County Agent C. C. Cate has wired Floyd Young, the frost expert whom the weather bureau has detailed to duty in the Medford district during the frost period and who was to have come here March 15th, to not come until March 20 or 25th, inasmuch as he will only be relieved from his regular duty as head of the Davenport, Ia., weather bureau, to spend six weeks here. Mr. Cate and leading orchardists thought it best to take a chance on the early blooming so as to have Mr. Young's valuable services during the most dangerous frost period.

Here is the way Ashland views the defeat of Ashland high here at basket ball last Friday night, according to the "tidings" of that city: "The Ashland basketball team lost their first conference game to Medford last night by a score of 22 to 19. This was the fourth of the series with Medford, three of which Ashland had won. Both boys' and girls' teams were losers, the latter game resulting in a score of 21 to 19 in favor of Medford. Last night's game was the roughest of the series, and was not marked by the clean playing that has made the games on the Ashland floor so attractive. The game was refereed squarely, although it was not called as closely as those played heretofore. Medford had many personal calls. The girls also put up a good game."

Portland, Ore., 3, 5, '20.
522 Kenilworth Ave.

Dr. Jonett P. Bray, Medford, Ore.

Dear Sir:—According to my promise to write you how I am feeling, am gaining strength daily. I no longer have the drooping of the eyelids and am improved every way. Am able to go from my house to the city for my adjustments and am performing a few light household duties.

I want to express to you my sincere appreciation for your timely treatment. I am, Most respectfully,
MRS. WM. HEIL.

Mrs. Heil had been sick for 29 days with sleeping sickness and after exhausting every other means known to them to secure her recovery, and all hope given up for her life, I was called in to take charge of the case. After 25 adjustments, was able to go to Portland and visit her sister and continue adjustments.
