PROSPECT

Ernest Walters who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. E. C. Amidon, returned to his home in Medford Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lowe of Central Point came up Saturday and spent Sunday with W. E. Mooney and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson and two sons and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Goble and son came up Saturday evening and camped at the Vining's camp near Red Blanket Sunday, and Monday they returned to their homes in Medford.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

J. Monia of Brownsboro, has been hauling lumber from our depot to build a new barn on his place.
Thomas Farlow and Wm. Nickel of Lake creek, were visiting our town Wednesday.

H. D. Mills of Medford, formerly the business manager of the Butte Falls Lumber company, passed thru here Wednesday on his way to Butte Falls.

Wednesday about noon Roy W. Findley, L. E. Waekir, the two Brandon brothers, the owners of the Snowy Butte flour mill of this place but now have the Central Point mill leased and are letting their own mill remain idle, were here for dinner Wednesday and so were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stanley and his father, Wm. Stanley, Harry Smith and Albert Conley were here for dinner Wednesday.

John Esch, one of our staunch farmers, was in town having his team shod getting ready to haul in his hay. Mr. Esch and son Carl are the owners of what is known as the J. D. Singleton farm and report that they had their first cutting of alfalfa down and that it would take about a week for them to haul it in, that there would not be as much hay as last year Mr. Singleton plowed quite a lot of the alfalfa land and sowed it to wheat, and that the young alfalfa was not matured as yet. They have one of the best places in this section and are assured of an abundant harvest.

Dr. Conroy and wife of Medford, called Wednesday evening for supper on their way home.
Thursday was one of the busy days in Eagle Point, it not only being the day that the Eldridge Creamery & Produce company have their truck visit our town and community but we had on that day Miss Lydia Doolittle, millinery specialist, O. A. C. extension service, among us and word had been sent out to each one of the surrounding country that she was coming to give free instructions to all who desired to learn as to how to make, trim, or remodel their old hats and the consequence was that by noon she found that she had not come to our town in vain. She held her meetings in the Red Cross room over Geo. Brown & Sons store.

Among the arrivals at the Sunny-side that day for dinner were Miss Lydia Doolittle, the lady just referred to, Mrs. Gergman, J. H. Murphy and four men all strangers who ate their dinner and left before I procured their names.

In addition to those who came in for dinner there were Mrs. Charles Kilgale of Lake creek, Mrs. Geo. Brown of Brownsboro, Mrs. Herman Meyer, Mrs. Ed Meyer, Mrs. Henry French and daughter, Miss Mae, and her father, J. H. French and son Floyd and Mrs. French's father, Perry Foster. While sitting talking with Mr. Foster he incidentally remarked that he had just received a letter from Ed, his son, who left a few years ago and went to Pennsylvania to live but before he left went to the Mail Tribune office in Medford and subscribed for the daily so that he could hear from home thru the Eagle Point Eaglets, and that whenever he received the Mail Tribune he always looked for the Eaglets for news from home. I had about made up my mind to stop writing as there is but little in it financially and there is a lot of work in it, and other reasons, but when he made that remark the thought occurred to me how much good I am doing in carrying the good news to the thousands of readers of that little paper way off in the southern Oregon. I simply changed my mind and concluded that I would try to keep at the work a while longer. And that is one reason why I mention so many names so that their friends who are scattered not only over the state of Oregon but over the entire civilized world, may have the comfort of news in the Eaglets.

Jack Tungate of Butte Falls, came out Friday with a truck load of shakes on his way to Central Point.
For Friday Leon E. Reynolds, agent for Cade tractor, Portland, Henry L. Emstrom, representing J. E. Haseltine Co. of Portland, and Noah Frederick, representing an oil company of San Francisco, were here for dinner. They all seemed to be doing considerable business and looked as tho they were faring well.

Mr. Hamilton, superintendent on the Fish Lake ranch, took about four hundred head of mixed cattle from the ranch to the range near Rancheria prairie Thursday and Friday, and Ed Dutton who gave me the item reported that they had a hard time driving them thru the brush, as they were not used to being driven, having been kept in a pasture and that the young calves were a fright to handle in the timber and brush, many of them were the fine imported stock that the Dutton company have brought from the east. During the time they were in the timber one of Mr. Hamilton's little boys became separated from the rest and became bewildered and was lost; it took about four hours before he was located.

Vernon Cottrill and Edward A. Nichol of Clark's Creek mill—the old Hawk mill—came out Friday and spent the night with us, and so did George Lewis, Medford, and Claud McKee, Applegate. They had two five-ton trucks to load with steel for the Eagle Point Construction company to take to Union creek camp to be used in the construction of the Crater Lake highway. After they had loaded—the steel was brought out last season on the P. & E. railroad, and has been here ever since—after they were loaded they had to cross Little Butte creek here and the question came up as to whether the bridge was safe, but they made it all O.K. They had to go by the Bybee bridge route as the Dodge-French bridge is considered unsafe under a heavy load.

Wm. Lewis had a truck load of wool passing thru here for Central Point this Saturday morning.

John Greves, Chris Beale and Mr. Guano came out on the stage today. M. C. Mahoney of Butte Falls, was in town today and so was ex-Senator H. Von der Hellen. He and Postmaster W. C. Clements went to Medford to attend the funeral of the late Geo. P. Mims, the Medford postmaster.

Chris Bergsman and wife were here for dinner and so was Chris Beale and John Mayham.
