DON'T MISS BIG C. OF COMMERCE SMOKER MONDAY

Election returns in the Chamber of Commerce final election are coming in strong it was announced at the headquarters today. Judging from the number of ballots cast this early the members are greatly interested in who the officers and directors of the organization will be.

The polls close and the tellers start counting at six o'clock on Monday evening. They hope to be able to tabulate and make their return before the smoker meeting for the members which is to be held at the library at 8 o'clock.

The smoker meeting promises to be quite a live affair. The committee in charge have secured several good speakers and a lot of pep will be injected into the meeting. Rev. D. E. Millard has charge of the music and Mrs. Satchwell has promised to see that none go away hungry. Also the newly elected directors will be on hand to bow their acknowledgements and grateful appreciation for the honor bestowed upon them, etc., well a member just can't afford to miss it.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR BISHOP MATT HUGHES

Bishop Hughes had so many ardent admirers and personal friends in Medford that it has been thought fitting to conduct a Memorial Service for him at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. J. Randolph Sannett, will deliver the memorial address.

PICTURE DRY WORKER IS HUNG IN SALOON

NEW YORK, April 10.—A portrait of William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, was hung in the window of a tightly locked "third parlor" in the tenderloin today as one saloonkeeper's wordless comment on the vice probe.

"But this reform stuff is like a small bank roll in a jazz emporium," the saloonist said. "It won't last long."

Cletrac Farming Is Better Farming

More work—more kinds of work—more days in the year. That is what Cletrac farmers are getting from their tractors and it is putting them ahead of their neighbors in profits from the land they till.

The Cletrac is not simply a "plowing" tractor. It does good plowing—better plowing in fact than other tractors—because it works at 3 1/2 miles an hour. But it does all the other farm work too.

It gives the farmer a simple, compact, reliable and economical source of hauling and stationary power. It is built right. It will last. It burns kerosene, distillate or gasoline perfectly and uses less than two gallons of fuel per working hour.

You can hitch the Cletrac to any of your power farming implements and do as much work in a day as three teams and three men have done before. And you can do all your farm belt work with the Cletrac as well. Thousands of farmers the country over are working their Cletracs at a profit every day in the year.
