

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your drug store and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises, should give this prescription a trial.

OLCOTT URGES PRESERVATION STATE SCENERY

Governor in Special Message to Legislature Asks Laws to Preserve Natural Beauties Along Highways — Trees Should Be Protected.

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 25.—Urging enactment of laws to preserve the scenic beauties along the highways of the state, Governor Ben W. Olcott today delivered a special message to the legislature. The governor submitted in connection with his message drafts of five proposed laws to put his plan into effect.

The laws would give the state highway commission power to acquire rights of way along highways for maintenance and preservation of scenic beauties, would make it unlawful to destroy trees along a state highway without permission of the highway commission, would authorize the commission to acquire land for parks and parking places, and require persons making any alterations in highways or rights of way to obtain a permit from the state highway engineer.

"No other state in the union has been blessed with so many natural glories as is the state of Oregon," said the governor in his message. "Crowning all these glories are our forest growths. Without them our mountains would be rocky, forbidding eminences; our streams would dwindle into rivulets; our lakes be shorn of the sylvan fringes which make them entrancing to the nature lover, and our valleys be monotonous stretches..."

"The public realizes the importance of these things now, and is fully awake to the fact that, while we have lost many things, there are many things which we may cling to and preserve for all posterity. This legislative assembly may make itself remembered in the history of our state by prompt action to assist in the preservation of what should never be lost.

"All the things we have been striving for, the development of tourist travel; the urge to make and keep our state the most liveable in the union; the desire to keep our children in God's own environment, surrounded by the beauties to which they are the true heirs, all of these will be surrendered and lost unless we act and act promptly."

The governor disclaimed any intention to deprive private timber owners of land without legal process. He said the timber men generally were eager and willing to cooperate, and cited the instance of one large company, the Crown Willamette Paper company which ceased cutting timber along the Seaside-Cannon Beach highway in Clatsop county, "and I understand," he added, "is marking time pending the action of your honorable body."

The federal commissioner of Indian affairs, he said, has agreed hereafter in all contracts for logging on Indian reservations a strip of at least three hundred feet wide along highways will be reserved at all times to continue the timbered effects along such roads passing through the reservations.

Chamber of Commerce Action The Medford Chamber of Commerce today issued the following announcement:

The thoughtless destruction of trees and shrubs along the highways of Oregon has reached the stage where it now becomes necessary for the people to protest, otherwise their greatest asset, the scenic grandeur of Oregon, will be ruined for all time to come.

The Medford Chamber of Commerce is the first commercial organization in the state to make a constructive effort to preserve the scenery of the state in the formation of an association to prevent further destruction of stately trees and natural shrubbery along the highways of Jackson county.

A section of the constitution of the proposed association is quoted as showing the object of the organization: "To arouse public sentiment against the destruction of trees and shrubs along the highways by the owners of ranches; to cooperate with the supervisor of the Crater Lake national forest, the superintendent of the Crater Lake national park and the county road supervisors in the preservation of the scenic attractions along the highways and for the establishment and maintenance of convenient and sanitary tourist camp grounds; to aid in the prevention of forest fires; to procure neat signs directing tourists to scenic attractions off the main highways and in every way assist the county, state and federal authorities to carry out their plans for scenic development."

The scenery of the United States, whether it be in the national parks or along the highways, belongs to the people of this great nation and should be preserved for their enjoyment and also for the pleasure of future generations.

Public sentiment against the destruction of a tree or a shrub along the highways will do much toward retaining Oregon as the most scenic state in the union and the tourist, prospective settler and investor will unconsciously be drawn here on account of their

SIR FRANCIS YOUNGHUSBAND WILL ATTEMPT TO CLIMB MT. EVEREST NEVER SCALED BY HUMAN BEING

NEW YORK.—Mt. Everest, the Himalayan peak called "the roof of the world" which Sir Francis Younghusband, the British soldier-explorer, will attempt to climb next summer, has never yet been scaled by man.

Towering above the frontiers of the hitherto forbidden land of Tibet and the remote province of Nepal, India, another land of mystery, the difficulties in even approaching Mt. Everest have been sufficient to baffle explorers.

