"Mayor Demaray is in receipt of a letter from a Portland attorney who is representing pugilists who were participants in the bouts here last Friday night," says the Grants Pass Courier.

It is alleged in the letter that Jimmy Duffy and John Vedoff came here from Portland under a contract to pay the former $150 and the latter $100 with fare to Grants Pass and return. The attorney tells the mayor that Duffy was given but $60 and Vedoff $40, and that they had to pay their own way back to Portland, and he asks that the mayor take the matter up with the boxing commission which he appointed. The attorney says that the under payment was made upon the statement of the fight promoter that because of a small house there was not money enough to pay the full amount of the purses, but that Duffy and Vedoff tell him that there was a good house and that the purses should have been paid in full.
