Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry

Among the presidential possibilities are a number of impossibilities. One of these, Senator Miles Poindexter, came to his senses Friday and withdrew. He was so far from being presidential timber that his first name could not be used as a medium for measuring the distance.

Owing to the hazy selection of cabinet members, nothing can now shock the nation but the appointment of Eugene V. Debs as minister to Chile.

Holland reports say that the kaiser is crazy. This is the ground for Mr. Hohenzollern to testify when brought to trial, that he never knew there was a war.

Thirty days of earnest praying for rain, netted a cloudy sky Friday.

It seems to be the rule that poems published in magazines under the title: "Poems Worth Remembering," should be classified as poems worth forgetting. Most of these are "high-brow" poems which nobody, least of all their author, has an idea what they are about.

A drive is being conducted for the "Old Folks of America" this week. This is a highly laudable enterprise, but not near as laudable as donating to the meekless Assyrians, or the wild men of Borneo.

Secretary of War Noot Baker declares that "Mexico can work out her own salvation." The world knows that it is not in the nature of a Mexican to work out anything, let alone salvation.

N. Y. GIANTS LEAVE FOR SAN ANTONIO

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Headed by Christy Mathewson, the main contingent of the New York National League baseball club departed by special train for San Antonio, Texas, for spring training. Other players and recruits will be picked up at various points. Manager McEwain is enroute to the Texas City from Havana.

Altho Heinie Zimmerman and Hal Chase were ordered to report here today they did not do so. Zimmerman sent back his contract unimpaired, while Chase, according to reports, has decided to quit baseball for business in California.

The advance guard of the New York American team will leave tonight for spring training quarters at Jacksonville, Fla.

Coughed Night and Day John Vogtne, Elberton, Ga., writes: "Last fall, when my neighbors were down with influenza, I took a severe cold and before I was aware of my condition I was down sick in bed. I coughed night and day and my throat was raw and sore. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and took eight small doses in two hours. My condition began to improve and in a few days I was as well as ever. In my opinion Foley's is the best cough medicine made." For sale by Medford Pharmacy.

DOING ALL THEY CAN

TWO MORE influential citizens have come out against Herbert Hoover.—Senator Boss Penrose of Pennsylvania, and Boss Charlie Murphy of Tammany Hall. From his spacious bungalow in Florida, Boss No. 1 says "You can depend upon this,—Hoover will not be the Republican nominee. He's a Wilson democrat and this is a Republican year."

Charlie Murphy seconds the motion, "Hoover has no more chance of being the democratic nominee than I have. We don't have to go to the Republican party for our leaders."

That would seem to settle it. And yet there is a tradition that both of these sterling citizens have been equally emphatic in the past, and awoke after the convention to find themselves grievously mistaken.

Boss Penrose for example, was at Boss Platt's elbow when a certain Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was quietly canned and embalmed in the museum of political nonentities, by having the vice-presidential jinx pinned to his coat tails.

"That ends Theodore," chuckled the B.P.'s. And when the erudite and astute professor of political economy made known his purpose to step from the state house of New Jersey to the White House at Washington, Boss Murphy winked his off eye and set his bicuspid deeper into his havana.

"Woodrow, the highbrow, has another guess," quoth he.

And yet both of these amateurs served two healthy terms, and both enjoyed an amazing power over the American people.

In fact, the political bosses haven't had a candidate put over at a convention since 1912, and then, if we remember rightly, they only carried Utah and Vermont or something like that.

Of course, this doesn't mean Hoover will be the nominee of either party this year,—all indications are he will not. But the more citizens like Penrose and Murphy howl against him the better his chances. The people have a way of tagging "boss" candidates with a can, when the relationship is clearly established.

Another criminal unearthed! Bainbridge Colby, the new secretary of state, voted for Roosevelt in 1912 and Wilson in 1916, which should be sufficient for the senate to indict him.

With Dempsey indicted for evading the draft, Jess Willard must find a certain consolation in his not evading that punch that allows him to quietly cut coupons on his Kansas farm.

"Portland has never been so prosperous" declares a Rose City bulletin. That's no news—look at the daily hold-ups.

The Republican refusal to endorse universal military service has not been commented upon as yet by General Wood.

Lovely weather if you have an irrigation ditch in your back yard.

