D. M. LOWE WILL REPRESENT S. P. IN EASTERN FIELDS

ASHLAND, Feb. 23.—This week, D. M. Lowe, dry farming wizard, horticultural and agricultural expert, and proficient as a judge of the merits of fine stock and poultry, starts on a mission, the scope of which will include territory extending east to the Atlantic seaboard and south to the Gulf of Mexico, with Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans and New York as radiating centers. For years our various community units have each had their exponents in a public way, but on a limited scale. Lowe has a broader vision, and his mission will be ambassadorial as to extent and influence, incorporating the representation of the state of Oregon at large and the Rogue River valley in particular insofar as portraying their advantages are concerned to central westerners, easterners and southerners, who are living in dense ignorance of the opportunities afforded by our section of the Pacific northwest. Specifically, one the one hand, Lowe takes up the diplomatic burden of representing the southern Pacific in the role of advertising that transcontinental railway, and in another relation he will set forth, under Federal Farm Bureau auspices, the merit of co-operation as being ideally exemplified agriculturally, educationally, financially and socially within the borders of our own state. The Federal Farm Bureau is really an annex to the department of agriculture, the chief of which is a member of the president's official family; hence, in accepting this appointment, Lowe is only one degree removed from holding a cabinet position. With "Our George" on the shipping board, and "Our David" as an attaché of the Farm Bureau, two of Oregon's uncompromising democrats will be trying federal fat under a republican administration.

Elmer Hobbs, Southern Pacific trainman, has returned from a visit to San Francisco, taken while on a vacation pending the resumption of a state of normalcy connected with railroad traffic.

Scenes in the movies were given a local coloring, at the Vining, on Tuesday evening, by the initial appearance of a reel introducing familiar landmarks and well-known folks about town included in the cast pertaining to "The Romance of Lathia City," in which a number of leading citizens were surprised upon "seeing themselves as others see us." The presentation was so popular that the management, in response to a request which implied a demand, was compelled to announce a return engagement the following evening in order that the major characters could all be identified. The representation of E. F. Smith for instance, perambulating the Plaza, was certainly a Paramount picture.

Oppressive silence still reigns in connection with surroundings at the Plaza pool hall, closed abruptly some time ago. In view of developments, something must be brewing. The erstwhile lively headquarters are as quiet and deserted as a bank on a holiday.

The Poultry association meets at Chautauqua Pioneer hall, on Saturday, Feb. 26th. The Chamber of Commerce stands sponsor for the catables which will be served to the visitors.

"The Value of the Scenery of Jackson County" will be the theme of Prof. Vining, on Thursday of this week at Medford, incident to a meeting of

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Medford who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Medford woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Medford resident can doubt.
Mrs. W. F. Langwell, 504 N. Grape street, Medford, gave the following statement telling of the good, Doan's Kidney Pills had done in our family. Since that time, I have had occasion to use them myself and they helped me. I had kidney weakness and a dull rheumatic misery in the small of my back that was most depressing. Doan's soon removed that trouble, and I am glad to recommend them.
On March 23, 1920, Mrs. Longwell said: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy and I still use them occasionally to keep my kidneys in good order."
Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Longwell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mena, Buffalo, N. Y.

those interested in keeping Southern Oregon scenic embellishments intact. The gathering, however, staggers under the topheavy designation of "The Preservation of Jackson County Scenery Convention," a title almost as unwieldy as that, in religious circles, of "The Society for Propagating Christian Knowledge in Foreign Parts." Brethren, be briefer in boosting.

Not only First company as a unit, but detachments of the Grand Army and Relief Corps attended divine service at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning. Even from that stereotyped text, "George Washington" Pastor Koehler drew lessons which significantly pointed a moral as to patriotism and ideal citizenship reflected in the life history of the Father of Our Country.

Fred Herrin has been up in the grazing sections of Douglas county with a number of sheepmen, investigating conditions under auspices of the Western and Southern Wool-Growers Cooperative association, of which corporation he is one of the chief officers.

March seventh is to witness a gala event in connection with the annual socially of First company. The function will be a dance and reception, and a drive is now on to secure the attendance of not less than one thousand citizens at this cabaret, the proportions of which will be colossal. The dance will be free, the music to be furnished by the newly organized Loveland-Dickey orchestra of seven pieces, the instrumentation of which, as realized, is said to be absolutely peerless. First company has lately received over $1600 in pay checks, the allotment averaging over $20 each for the rank and file as a whole. This payment is for the period from July 1, 1920, to Jan. 1, 1921, and while not excessive in amount, constitutes a snug little sum carried to profit account.

