HITCHY KOO TO HAVE COMPANY OF 100 PLAYERS

Raymond Hitchcock will spread good cheer at the Page Tuesday night May 20, in his latest Hitchy Koo 1919 show, third of the series of that odd Chinese title. It is the largest of all his productions—the baggage alone requiring three cars—and has been the most cordially received everywhere. The New York run proved its singular charm with the hard shell Broadway crowd, and last week in San Francisco, the receipts were almost beyond belief. In fact they were greater than the "Follies", hitherto the standard for comparison. Flo. Ziegfeld, Jr., is one of the partners of the Raymond Hitchcock Hitchy Koo company. The production involves 100 players of one kind or another, and the scenes are seventeen and no more related than jazz and poetry. This is one of the big bookings of the season.
