Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry. Farmers Advised to Use Strychnine Next Two Months.

Next week is "On Time Week," which fits in well with the following week which is Pay-Your-Taxes Week.

Police records the last few days show that something has been full besides the moon.

THE STORK'S SUBSTITUTE (Yreka, Cal., Journal). It is pleasant to record the birth of an 8 1/2 pound daughter to Mrs. Pearl Hamilton and to state both mother and child are doing nicely.

Citizens who have been squatting in the Nash district all winter came out of their holes Thurs. pm. and saw their shadows.

The exiled German kaiser is reported to have lost 50 pounds, and from his last interview, none of it was off his egotism.

Speaking of locomotive whistles, the hair of the head can be brought to attention almost as fast by the squeal of a high school girl at a close basketball game.

The patered-out bank clerks get another holiday next Wed. (Washington's birthday), and they sure do need it.

WHAT OF IT (Salem Capital Journal). Clint Hanna and family expect to leave in a few days for California where they will make their future home.

In some sections of the state, evangelists are getting thicker than 2nd lutes during the late fracas.

The state legislature is observing Prune Week 100 per cent, being fuller of the same than usual.

Another advantage the hooch vendor enjoys, is exemption from paying an income tax.

EXACTLY LIKE 'EM (Yreka News). From friends it is learned that Mrs. Amanda Gordon, formerly Lowery of this place, is prominently connected with "rescue work" in Seattle.

While things are going to hell in general, it is interesting to learn as C. K. informs, that Miss Elizabeth Jawdrop is a schoolteacher at Cowhide Nev.

FIT TO FIGHT. Life's greatest battles are between strength and weakness.

Scott's Emulsion. a high-powered tonic-nutrient, nourishes and fortifies the whole body.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. ALSO MAKERS OF KI-MOIDS (Tablets or Granules) FOR INDIGESTION.

THE APPROACHING STORM. THE industrial situation resembles the Irish situation. The essential trouble is that extremists are in control on both sides.

As long as railroad labor, for example, threatens to paralyze transportation, if its demands are not granted; and as long as the railroad executives threaten to destroy union organization, if its demands are not granted, there is little hope of an industrial settlement, and every likelihood of a devastating and deplorable industrial war.

There must be an accommodation of differences through the establishment of an authoritative tribunal, removed from the selfish interests of both factions. There must be a bill of rights evolved, based upon principles of abstract justice, guaranteeing a square deal to labor and capital.

And then public opinion must be allowed a medium of effective expression, to support these rights. The problems facing the Harding administration, when one comes to consider them, are nothing short of appalling.

Of these the industrial situation is the most perplexing, and the most threatening. The strongest hope of an eventual settlement lies in the incoming executive,—his disposition to hear all sides of a question, his kindly moderation, his freedom from prejudice and passion.

Such a type will be disappointing to the fine eaters on both sides, neither the Howards nor the Atterburys will be satisfied, but if their dissatisfaction should lead to a weakening of their control, and their replacement by men of broader vision, President Harding will have demonstrated that he was the man ordained for the country's highest office at the present time.

The Talent Experiment station has been invaluable to the farmers of Southern Oregon, and under the direction of Professor Reimer, has paid for itself a thousand times. The increased appropriation is both recognition of efficient service, and guarantee that this service will be strengthened and enlarged.

People on the inside have long known that Caruso was more than a mere song bird, that he was a man of capacity and character. His gallant fight against death has extended this reputation, which it is hoped he will be given life to enjoy.

Perhaps the new apportionment bill will not be, as disastrous as some people think, for numbers are not nearly so important as quality.

Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason. DAYS OF STRESS. THROUGH weary years of war we wrought, our hearts oppressed by doubt and care, for every dismal morning brought some tale of bloodshed and despair.

While blood-drenched armies toiled and fought the endless battles "over there." All through the war we saved and pinched, tried self-denial till it hurt, that Kaiser Wilhelm might be elinched and dumped, defeated, in the dirt; we thought that fellow should be lynched who bought himself a Sunday shirt.

And when the guns at last were stilled, and placed in soak were sword and lance, and warriors no longer drilled across the sodden fields of France, the bosoms of the boys were filled with thoughts of pomp and circumstance. For we had lived like hermits gray, and hermits have a beastly time: they live on turnips, peas and hay, and think a sirloin steak a crime; and so we rose and threw away, the franc, the kopeck and the dime.

And now this later phase is spent, and sanity resumes her throne, and every wise and thoughtful gent reverses the doubloon and the bone, and to the bank he takes a cent, to start a bundle of his own. Released from wartime's doubt and dread, and having lived reaction down; oh, there are better days ahead for every delegate in town; so let us walk with sprightly tread, and spring the smile and dump the frown.

How Much Do You Know? 1—Where does the quail build its nest? 2—What and when was the Reformation? 3—Which rusts more readily, steel, cast iron or wrought iron? 4—Do animals and plants breathe the same or different elements? 5—Does it appear that the deep sea bottom has ever been land? 6—What is the largest island in the world? 7—How are shells formed? 8—What bear is peculiar to North America? 9—What fish was so abundant at one time that servants refused to be fed on it more than three times a week? 10—What tree sends its branches to the earth which take root and form new trunks? Answers to Yesterday's Questions. 1—Where are submarine cables laid? Ans. They are laid on the bottom of the ocean. 2—What was the occupation of Cain before he murdered his brother Abel? Ans. He was a tiller of the soil. 3—How did Mt. Calvary get its name? Ans. It is the Latin translation of the Hebrew name Golgotha meaning skull. The mountain is situated outside Jerusalem and either took its name from being mound-shaped, like a skull or from being a place of public executions. 4—What are two common carbohydrates? Ans. Sugar and starch. 5—Where do we get the name Easter? Ans. It is probably derived from Eostre, a Saxon goddess, whose feast was kept about the same time as Easter. 6—What were the most important colonies ever founded? Ans. The thirteen colonies of England which are now United States. 7—In what country is the cultivation and use of tobacco forbidden? Ans. In Morocco. 8—Where was Samuel Gompers born? Ans. He was born in London, England, Jan. 27, 1850. 9—What is the origin of our word "prairie"? Ans. It is a French word and means meadow. French explorers gave the name to the great treeless plain between Ohio and Michigan on the east and the desert plains on the west. 10—To whom is the title "Prince of Wales" given? Ans. It is given to the oldest son of the reigning sovereign of Great Britain.

NOTORIOUS BANDIT OF OKLAHOMA IS SHOT. HARRISON, Ark., Feb. 18.—Henry Starr, notorious Oklahoma bandit was probably fatally wounded today when with two other men he backed off the bank of the People's bank of Harrison into the vault, while attempting to rob the institution. One official, who had hidden a rifle in the vault, obtained the weapon and shot Starr down and opened fire at the other two who escaped. Starr, lying wounded on a bed at the county jail, admitted his identity, but refused to give any information concerning his companions, who are now surrounded in a wood, two miles south of the town by an armed posse of more than 100 men.