The Southern Oregon Presbyterian meets in this city, April 6, and recently Mrs. C. F. Koehler and Mrs. C. H. Lamkin visited Medford are delegates to a gathering called for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements for the denominational convention.

Jewell Lowe has returned from Weed, having purchased his father's farm, the old Myer homestead in the Valley View neighborhood. Don Lowe, another son, for sometime past residing at Seattle, has been visiting the home folks of late, preliminary to going to Weed, where he succeeds to Jewell's position in the veneer department of the big lumber company of that town. Don was married sometime since to Miss Jocelyn White of Seattle, incident to their trip east and south. Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Lowe will visit numerous relatives in Missouri, Ohio, and other states.

Malta commandery, Knights Templar, will hold a special convocation on Wednesday evening, Feb. 23. Work in the Order of the Temple, Easter Sunday occurs early this year, March 27, and the observance will be held by the commandery in its asylum headquarters in Masonic hall, instead of attendance upon a church service elsewhere.

Ed Barrett and W. S. Eastman, Southern Pacific employes, have both gone to California, the former to the railroad hospital in San Francisco and the latter further in the direction of the sunny southland we read about.

At the Page
A world's record in multiple exposures, which should give cameramen something to strive for for some time to come, was established during the filming of "Chickens," Douglas MacLean's latest comedy which comes to the Page theatre today for a four day run. The story deals with the humorous chicken-farming experiences of a formerly wealthy city youth who believes that egg plant is the ideal diet for his flocks of blooded fowls.

In photographing these scenes it was necessary for Bert Cann, MacLean's cameraman, to run the negative through his camera sixty-six times, or a total of one hundred and ninety-two single runs. Each time the film passed through, it was necessary to time the action to the split second. Several days were required to complete the operation, one of the most difficult multiple exposure feats which has ever been attempted.

At the Rialto
Memories of Jack London and Robert Louis Stevenson at their best are revived at the Rialto this week when local theatregoers will be given their first view of "Under Crimson Skies," the production of which so many flattering reports have been received, beginning today. Slim Lincoln, the colossus of the screen, has the leading role. It is a story of life and adventure on the high seas, of a gun runner who is carrying contraband munitions to a South American port for revolutionary purposes, of the love of a strong man for a woman to whom he cannot, in honor, tell of his feelings.
Many new and interesting scenes are crowded into the six reels. A storm at sea, said to be the most realistic ever filmed; a mutiny of a crew on the high seas, a revolution in a South American republic and the rescue of a handful of besieged Americans from the American consulate by a band of ragged beach combers are a few of the high lights in a production which fairly tingles with interesting action.

EVERYONE INVITED TO CONVENTION OF SCENERY EXPERTS

The last details for the scenic preservation convention were completed today and everything is in readiness for the opening session at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

More than two thousand citizens of Jackson county have had an invitation extended them to attend the convention, yet every citizen of the county is a recognized delegate and their presence is earnestly solicited.

The Federal court room on the second floor of the post office building will be the convention headquarters and for the first time in the history of this building has anything but court sessions been permitted the use of this room. The importance of this convention was recognized by the federal authorities and therefore the use of the court room was granted to the citizens of Jackson county.

There will be two sessions of the convention. At ten in the morning and at one-thirty in the afternoon. Although the morning session will be important, it is anticipated that the afternoon session will be more largely attended in that the keynote address will be delivered by Prof. I. E. Vining at that time.

A special Chamber of Commerce luncheon will be held at the Medford hotel at noon, the privilege of which is extended to all who are interested in the scenic preservation movement.

Citizens of Medford, especially members of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, are urged to lend their support in making this convention a success by their attendance at the various sessions and the luncheon.

Easter comes early this year and with the sun shining, the birds singing and the trees about ready to burst into bud thoughts naturally turn to new spring togs and Mr. Hubbs assures the public that this display will be the best ever made by their store.
Alford's orchestra will furnish music and all are cordially invited to be present.

The father died almost instantly. A formal charge of murder has been lodged against the girl and the mother is held as a witness.
According to the girl her father was choking her mother.
