

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY ORGANIZED, MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

The Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion was permanently organized last Saturday at the Public Library, the following named ladies were elected officers of the organization for the year: President, Mrs. Mary E. Jacobs; first vice-president, Mrs. E. L. Leonard; second vice-president, Mrs. R. A. Holmes; secretary, Mrs. Loraine Cornish; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell; chairman, Mrs. D. H. Bryant; members of the executive committee, Mrs. L. L. Robinson, Mrs. H. U. Lumsden, Mrs. Glenn Fabrick.

The constitution was submitted by Mrs. L. L. Robinson, chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee, was adopted with a few minor changes. The dues of the organization were set at $1.50 per year, and the date for monthly meetings designated as the second Monday in each month.

Headquarters and the regular meeting place of the auxiliary will be decided upon by the executive committee, and announced at an early date.

There was a large number of ladies present at the meeting, and keen interest is being shown in the new organization. The membership is especially large, considering the short time the auxiliary has been in existence, and is growing every day. Any one desiring to join may obtain necessary information from the secretary.

Personal

Medford likes Judge Joe H. Dunham, the federal trade commission examiner, who has fallen so completely in love with Medford and its people, that he says he does not care if the commission hearing here lasts for years. The judge, whose home is at Buena Vista, Ga., is a typical southern gentleman, one of those kind that even a stranger can hardly resist addressing as judge, colonel, uncle or some other title showing appreciation of a kindly personality.

The reason Raymond Hitchcock referred several times during the performance at the Page last night to George T. Collins is that he has known Collins for years, both having come from Springfield, Mass., and the famous comedian being a warm friend of Mr. Collins' father, Mr. Collins met Mr. Hitchcock at the train late yesterday afternoon on its arrival here and had him as his guest during the time the "Hitchy-Koo" company was in the city.
