NEW YORK. If you are feeling run-down, weak, nervous, tired in the morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people, or those who are anemic, pale, frail, or despondent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent element to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation. Now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine; the formula is prescribed by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

HEAVY HAULING STATE HIGHWAYS DINNER TOPIC

The outstanding feature of the chamber of commerce informal dinner last night at the Hotel Medford held in honor of Simon Benson of Portland and E. C. Kiddle of Island City, members of the state highway commission, Herbert Nunn, state highway engineer, and the members of the county court, was the need of rebuilding the Pacific highway thru Oregon on a heavier and more solid basis because of the heavy logging and hauling traffic that has sprung up since it was designed and partially built, and which was unforeseen.

This alarming fact was brought out all the more prominently because a 12-ton loaded auto truck broke thru the highway paving near Talent yesterday afternoon. The need of more solid and substantially built roads all over the state for the reason above stated was dilated on by Mr. Kiddle.

It was also brought out at the dinner that the state highway commission is already giving much thought to the problem and that it would cost from $40,000 to $50,000 a mile to build highways to withstand the heavy hauling traffic.

Both Chairman Benson and Mr. Kiddle declared the great need was for Oregon to contract roads to attract tourists to and thru the state, and that the idea of the commission is to have the state first complete the Pacific highway thru Oregon before even taking up the big side issues.

Mr. Benson who had just come from California called attention to the fact that the state was simply jammed with tourists and had been all winter, and that many of these and resident Californians were coming to Oregon; therefore Oregon must prepare to welcome them with roads in the best possible condition and ample hotel facilities, which the cities do not have now.

Both speakers and Mr. Nunn complimented Jackson county as the pioneer and banner good roads building county of the state and as being the first county to pass a bond issue which was all spent in building the Pacific highway thru the county, and they pledged the continuation of the backing of the state highway commission in so far as possible in the future in building and improving Jackson county roads.

Last night's dinner did much to promote further cooperation and harmony between the highway commission, which has always existed, the good roads boosters of Jackson county and the county court. The dinner lasted several hours and short speeches were made by a number of those present lauding the highway commission and expressing gratitude for its support in the past and now in supporting county good roads projects.

Harry L. Walther, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided as toastmaster.

DOUG FAIRBANKS IN A NEW COMEDY RIALTO TOMORROW

Since Douglas Fairbanks, associated with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and D. W. Griffith, decided to produce independently a year ago, each forthcoming announcement from this "Big Four" is greeted with much enthusiasm.

It is well for the theatre-goers of this community to know that the policy begun by the "Big Four" meant that they would produce fewer, but bigger and better productions each year.

With these ideal conditions the second Fairbanks production, "When the Clouds Roll By," has proved an exceptional picture and one which the management of the Rialto theater is delighted to present, for it fits in so well with the policy they have set up for themselves, to give only the best productions that the motion picture industry offers.

In this production "Doug" has broken away from the traditional screen stories and has produced a rip-roaring comedy on entirely different lines and will open a four-day run tomorrow.

Wallace Reid at Liberty

Wallace Reid is at the Liberty theatre today, tomorrow and Thursday in a breezy comedy picture called "Double Speed." As a youthful millionaire who is robbed and becomes chauffeur to his lady love, the star is engaging and amusing as ever. The tempo of the film is suggested by the title. The story is light, but brisk in its action and well suited to the comedy talents of Mr. Reid.

The added attraction is Sennett's comedy, "Gee Whiz." Well, you know Mack Sennett, and for his titling little tangle of hubbles, wives and things—gee whiz! Come, look and laugh!

During the coming summer Prof. Griggs expects to complete his book describing this valley of mystery and the eruption of Mt. Katmai nearby.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER ON REPUBLIC TRUCK

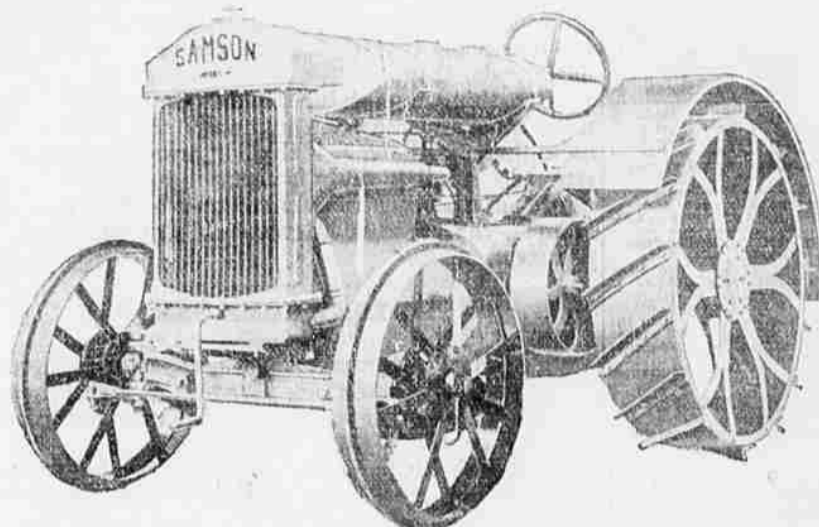

Mine Develops Vehicle to Serve All Purposes.

The Prairie Schooner recalled in stories of the early west, will always prove interesting when considering the development of our transportation facilities. Every once in a while this relic of transportation is brought to light in a modern way, and this was strikingly illustrated in a recent adaptation of a Republic motor truck operated by the Tungsten-Comet Mining Co., of Panaca, Nevada. This company is situated seventeen miles from the nearest railroad and this condition brought about the need of solving the company's daily transportation requirements, both as to passengers and freight.

Realizing that it was not practical to have a number of vehicles which would necessarily be idle a part of the time, the Tungsten-Comet Mining company installed a 2-ton Republic truck with a type of body to meet their local conditions. A passenger automobile tonneau seat was furnished for the driver and for his protection a roadster top was attached. Over the body of the truck a canvas top was built along lines adapted from the old-fashioned prairie schooner that traversed the western plains fifty years ago. This unique vehicle is used to haul passengers and supplies from the railroad to the company's mine, as well as conveying express shipments of high grade concentrates which the company produces.

The president of the Tungsten-Comet Mining company is most enthusiastic over the utility of the Republic truck so employed and is a firm believer in the merits of motor transportation.
