Tribune's Daily Health Hint

By Harriet Rowbig. A famous singer gave this bit of advice to beginners: A bright smile and a relaxed hand. This is not a sermon on singing; but the same rules will carry any of us thru the day better than the attitude we are apt to assume.

And the smile is not only psychological. We have an unhappy way of puckering up our faces whenever we think, which not only invites wrinkles, but puts our facial nerves on a strain that communicates itself to the rest of us. Strain is indeed one of our great sins. More energy is lost straining—contracting muscles that are not working, working muscles that are not doing anything, meeting situations that will never exist, worrying—that some of us put into good, legitimate work. So the hackneyed command to smile that greets us from office walls, is more than a sentimentality. It is advice to save our energy, muscular and nervous, that energy that we are forever mourning as insufficient and that we are forever spending foolishly as if it were the cheapest thing we have.

The Europeans tell us we lack poise. Let us cultivate more placidity. This need not imply less enthusiasm, nor does it by any means mean coolness toward our neighbor. On the contrary, the cheerily relaxed face—not the smile of a chess-cat—is an invitation to all who see. It will make friends. And you have no idea how much better one can think when there is no scowl on the face.

It is the smatches of relaxation between exertions that give us a fund of energy. All the chances we have to rest the brief, truly carry out the advice that every little bit added to what we've got makes just a little bit more—of nervous energy.

PHOENIX PARAGRAPHS

A couple of months ago through the Junior Red Cross society of Seattle, Washington, the French class of the Phoenix high school began a correspondence with some French girls, who are attending a girls school in Vannes, France. Last week the members of the French class here were made happy upon receiving replies to their letters. This correspondence can now be carried on independently of the Red Cross society and will be not only a pleasure but a great benefit to the girls on both sides of the water. For the French girls are as anxious to learn our language as we are to learn theirs.

The interest of the whole school was aroused Wednesday afternoon when a special assembly was called and improvements needed in Phoenix were talked about. Several themes on the subject, written by Miss Homes' English class, were read. There was to have been an agreeable sort of trick played on the town on April Fool's day, but the rain prevented the plan from being carried out. The school children were going to demonstrate the way to clean up the streets and so set the "clean up spirit," going in the town.

The Parent Teacher's association was to meet on Thursday afternoon for reorganization, but owing to the disagreeable weather, few attended and another meeting is called for next Thursday for the same purpose. They wish to re-organize before school closes so that the work may be carried on during vacation and so that they may take up the work without delay when school opens next fall.

The new sawmill, which is being erected at Phoenix will be a 20,000 capacity mill and will be in operation by June 1. Yesterday morning at nine o'clock when the teachers entered the assembly room they were surprised to see that their places had been taken. Miss Sybil Parry had taken Miss Homes' place and Miss Marie Morton posed as Miss Frater. Fred Johnson soon made his appearance dressed like Mr. Milau. The whole affair afforded a great deal of amusement for both pupils and teachers. This is the first time that we have had a faculty "take off."

A meeting of the trustees and elders of the Presbyterian church was held in the Clyde Hall, Sunday, March 21. Its purpose was to plan

ROOSEVELT VERSUS SWEET

THE ELECTION of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr., to the American Bolshevik club should cause no great surprise. Teddy, Jr., with the high courage and fine Americanism of his father, opposed the ejection of the socialist assemblymen from the New York legislature, and his damnation, is only the logical product of the sort of hysterical intolerance from which the country has been suffering. Charles E. Hughes, also has been held up to public scorn for combating this assault upon American traditions of which the New York assembly action is such a striking example.

"The super-patriot who clothes his intolerance in patriotism is no friend of America," declares the former republican presidential nominee and the Sweet gang at Albany yells "sedition!"

The situation should contribute materially to clearing the post-war atmosphere. The inevitable public reaction moreover will rebound to the credit of these men who have had the courage to stand by the principles upon which this country was founded and which have made it the greatest Democracy in the world.

As Colonel Roosevelt pointed out, to oppose the expulsion of the socialist assemblymen does not mean to endorse the principles of socialism or have anything but unqualified detestation for the record of the socialist party in the war. The issue is not the principle of socialism, but the principle of representative government.

These men were not convicted of disloyalty, they were convicted of no crime as individuals, their sole offense was their membership in a party, their sole judges were the members of the assembly to which they were elected. As was pointed out if a majority party can eject a minority party, when representation has been properly and legally secured, the precedent established undermines the very frame-work of representative government.

Not only is the principle wrong, but the policy stupid. For as Russia has shown and as England has demonstrated the intolerant suppression of political opinion, where it depends for supremacy upon conversion rather than force, leads to the very disaster which it is designed to prevent. The cure for the political radical is to test his ideas in the democratic crucible of free sunlight and fresh air. If the ideas are good, the people will accept them, if they are bad the people will put them down. It is a strange patriotism, as Mr. Hughes says, which can't trust a Democracy to deal with such a problem without violating the principles upon which the vitality of the Democracy depends.

GOOD WORK

THE directors of the Medford Irrigation District declare that water will be secured in 1921. This is good news, and the directors are to be congratulated upon the result. In spite of criticism and discouragement, these men at considerable personal sacrifice have devoted their time and energy in securing for Medford district what must be secured before this section can enjoy the prosperity to which it is entitled. The result is a credit to them, and a great boon for Southern Oregon.

IN GERMANY

IN GERMANY all things are mixed, and nothing's settled, nothing's fixed. One government has quite a boom, and then it journeys up the flume; another comes and it may bust, and leave behind a cloud of dust. And old Ex Bill, he sits and blinks, and many kinds of thoughts he thinks. "They can't cut ice without a throne," he sighs, as he sits there alone; "they talk republics and the like; republics! For the love of Mike! That sort of stuff is purely rot; they'll have to send for Me und Gott." Of course you'll say his thoughts are vain, that he is neither safe nor sane, that Germans wouldn't dare to place this relic of a bughouse race upon the throne we overset, but wait a while already yet. It's sure, when all is said and done, we cannot trust the tricky Hun. He'd do the thing we least expect, although the universe be wrecked, if thereby he could jar the foes who lately led him by the nose. And Germans want old things again, the throne, the crown, and war lord men. And so the dreams of old Ex Bill are not so wild, already still.

the drive for the church and the reports indicate the most successful work in the history of the church. After the business meeting was over, they enjoyed a most delightful dinner.

There will be no C. E. meeting next Sunday night as the members of the society have planned to attend Easter services in Medford.

Wonderful Results at 70 from Internal Baths

Mrs. L. M. Wadlia, 2043 National Ave., San Diego, Cal., writes Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York as follows:

"Within the last month have had wonderful results and all inflammation has nearly subsided. I could hardly expect a woman over 70 to receive benefit from a trouble of long standing as quickly as a younger person. Money could not buy my 'J. B. L. Cascade' if I could not get another."

It is difficult to believe how many internal troubles internal bathing will relieve until you realize that "bacterians agree that 95 per cent of human ailments are caused by accumulated waste in the lower intestine."

The "J. B. L. Cascade," the scientific method of internal bathing, removes, in a perfectly natural way all noxious waste, and has been so successful in promoting health that over half a million intelligent Americans are now using it regularly.

It is an invention of Chas. A. Tyrrell, M.D., of New York, who for 25 years has been a specialist on Internal Bathing, and it is now being shown and explained by Heath's, and West Side Pharmacy.

They will give you on request a very interesting booklet on Internal Bathing by Dr. Tyrrell, "Who Man of To-day is Only 50 per cent Efficient." Ask for it to-day and know more about yourself and your functions than you ever have before. Adv.
