Ye Smudge Pot

Henry Ford states that he has "an idea that will startle the world." It must be a rational one.

When the dresses of giddy girls fail to reach to the knees, it is time for the police to act, as their ma's won't.

A KEEN KOP PROVES IT

(Salem Capital Journal) A suspicious looking early morning visitor a few days ago, who volunteered the information that he was a federal secret service man in pursuit of "Shadow," was advised by the city marshal to stick around until sun-up when his shadow might appear.

One of the arguments advanced by reformers as a good and sufficient reason for closing the movies on Sunday, is that "most pictures are bad." In this respect the average is no higher than the sermons, and no one wants to look up the churches Sunday.

San Francisco is entertaining an Armenian girl who has the papers to show that she has sent 75 Turks to the cemetery. This is a ladylike accomplishment, and her niftiness with a sixshooter ought to land her a job with a circus.

The Jack, Co Idolators Assn is hereby warned to steer shy of Sam Blythe's article in this wk's Sat Eve Post entitled, "The Strange Case of Dr Wilson and Mr Wilson."

By the way they blow their horns, a number of jitney drivers are likely looking timber for Espee engineers.

SEED FOR A MURDER

(Eugene Register) "Dear Miss Page: A boy friend of mine is working in a town near here, and the other evening he phoned me that he was coming to a dance here. A while after I was ready he phoned that he could not come. Then one of the other young men in my home town asked me if I would go with him and I accepted. My other friend doesn't think this was right of me. Do you?—Anxious."

Madame Kennedy is here from Walla Walla at room No. 4, Alta House, with a good stock of switches. (Pendleton Tribune.)—The opening of the spring paddling season is at hand.

Owing to the income tax, President Harding will get $18,000 a year less than President Wilson, but the same amount of hell, from present indications.

The 2 eminent sock connoisseurs, Meers, B. Plymale and G. Corum attacked the literary value of this col. Wed., but if they did as well with their counterjumping, their boss would be riding in a Locomobile instead of a new Buick.

PROBABLY JUST A MUD HOLE

(Albany Democrat) A case of spinal meningitis down the road toward Lebanon has been reported.

17 shiploads of cloth manufactured in Belgian factories, have arrived in the last month at American ports. Some of this may be pants cast upon the waters in the spring of 1919 for Belgian refugees.

DO IT NOW.

HUNDREDS of people in Medford haven't contributed to the child feeding fund, who should do so. They have plenty to eat themselves. Ten dollars to them would mean less than ten cents to many people who have contributed. But in a campaign of this kind, it is so easy to let the generous and public spirited few carry the burden. They have done it before. Everyone knows they will do it again.

For our part, we wouldn't want a penny sent across the water, for the relief of these defenseless children which was not given gladly. To inject into this campaign any coercion or strong arm tactics, would rob the movement of its greatest strength and inspiration.

But there are many people, who haven't contributed simply because they haven't been aroused, because their imaginations have not been able to picture the conditions, which render American assistance so imperative. If a single citizen of Medford could be transported for 24 hours into Warsaw, Poland, or any other city in the devastated regions, and return here with what he had seen and heard, the $6000 quota could be reached in a few hours.

For there are few indeed, with plenty of food themselves, who would not give every cent they could afford, if they knew that the life of a child depended upon it. To these one can only reiterate what has been said before, that three and one-half million children are literally starving, and that Jackson County's quota represents a minimum which must be secured if these lives are to be saved. Men like Herbert Hoover and Franklin K. Lane do not go into movements of this kind, without an actual knowledge of the conditions. They would not devote their entire time to a project of this description, if there was any doubt that the crisis existed, and that every penny donated would be spent for the purposes defined.

As a matter of fact, not one cent contributed goes overhead. Every penny is spent for food, clothing and essential shelter. If anyone who reads this has not yet contributed, we can only say do it now. There is to be no house to house canvass, no personal solicitation. The campaign closes the end of the week. Send something, whatever you can afford, to committee headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce. Jackson County has never failed in a campaign of this sort before. It must not fail now.

Rippling Rhymes

THIS year will bring unsettled times, because of readjusting; the merchant princes will need their dimes, and they'll be slow at trusting. They'll not give credit left and right as lately they've been doing, and frowns will greet the slow-pay wight who'd buy a plug of chewing. And many men this year, I guess, will need a slice of credit, for readjustment brings distress—the banking sharps have said it. Now he who's kept his stand-off bright will know the easy sledding, and merchant princes will delight to sell him books or bedding. However stringent money is, the lamps for him are burning; to see his good old honest phiz, the merchants all are yearning. And if he asks to buy on time a grindstone or a hammer, the dealers on his person climb, with glad, exultant clamor. There'll never be a time so tight that men of reputation for having always acted right, can't get accommodation. A reputation as good pay is better far than rubies, and men who do not think that way must travel with the boobies. The melancholy days are here, suspended "tiek" will daunt them; and hills they should have paid last year will rise like ghosts and haunt them.
