Blandford, son of the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York, was married this afternoon to the Honorable Mary Cadogan, daughter of Earl Cadogan, at St. Margaret's church, Westminster. The wedding was the most important social event of the season. The gifts were many and costly. They included a diamond brooch from King George and Queen Mary; a diamond pendant from Dowager Queen Alexandra and presents from other members of the royal family.

Coughed Night and Day. John Vonnue, Elberton, Ga., writes: "Last fall, when my neighbors were down with influenza, I took a severe cold and before I was aware of my condition I was down sick in bed. I coughed night and day and my throat was raw and sore. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and took eight small doses in two hours. My condition began to improve and in a few days I was as well as ever. In my opinion Foley's is the best cough medicine made." For sale by Medford Pharmacy.

ELKS PAY HIGH HONOR TO LEADER OF SICK RELIEF

At last the Elks lodge of Medford has got partially even with Noah S. Bennett for his unselfish and untiring work of years in scattering flowers and sunshine in the sick rooms, not only of the Elks and members of their families, as though this were not a gigantic job, but in many other sick rooms of the city and immediate vicinity, by voting him unanimously a life membership in the lodge.

This unusual honor came to Mr. Bennett when he came down with the flu a couple of weeks ago and for a time was seriously ill. There was general consternation among the Elks. "N. S. is sick" was the word that was passed around. "Impossible," was the usual reply. "He never gets sick. He looks after the sick. But when the realization came that he was really ill the spontaneous thought came to all "what can we do for him?"

Hence it was that at the big annual roll call and post excited rubens night meeting of two weeks ago the lodge gave considerable time as to how best reward their esteemed loyal knight and chairman of their sick and relief committee. It was generally recognized that his was a labor of love and that the appreciation expressed must be lofty and in keeping with his sterling character. It was recognized all around that there could be but one honor bestowed that he possibly would accept and that was a life membership.

A committee was appointed last week to wait on him and apprise him of the honor that the lodge had bestowed. This committee appropriately consisted of T. E. Daniels, the only other life member of the lodge, George Hilton of the sick committee who had performed Mr. Bennett's duties as chairman while he was ill, and W. E. Walker, local manager of the Standard Oil company, who with his family had special cause to feel grateful to Mr. Bennett for his sick and relief work during the flu epidemic here last winter.

The modest "angel" of the Elks lodge was completely stunned and surprised when the committee broke the glad tidings; then he quietly thanked them and the lodge, and characteristically dismissed the subject by remarking, "Well, I'll go on planting flowers and plants for the sick the same as always."

And what do you think? This man who was named after the world's first great navigator and manager collector, still weak from the effects of the flu, way behind in his work and business, began on Sunday to resume his visits to the sick by going up to the Sacred Heart hospital with floral gifts and cheery words for the Elks and members of their families sick there.

Mr. Bennett as a young man many years ago became imbued with the idea that it was better to cheer the sick while living rather than heap flowers on them when they died, and he has since consistently followed this idea.

For years it is said that his personal visits to the Elks' sick contingent alone have averaged about 45 a month, and during the flu epidemic last winter for two months the number of visits was over 100. Rain or shine, in all kind of weather, often neglecting his personal business affairs, "old reliable N. S." was on the job, not only with flowers or plants for the ailing ones but doing everything possible in the way of relief.

For instance during the flu epidemic of last winter in some manner he heard that some one was sick at the home of W. E. Walker, and on going there he found Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the children ill with the flu, and helpless as to summoning outside aid. It will be recalled that at that time you could not obtain nurses at any price, there was so much sickness.

Off came Bennett's coat, and for days he acted as nurse, cook, housekeeper and chambermaid—sneaking away for a few minutes now and then to make other sick calls—until there was room finally to receive the family at the Sacred Heart hospital and he rushed them on there in two ambulances.

GENERAL PERSHING GIVES HINT OF ESSAY CONTEST

The recruiting publicity bureau at New York City has received the following telegram from General Pershing, in which he gives some information that ought to be of value to the young people of Medford who are interested in the army prize essay contest, General Pershing says:

"The United States army should appeal to every red blooded young American. It offers many opportunities and advantages to the young men of today. The service rendered to one's country in the army should not be considered from a material point of view alone, but also from the viewpoint of benefit derived by the individual in the development of his character, mind and body. Through association and contact with his fellow soldiers, through service at home and abroad, through a sense of patriotism, an army man receives a character training which makes him the best and most useful, if not the most valuable citizen in American society. This character training imparted is nothing more than a high attainment in initiative, self-reliance and ability to accomplish things worth while. It is not necessary to mention the great advantages in one's physical development obtained through army training. This has been demonstrated during the world war and one need only observe the 1,800,000 young men who were in the military service and note the marked improvement in their physical condition, due to regular exercise and the clean and wholesome life they led. Much progress has already been made in instituting in the army a system of educational and scientific training, and today the soldier, while serving in the army, is given every opportunity to learn some craft or trade which will enable him to gain advancement in the service if he chooses to remain in it, or to take a more important position in civil life after he completes his enlistment."

The Rise of Maxwell Is Due To Its Metals

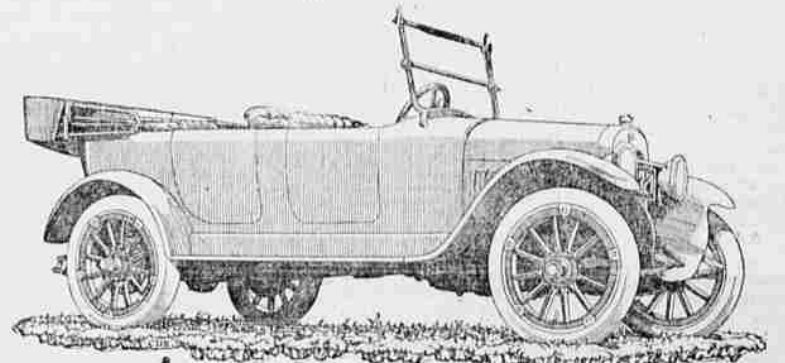

Fine soil makes fine wheat; fine feathers make a fine bird; and fine metals have made the Maxwell. They have given it:

1—A life of 100,000 miles. 2—Thriftiness. For its metals are light in weight. Therein comes thriftiness.

But these metals are of extra strength. Therein comes long life.

Metallurgists—those who have made the study of metals a science—will tell you that such metals are costly, but they guarantee quality in a car and their generous employment in a Maxwell is by far the best evidence anyone may need to determine its quality.

They are almost alone responsible for the rapid rise of Maxwell, for the fact that nearly 400,000 now have been built, for that ever-growing friendliness to Maxwell the world over.
