It Pays to Advertise. You use Ivory Soap and Community Silver and Diamond Dyes, don't you? And all the other nationally advertised products. Why do you use them? Because they're advertised.

So you're going to be interested in the picture we're showing tomorrow and Saturday at the Liberty. It's called "It Pays to Advertise." Bryant Washburn is the star. The picture shows the inside workings of the advertising business. The hero makes himself rich in two weeks by cleverly advertising a new brand of soap.

Does it sound dull? Well, as a play it was one of the biggest successes in years when shown in New York two seasons ago. It is still running out on the road.

Take it from us, it is one of the funniest and cleverest comedies ever turned out.

It Pays to Advertise—when the goods are good. It's a knockout.

By James Oliver Curwood. "Back to God's Country" shown on the screen of the Rialto theatre, beginning yesterday, represents the accomplishment of a task of incredible magnitude.

Aside from the fact that it is a graphic version of my original story, "Wabi, the Walrus," which was published in the Good Housekeeping magazine not long ago, it has the distinction of having been made farther north than any other picture in the history of the screen. All of the snow scenes were taken on the far shore of Lesser Slave Lake, north of the 54th parallel.

Avoiding Static. Frequently the temperature was fifty degrees below zero and it was as cold as sixty degrees below the zero mark. In this frigid temperature it was found necessary to draw all off from the cameras before they could be operated.

A matter of scientific interest is the fact that in this far northern latitude, over 29,000 feet of film were shot without a single foot of static. This remarkable result was achieved, undoubtedly, because the two cameras in use were constantly left out of doors.

Probably no group of actors ever had a more interesting experience than those who were engaged in the making of the northern scenes of the picture. I went ahead with David Harford, the director, to pave the way for the company, the arrival of which was greeted with a number of dogs and sledges, which conveyed them from the line of rail into the frozen Arctic regions.

Overcoming Obstacles. One of the most remarkable achievements in motion pictures, I believe, was accomplished when we built a ship, one hundred and eighty feet long, in the ice of Lesser Slave Lake. This played the part of the frozen-in whaler, Flying Moon. The masts and heavy timbers were hewn out of the forest, but all lumber and other material had to be brought by dog sledge from the line of rail, miles away.

Upon arrival, the members of the company found themselves in the midst of a howling wilderness. On the three sides of them were the frozen forests. North and east were the barren lands on which they were to enact the scenes for "Back to God's Country." Between them and the Arctic ocean there was not a foot of railroad or a settlement.

"ANTI-URIC CURED WIFE" SAID PASTOR

The Leading Man Dies. We burned night and day fires to keep out the intense cold. I passed up and down constantly among the actors, watching their faces and warning them at the first sign of frozen ears or noses. In spite of this, scarcely a member of the company got away without a frozen ear, nose or cheek. One member suffered a frozen foot.

Despite the fact that cast members were begged to take proper precautions and minute care of themselves, Ronald Byron, the leading man, died soon after his arrival. The tragedy nearly resulted in giving up the venture.

Grit and determination on the part of the cast saved the day.

The great laugh festival "Twin Beds" which has broken all records in all the prominent cities in the world will be seen here at the Page theatre on Monday night, March 1st, distinguishes itself from the majority of comedies by the clean wholesomeness of its story, the rapidity of its action, the dramatic lift of its situations, the wit and breeziness of its lines and the deftness of its characterization. Description of the comedy conveys but a feeble idea of the complicated actions which are unrolled in the course of its three acts. Theatres ring with happy laughter and catch words from "Twin Beds" are heard in every quarter. The company seen here is the best ever organized and plays only the prominent cities of the middle west and Pacific coast.

Just Yellow Mustard for Backache, Lumbago. Grandmother's old mussy mustard plaster or poultice generally brought relief almost even in the severest cases, but it burned and blistered like blazes. "Heat eases pain" reduces the inflammation and soothes congestion, but you'll find that while Begy's Mustard, made of true yellow mustard and other pain destroyers is just as hot as the old fashioned plaster it is much quicker, cleaner and more effective and cannot blister. It's a great external remedy—just rub it on wherever aches, pains, inflammation, congestion or swelling exists and in a very few minutes the relief you have longed for surely arrives because "Heat eases pain." 30 and 60 cents at druggists or by mail S. 50 Years Ago a young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. He finally made up his mind to place some of his prescriptions before the entire United States and, moving to Buffalo, he put up what he called his Favorite Prescription, and placed it with the druggists in every state in the Union.

For over fifty years some of Dr. Pierce's home medicines have been selling over the drug counters, so that more than forty-eight million bottles have been sold during that time. This speaks well for the reliability and value of Dr. Pierce's standard home remedies. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood tonic and strength-builder which contains no alcohol, yet has tonic qualities that have endeared it to the American public. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap, have long been considered the best vegetable laxative. More recently that wonderful kidney and backache remedy of Dr. Pierce's—namely Anuric (anti-uric-acid), has been successfully used by many thousands of people who write Dr. Pierce in unqualified terms of the benefits received.

San Francisco, Calif.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's remedies in my family for fifteen years and have found on every occasion that they gave satisfactory results. Recently I was troubled with my kidneys and my back constantly pained me. I took three packages of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets which removed all pain and cleared up conditions. I advise every one to give Dr. Pierce's remedies a fair trial."—MRS. E. EVE, 422 Brannon St.