Tribune's Daily Health Hint

By Harriet Boewig. Do you know that you are going to live ten years longer than your father? Vital statistics say so. A man born between 1871 and 1880 had a chance of living to be 41.4 years old, and a woman 41.6 years. A man born between 1910 and 1912 runs a chance of living 51.5 years and a woman 55.4 years. Such are the English figures. In spite of the wonderful work of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, American statistics are no wretchedly bad that no work of importance can be done with them. Some states do not have a half-way decent birth registration even today.

However, while we cannot prove it by statistics, the causes of this wonderfully rapid advance are about the same in America as in England, and they are chiefly the advancement of preventive medicine and the subsequent improvement of sanitation. Doctors a generation ago went about scolding and preaching people into the simplest rules of sanitation that every child knows now. The lay world did not understand the terms of medicine that we use as ordinary speech. Verily, the doctor has not been selfish in his knowledge. The old doctor, who said, in answer to your question, "Doctor, what is that for?" "That is for you," is passing.

He takes you into his confidence—to the extent that you are able to share it—and gives you pointers, not only on how to take this medicine, but how to behave now and in the future. He is working to put himself out of a job.

The result is a healthier and longer lived race. In spite of the emphatic howls of the "good old times" folks, hospitals have done a large share of the work. We are not afraid of hospitals as we were. We know certainly that they are not among us to collect material for medical students to dissect; gradually it has soaked thru that they are here to cure and to teach; for nobody can leave a hospital after a protracted illness without having learned just a little something.

Public health nurses have done their share. They are teaching all the time they are nursing—teaching people that need the teaching most. All this cannot help but raise the health standard.

THE BELOVED CHEATER AT THE RIALTO SUNDAY

When a man is in love—he will do many foolish things. Some lovers will stand beneath the fair maiden's window and make the night hideous with weird noises which they fondly believe will win the aforesaid maiden. Others have been known to wait for hours at the door saying those two simple words—good night.

We all sneer and smile at those in love—unless we are in that predicament. Then it is altogether different.

One is hardly ever surprised at what a lover will do, but here is a man who will take any prize for the unusual.

In the first place he promised the girl to whom he was engaged never to kiss her—and then, he wants his best friend to teach his girl—how to kiss.

"The Beloved Cheater says—DON'T. 'The Beloved Cheater' is Lew Cody's picture and is as refreshingly original as a breath of new-mown hay and it will open a three-day engagement at the Rialto tomorrow.

MRS. JEAN ELLIS WILL TELL WHAT YOU'RE GOOD FOR

The opportunity does not often present itself to a young man of getting scientific and expert advice as to the vocation he may be best fitted for. There are not many persons who have the gift of reading one's character to such an extent as to be able to say, with any degree of assurance, that one's ability runs along this line, or that line, or the other line. A mind reader is one person, a fortune teller another, but Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis is neither one. She will receive into her presence a perfect stranger, and in a fifteen minutes' examination will tell him enough of his past history which applies with sufficient preciseness as to hold him in very firm faith of what she may tell him regarding his fitness for a life vocation. Mrs. Ellis has spent years of study and practice in vocational guidance and comes to us under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association to be of service, in particular, to ex-service men. She will arrive here Monday, March 1st, 7 p. m., and remain until Wednesday, March 3rd, 5-10 p. m.

On the evening of her arrival a general meeting will be held in St. Mark's Episcopal church at 8 o'clock, to which everyone is most cordially invited, ex-service men in particular. At this meeting arrangements will be made by Mrs. Ellis for personal interviews with the latter, and should these interviews not consume all of the time she is permitted to remain with us, she will gladly talk to any other young men who so desire.

Many of the ex-service men left good positions to enter the war. When some of them returned they could not get back into their old places, but were forced to do the best they could and perhaps take up some line of work which was utterly foreign to them. Some may be doing very well, while others may not yet have found their bearings. It may be the opportunity of a lifetime, perhaps, for those who are in an unsettled state of mind regarding their vocations, to receive advice from one of Mrs. Ellis' capability and training.

There will be no charge whatever for the opening meeting or for any of the personal interviews which follow. Mrs. Ellis is at present in the employ of the Interstate Young Men's Christian association who bear all her expenses. She is working in connection with the educational service department, and now that this splendid opportunity is to come into our midst, it is earnestly hoped that many young men will avail themselves of the privilege.

Red soldiers are at work in Petrograd pursuing peace-time vocations. At Pskov they are loading and unloading trains and clearing the tracks.
