ASHLAND IS FILLED WITH YOUNG FOLKS BACK FROM SCHOOL

ASHLAND, Dec. 25.—Homecomings for the holidays are in order, and the town is filled with young folks, mostly from Oregon's state educational institutions, though some hail from California and Washington schools. A partial list includes Fred Schuerman, Harold Simpson, Ivan and Troy Phipps, James and Marie Porter, John Anderson, Violet Moore, Elwood Hedberg, Chester MacCracken, Dick Shinn, Meredith Beatty, Charles Smith, Edith Herrin, Ed Mowat, Jack Brady, Raymond Badger, Melvin Kaldi, and others too numerous to mention. Many of the boys are ex-service men and are having delightful social reunions with each other during the vacation spell. As to the schools attended, the number representing Eugene and Corvallis institutions are about equally divided. Among others are Neal Shinn, dental student at Portland; Leith Abbott, newspaper reporter at Pendleton; Leroy Ashcraft from California lumber camps, who will re-enter the university at Eugene this winter; Hesse Carpenter from the normal at San Jose, Cal.; Kathleen Silver, Roseburg schools; Edith Moody, teacher at Eugene; also Gertrude Oake and Frances McWilliams of the Oakland, Cal. schools.

NEW OIL SONG HIT OF FORUM SESSION

A special musical attraction was the surprise which the members of the Medford Chamber of Commerce enjoyed at their forum yesterday. This was a quartet which rendered some selections which were written by Rev. D. E. Millard especially for the occasion. Those making up the quartet were J. M. Kirkpatrick, C. A. Meeker, W. P. Bentley and D. E. Millard and their singing was enthusiastically applauded.
 Medford's oil song made the big hit. Its title is "A Gusher for You and Me" and is sung to the tune of "There's a Girl in the Heart of Maryland."

ALL RECORDS FOR FORUM ATTENDANCE BROKEN WEDNESDAY

For enthusiasm and a record breaking attendance, the Medford Chamber of Commerce made a reputation for itself yesterday at its forum. Tables were set in the annex for sixty and the overflow of forty-five members and their guests was taken care of for the luncheon, in the large dining room. As this was the last forum luncheon for 1920, Emil Mohr served his guests with turkey and also expressed his good wishes to them for the new year.
 Col. E. E. Kelly in his usual characteristic manner, made a most pleasing address on the "Oil Prospects of the Rogue River Valley," which was received with utmost enthusiasm and optimism, as there is every reason to believe that there is oil beneath the soil here from tests which are now available.
 The out of town guests attending the forum were Lynn Mowat of the American City Bureau, Miss Josephine Thompson and D. W. Reynolds of Central Point; J. L. Paynter, a lumberman from Sisson, Calif.; Chas. P. Champion and his sister, Mrs. G. C. Kettle of Rogue River; A. L. Johnson of Hamilton, Montana; Roy Dornland of Los Angeles; R. J. Hill, son of A. L. Hill and who is a student at Stanford University and Robert H. Browne from one of the orchard districts of the valley.

The Screen
 "Twin Beds" Screaming Comedy
 "Twin Beds," which opened its engagement at the Rialto yesterday, is a film version of the farce comedy stage success of the same name by Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field. Mr. and Mrs. Carter Dellaven are sponsoring as well as starring in the production, and they have produced a truly refreshing and hilariously funny comedy in transferring the play to the screen. The picture interprets the abounding humor of the piece more satisfactorily, even than the stage play, possibly by reason of its ability to follow the action more closely.

Mr. Dellaven has drawn forth every bit of comedy from the character of Signor Monti, a role admirably suited to his talents, and in which he makes a long stride to the fore as a screen comedian. Mrs. Dellaven is demure and lovable as the innocent young Mrs. Hawkins, and wins the full sympathy of her audience in her precarious situation. A noteworthy cast is in support of the Dellavens, which, indeed, makes the picture very nearly an all-star production. William Desmond contributes a very jealous and a very loving Mr. Hawkins, while Helen Raymond, who created the role in the original stage production, gives a perfect comedy portrayal of Signora Monti.
 The picture has been elaborately and painstakingly staged. The scenario, which has been written to conform closely to the original plot of the stage play, has made use of every possibility. "Twin Beds" is a screamingly amusing comedy picture, and above all it is clean.

No. 27 in the telephone service seems to be in great demand these days. Nominally these figures refer to the Masonic hall number, and such queries as "What is the amount of my dues?" and "Will there be a meeting of the lodge tonight?" are strictly in order, but when it comes to "What are eyes today?" "Have you any turkeys left?" "Hurry that bread and butter on the first delivery!" and other queries and commands of like tenor, it would seem to imply that somebody is getting their wires crossed.
