Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry

Autocrats have adopted as their official slogan and motto "I Should Horry."

The Portland blackmailer, known in polite circles as the "Shadow," because of his uncatchability, received his early training as a bootlegger.

DEFLATED. W. S. Boom, son-in-law of Gen. Morrow, was relieved of his post on the streets of Portland one day last week.

A counterjumper sweeping off the boulevard never loses control of his broom and crosses onto the territorial domains of his neighbor. They swipe to the line, let the dust fall where it may.

Down in California they are still playing the New Year's football game with Ohio state, and the newspapers of London are still fighting the battle of Jutland.

A newly arrived biscuit shooter reports that only 300 diners Thursday, whittled their voices down to a pathetic whine, and asked: "Where have I seen you before." This is one of the oldest stunts known to science.

THEY CALL HIM BLIND. (Eugene Guard)

"You Can Find Socks no Lower Anywhere Than in Our Store This Week!"—(Ad in Klamath Herald).

"America Should Be First to Wear Arm."—(Headline Portland Journal). And also be the first to get a good wallop.

Dame Rumor hath it that another of our promising young men has been caught in the bear trap of matrimony. The time for sentencing has not been set, but will be early in the smudging season.

Demon worry has invaded the city and valley, and overnight the mental strain is so great that brunettes become blondes and blondes become brunettes. Man is not versatile. His hair can only turn white from fear and fretting.

REPAIR WORK EN FAMILLE (Yreka Journal) Mr. and Mrs. Ole Clemens were in Wood one day this week hawking their molars filed.

Every man, woman and child in the U. S. has a per capita wealth of $59.16. Your corr. faces a deficit of $59.

"Wide Awake Gospel Services."—(From a church notice). Putting a crimp in pew snoozing.

The Turkish army has suffered two defeats in two days from the Greeks, which is what they get for smoking Turkish cigarettes.

"DANDERINE"

Girls! Save Your Hair! Make It Abundant!

Immediately after a "Danderine" massage, your hair takes on new life, lustre and wondrous beauty, appearing twice as heavy and plentiful, because each hair seems to fluff and thicken. Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, plain or scraggly. You, too, want lots of long, strong, beautiful hair.

LINCOLN AND JAP EXCLUSION.

WE ARE in receipt of an interesting communication of which the following is a part:

"I thought Lincoln had decided the color question, and the Constitution had affirmed it. Didn't Lincoln say that all men are born free and equal doesn't the constitution say that the rights of the citizens of the United States shall not be abridged on account of color? Then how can anyone lawfully or rightfully oppose a man holding land in this state or any other state simply because his skin happens to be yellow instead of white?"

The answer, of course, is that Lincoln did not decide the color question, he decided the slavery question and the Union question. The color question is still with us, both black and yellow.

The 13th amendment abolished slavery, the 15th amendment gave the voting right to every citizen, regardless of race, color or previous condition of servitude. Lincoln did not advance or support the 15th amendment, it was not ratified until five years after his death. In the south, as everyone knows, it is not enforced and never has been enforced.

But the 15th amendment is not the subject under discussion. It refers only to "citizens" of the United States. The movement against the extension of Japanese immigration and colonization is not against citizens of the United States, whose rights are, or should be, protected, but against aliens of another color, whose assimilation into American society, experience has shown can not be realized.

What Lincoln's position on the Japanese question would have been, no one knows and no one can know. But it is known, that he was among the first to realize that the color questions is a real, not a sentimental question, not a question that can be settled by such a phrase as "all men are born free and equal," but a question of racial antagonisms and racial differences, which go far back into human history, and deep into the elements of human nature.

Lincoln said his main concern was the Union, if he could only save the union by abolishing slavery he would do that, if he could only save the Union by not abolishing slavery he would do that, but he would save the Union.

He was quick to appreciate the complexity of the southern problem. He was one of the first to realize that with slavery an institution, with the black man here, the solution of the problem depended upon facing facts, not smothering them in platitudes.

So it was Lincoln who really recognized the color peril. He not only favored compensation to southern slave holders, he favored by express statement to congress the deportation of the slave population to some territory without the United States. The mistake, he declared, had been in ever allowing the slave traffic, in ever introducing an alien element into the country, the correction of that mistake lay in deportation, and compensation, if a practical and humane program could be worked out.

In the light of this knowledge, isn't it fair to presume that to favor the restriction of Japanese immigration and colonization, before their increase in population should create another color problem in this country, is to follow that spirit of enlightened wisdom and realistic statesmanship, which Lincoln so gloriously embodied?

CHILD FEEDING FUND PASSES $400 MARK

Here is what E. S. Martin, the well known editor of Life thinks of the Hoover Children's Relief Fund:

The most conspicuous exemplar of the idea of business as service is Hoover. He is a great business man, and he has great sympathies and aspirations of helpfulness. He knows what can be accomplished by the co-operation of men and means under sound and competent leadership, and he longs to bring to a distressed world the relief of that sort of co-operation. Just now he is after us to help feed the starving children of Middle Europe. He wants thirty-three million dollars, a sum less than the cost of a first-class up-to-date battleship, to carry three and a half million children through the winter. Compared with the figures we have become used to in the last four years it is a trifle; nevertheless, because it has to be given in the main by private citizens out of depleted pockets, it takes a good deal of effort to raise it. It will be raised, of course; it must be; but it will probably be given by too few people. It is extremely hard to get at the mass of the Americans and draw anything out of their pockets for a special object, except by the use of the great organization that our government maintains for that purpose.

