Today was full of weather. In the morning there was sunshine and later there was snow and rain and a small wind to blow them around a little blizzardily. But this caused no worry. The worry comes with the prediction of a light to heavy frost for tomorrow morning. The precipitation of Thursday in the day and last night amounted to .15 of an inch to be added to the 8 inches that had fallen since last September, and more rain fell off and on today.

Hard Working Carpenter Praises Akron Truss

Age 75. Ruptured Both Sides. Occupation—Carpenter

Dear Sirs:

I am perfectly satisfied with your Truss. It does all you claim for it. It holds the rupture in place with little inconvenience. I have 6 other trusses of all makes that made my rupture worse and are only fit for the dump yard. Since I am wearing your Truss I have been doing pretty hard work like laying hardwood floors, fitting doors, doing plumber's work, all work that ought not to be done by a ruptured person, because it has to be done mostly kneeling down. In spite of all that, I got the rupture on one side about cured; on the other side it was pretty bad, but it is much better. Better than I expected, as with all the other Trusses I could not do any work at all. Yours truly, R. W. SCHNELL.