The world's highest peak lies in Tibet north of the British Indian border, yet, so far as known, no European has ever approached nearer than 60 miles from its base and few travelers have ever seen its upper slopes. The attempts which have been made to ascend some of Mt. Everest's sister peaks of the Himalayas have usually been made through Nepal because access to them through Tibet was not open. The approach to Mt. Everest through Tibet is said to be more accessible and present greater prospects of success than from the Nepal side.

Sir Francis Younghusband announced that the Tibetan government had granted him permission to attempt the ascent of the mountain by the Tibetan route. It was, Sir Francis, who as a colonel commanding a British mission own interests are seriously menaced. Siberia may yet be far from political agreement internally and the maintenance there of a Japanese army is fraught with every danger."

Premier Hara declared that Japan wanted to evacuate Siberia completely when the Czecho-Slovaks had been repatriated, but that Japan's topographical situation had prevented this while many of the Russians were anxious for the Japanese to remain.

"Thus the withdrawal was delayed," said the premier, "but not because of political ambitions. The government decided that the troops would be removed as soon as political stability was restored. Otherwise the Japanese residents would suffer. After the Nikolaievsk affair the trans-Baikal troops were withdrawn but those in Vladivostok were retained after Japan had received the assent of the powers. They will be withdrawn as soon as a proper Russian government is established.

Bayonets No Value "Bolshevism is spreading overwhelmingly and may reach Japanese territory. The government is aware of the futility of trying to check bolshevism with bayonets, and realizes it cannot prevent discontented Koreans from becoming acquainted with such doctrine."

Viscount Kato's rejoinder was that Premier Hara's reply was "far from satisfactory."

Baron Sakatani, former finance minister, declared that as a result of the war, all the Russian rights in Manchuria and Mongolia should come to Japan. He asked if the government intended to secure these from the powers.

The diet adjourned after this address.

GEORGE AND BRIAND DISAGREE

to meet today and expedite its work in order that definite decisions might be taken before the close of the conference.

The general opinion was developed in the council that it was useless to try to do anything for Austria apart from the solution of the economic problems of the neighboring countries, with which Austria's future is bound to be closely connected. The suggestion from the Austrian section of the reparations commissions for an advance to Austria of $25,000,000 yearly for ten years, guaranteed by pledges on Austria's resources, was not acted upon. The tendency is, it appears, to reject any proposition likely to involve increased taxation for France and Great Britain.

It was reported that the Italian government had sent a note to the council regarding Smyrna which would be considered in connection with the Greek and Turkish questions.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 24.—The Michigan public utilities commission was permanently restrained by the federal court here today from reducing railroad passenger rates from 3 to 2 1/2 cents a mile within the state. The order was issued on application of thirteen Michigan roads.

START WORK ON BIG ADDITION TO CITY HALL

Work was begun this morning in preparing the foundation for the big addition to the city hall building, which will parallel the height, width and length of the present city hall and which will rise on the city's vacant lot to exceed $6000.

The new structure was decided upon by the city council some time ago and will house the city treasurer and city recorder's offices on the ground floor, a feature which will be gladly accepted by all citizens having business with these offices. Another welcome feature will be the construction in this addition of a commodious new safety vault department for the keeping of the many precious city records.

The need of this vault to replace the present meager vault was one of the reasons which necessitated the new building. The main other reason was the crowded office condition of the present building. The present quarters of the city treasurer and recorder will, when the addition is completed, be occupied by the city water superintendent, city electrician, street commissioner, city engineer and all the other offices which Chas. Davis, the city potholer, fills so acceptably. When the addition is completed the city hall will have a fifty-foot frontage on Front street, and as now a 100-foot length back to the alley. While the addition will be the same height as the present structure, its second floor will not be finished until such time as the second has more funds at its disposal. No walls will have to be constructed for the addition as the wall of the present structure and that of the brick building on the south will be used. The front and rear ends of the addition will be built of concrete, and the lower front will be enclosed with plate glass windows.
