Many little interesting things are told by the tourists. Mr. C. A. Ritchie of Wichita, Kansas, says: "Every place we stopped we found a good word for Buick. You'll never see me buying anything else but a Buick. The original tires are still on, having had over 10,000 miles of service." Mr. R. H. Rex of Orwell, Ohio, says: "Our best one day drive was made, from Pittsburgh to Washington, 325 miles. The Buick seemed to like the sand in Georgia. My only way to express my idea of Buick cars is that the more you drive them the better you like them. When I was ready to start back to Ohio I had very little trouble in disposing of my car at a very good figure. The first thing I did when I got back was to order a new one."

Today was an ideal day with its crisp air and the sun shining, the quietude in police circles and the absence of booze flowing from the cellars of the banks. There was a hard freeze during the night which enabled one to walk over the solid mud this forenoon with fearless contempt. The lowest temperature was 24 degrees above. Fair weather is predicted for tonight, and rain for Friday.

The following item of interest about a well known Jackson county man, appeared in Wednesday's Portland Journal: "Joseph Beeman retired from government service in apprehending bootleggers today. Beeman rarely was called into court to testify, as the majority of his victims knew he had secured convicting evidence, and chose to plead guilty rather than stand the expense of a trial. When Beeman raided a place or arrested a bootlegger he seized everything the bootlegger possessed, which the law required him to seize. Beeman's experience with bootleggers has been that foreigners are the most persistent violators of the prohibition law. Beeman probably will give his time now to southern Oregon business interests."

FIVE WEEKS IN SOVIET PRISON WOULD CURE PARLOR BOLSHIEVICS OF AMERICA

BERLIN.—Prisoners in the jails of soviet Russia, when condemned to death, are called out to be shot by soldiers who stalk into the cells after midnight, declares M. Schwartz, of San Francisco, the socialist who went to Moscow to attend a congress of the Third Internationale and was imprisoned there for four months.

In a previous statement, Mr. Schwartz told of the death of his wife as a result of a hunger strike she began to end her imprisonment in Russia and said he was going back to America to tell the workers there the actual facts about the Russian situation.

Tall and gaunt, his black hair and beard heavily streaked with gray, the American, who had been a Bolshevnik before a visit to Russia "saddened and enlightened" him, described in a supplemental statement, the cold fear and trembling in which soviet prisoners wait for the visits in the dead of night.

"They always come between the hours of one and two o'clock, he said. "A Bolshevnik soldier walks into the crowded cell and in the instant silence calls out the names of the men, or women, who must die. In the jail where I was, they marched the prisoners down a stairway and into a courtyard. We would hear the volleys of the firing squads. Many men were called out for execution from my cell during those four months. Few of them knew why they had been condemned, but generally it was understood they were 'counter-revolutionaries.' They were shot without trial."

After a time the prisoners became lured to these visits and, in the filth and monotony of prison life, ceased to care whether their names were called or not, Mr. Schwartz said. Cheery greetings were often passed as the condemned men were marched out. The men about to die would say their good-byes, wave their cell comrades a so-long, and those remaining would cry out: "Goodbye. See you later."

Throughout the first few nights, however, Mr. Schwartz said he trembled as with ague, and his clothes, even to his overcoat, were wet with perspiration. Other prisoners, some of whom had been in the jail for more than a year, took the matter cynically and told him with apparent relish the horrors through which they had gone.

When at last the summons came to Schwartz to leave the cell he said he was certain he was going to the place of execution. But they led him upstairs instead of down. He was taken before an official named Feldman, in whose hands was the power of life and death over all the prisoners in his charge. This man said he had reviewed Schwartz' case and the American was free to go. Then the bolshevnik said: "Will you tell me what you think of the soviet government? Will you go back to the United States and speak against us?"

There was a long pause in which thoughts of the four months in prison and the executioners thronged into the American's mind. Then he replied: "If your government really represents the working men I am for it. All my life I have worked for the laboring classes."

Evasive though it was Schwartz said the reply appeared to satisfy the soviet official, who affected a pleasant and dismissed him.

"If every Bolshevnik in America could spend a few weeks in a soviet prison," he concluded, "there would be no more followers of the red flag at home."

The "trouble-man" of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. is in Medford on one of his periodical visits of inspection of the machines in use in the business houses.

The Roseburg high basketball party left the Medford this afternoon for Ashland where they play Ashland high tonight and tomorrow night. They will return here Saturday for the second game with Medford high Saturday night. In the party are Mr. Everett, Don Hunt and Clifford Fields and Phil Singleton, forwards, George Singleton, Sam Campbell and Charles Thursday, guards, and Vance Perry, Herbert Britt, Maurice Newland, Clinton Cameron and Lloyd Davis who accompany the team as rosters.

The Absarokee Headlight of Stillwater, Mont., Feb. 3rd, describes the coming of newcomers to Medford party as follows: "In the departure yesterday of Mr. James Witham and wife for Medford, Absarokee loses two of its most popular citizens and a man of superior musical ability. As leading violinist of the Absarokee orchestra, Mr. Witham has put joy into more feet than any other one musician in eastern Montana and is perhaps more widely known. That he will soon find hosts of friends in his new home there is no doubt, for it is said music hath charms to soothe the wild beasts, and Jimmie's fiddle is a wonder. The best wishes of the people of this community follow Mr. and Mrs. Witham to their new home and should it ever come to pass that they retrace their footsteps they will find the gates of Absarokee ajar."

Deputies John J. Wilkinson and George G. Hewett of the internal revenue department are now located in room 267, the federal building, where they will remain until Feb. 27th for the purpose of aiding citizens to make out their income tax statements. Their office hours are from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. Messrs. Wilkinson and Hewett have just completed sojourns for the same purpose in Ashland and Klamath Falls.

The Shasta passenger train from the south due here at 9:29 a. m. daily did not arrive until about 3 o'clock this afternoon, having been delayed presumably by a wreck some place in California.

An event of interest to dance-fans from Medford and vicinity will take place Saturday evening of this week when a big dance will be staged at Gold Hill. The Premier Novelty orchestra will provide the music for the occasion.

LINCOLN CLUB THANKS PEOPLE FOR SUPPORT

The seventh annual Lincoln Day banquet has passed into history. In every way it was a satisfying success. Those who took part in the program, received the applause and acclaim due them and now the club wishes in a public way to express a word of thanks and appreciation to the different committees who, without expectation of reward or praise, worked so efficiently and faithfully to make the occasion one of pleasure, of patriotic inspiration and party concord, and especially does it wish to commend and congratulate the committee on decorations, composed of George Hilton, Tom Swent, W. E. Walker and Olen Arnsperger. They were artists, and the dining room with its harmonious blend of light and color was a fit setting in which to celebrate the birth of an immortal.

THE SIMPLE, EASY WAY TO BEAUTIFY—BUTTERMILK

Delightful new vanishing cream containing true buttermilk, makes you look years younger or your money back.

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic, but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull and most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just common ordinary Buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, obtain a small quantity of Howard's Buttermilk Cream at any drug or department store on the money back if dissatisfied plan. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it.