If any one will give any more readily to this children's fund because he is persuaded that it is good business to keep these children alive, that motive is conspicuously available, for the more that is salvaged of the civilization of Europe and the quicker it regains its buying power, the better for trade in this country. Without mouths to feed and the need to feed them—without backs to clothe and the need to clothe them, there can be no business. All business is the satisfaction of wants. If you have all the commodities and raw material in the world and no wants to supply with them, you cannot do any business, and your supplies, having no market, are worth nothing. So really what the banks lend money on must be wants rather than commodities, and these thirty-five hundred thousand promising young wants in Middle Europe ought to be good security for a large sum.

Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the liniments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism. A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infect the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and rout them entirely out of the circulation.

ANNUAL MEETING FARMERS AND FRUIT GROWERS BNK. HELD

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Farmers & Fruit-growers Bank, held Thursday, the old board of directors, consisting of Gus Newbury, J. F. Antle, C. B. Gates and Delroy Getchell, was re-elected.

Delroy Getchell was elected president; C. B. Gates, vice-president and F. E. Wahl, cashier, succeeding J. F. Antle, who resigned on account of his other large interests.

The meeting approved of the paying of the usual dividend and the settled policy of the bank in building up strong reserves in the way of surplus and contingent account, and also passed a resolution commending the management for the remarkable record made by the bank of no losses during the seven years last past.

The board of directors reviewed general and local conditions and found many favorable indications of prosperity. The money market is easier in the east, labor is returning to work and harmony is beginning to prevail, while here at home in Medford and Jackson county, the prospects for continued advancement and improvement were never better.

"Nightie Night" which was the talk of New York last season will be the attraction at the Page theatre Monday night, Jan. 17th, and there is a real treat in store for theatregoers that visit the theatre for an evening entertainment, as "Nightie Night" contains more good laughs than any comedy that has been seen here in a long time.

The first act takes place on a chair car between Washington and New York and the situations that develop are so extremely funny that during the long run of "Nightie Night" at the Princess theatre the house fairly rocked so great was the applause.

Guests at the Medford include H. M. Edwards of Cincinnati, E. C. Laessle of Denver, Mrs. L. Lambek of Salt Lake City, Ed Nutter of McCloud, Grace M. Ainsworth of Los Angeles, and D. Morgan, L. A. Brunvold, W. B. Knight and C. A. McCormick of San Francisco.

TRAVELING SALESMAN CONTINUALLY DIZZY

Mr. W. A. Davis, residing at Huntington Park, Calif., reports that gradually he became run down and was afflicted with severe headaches and dizziness. He says that he completely lost his "pep" and was afraid that he would soon lose his position as a traveling salesman unless he recovered his strength and normal poise.

He was induced by a clerk in one of the stores of the Owl Drug Company in Los Angeles to try Vinol. Within a month Mr. Davis says he observed a decided improvement and now he is feeling fine.

Vinol, the wonderful recuperative tonic for weakened or emaciated men, women and children, is sold in Medford by the Medford Pharmacy, at Main and Central.

N. Y. Stocks

Trading dwindled during the morning. Further recessions were made by oils, leathers, rubbers, motor specialties and sundry shares. American Hide and Leather preferred was the weakest issue, losing almost four points.

Irregular rallies of the second hour were led by popular shippings, Northern Pacific and Reading, the latter gaining two points. Sears Roebuck recovered over half of its early loss. Call loans opened at 6 per cent.

Advances were extended during the intermediate session with steels, oils, motors and rails as the dominant features.

Shippings, steels and oils reacted one to three points in the last hour but rallied moderately on the greater strength shown by Reading. The closing was irregular.

Trading in stocks today was dull and hesitant, several of the rails, equipments and specialties strengthening under the influence of professional operators. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Shipyard Worker Praises Vinol

Tacoma, Wash., July 3, 1920.—"I am an employee of the Todd Shipbuilding Plant here, in Tacoma, and take pleasure in stating the results I obtained from the use of one bottle of Vinol."

"I was in a general debilitated condition—I lost my appetite, was troubled with insomnia, weakness, back and headaches, couldn't hardly get out of bed of a morning to go to my work. While relating my condition to a clerk in the Crown Drug Company one day he told me of Vinol and I decided to try a bottle. From the very first I felt a great deal better. Now I work every day, sleep fine, nervousness all gone and am in fine condition generally." Signed—Edson C. Rouse, Bismark, 62nd St., Tacoma, Wash.

Vinol is sold in this city by Medford Pharmacy, Main at Central, Medford, Ore. Adv.

Children's Ailments

DISORDERS of the stomach and constipation are the most common diseases of children. To correct them you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Tablets. One tablet at bed time will do the work and will make your child bright and cheerful the following morning. Do not punish your children by giving them castor oil. Chamberlain's Tablets are better and more pleasant to take.
