After 10 o'clock, until 1 A. M., when the affair was over, the merry makers danced in inches of confetti lying on the Natatorium floor. The Ford Sedan, given away by the Legion, went to J. C. Murray, linotype operator on The Mail Tribune staff.

The attempted Hapsburg coup which at one period last week, it is admitted, had a chance of success, promises to have a different effect. The social democrats plan to introduce in the assembly resolutions that the government take steps to hurry ratification by France and England of the trianon treaty, providing for the surrender of West Hungary to Austria and making provision for the protection of Austrian frontiers by the entente.

They declare this action is certain to prevent further royalist attempts at restoration.

The three leading political parties have agreed to make separate statements by the assembly placing themselves as being opposed to the return of the Hapsburgs.

"Helirotrope Harry" falls on to the Page screen with comparatively little warning, and it is repeating the triumph of "Humoresque", which is the exact opposite in theme.

As Vera Gordon in "Humoresque" portrayed all that is grand in mother love, Fred Burton is doing as much to exemplify a father's love for his daughter. "Helirotrope Harry" ends a very successful four days run tonight.

Here is Harry Carey again in another captivating Western melodrama by H. H. Van Loan. There is something about a Carey picture which appeals to every emotion, but particularly to that sympathetic chord which is in every one of us. It is enriched by the acting of a very capable cast, two of the members being the cleverest juveniles on the screen, "Breezy" Eason and Ben Alexander. It also presents three leading ladies, Ruth Golden, Ruth Royce and Lila Leslie.

"Bringing Up Father"

His 'Acute Indigestion' Was Bad Case of Gall Sac Trouble

The "human spider" who climbs the sides of tall buildings has nothing on the person who prescribes his own medicine—that is, as far as taking risks is concerned.

We heard of a man who thought he had "acute indigestion" which, by the way, is an empty name in many instances. This man took any number of things "recommended" by friends who had been "helped in an awful stomach ache."

When all the time he was suffering—and suffering is the right word—from a bad gall sac condition. He found it out when he called the man he should have called first—the doctor.

Our only interest in the matter is to see that the prescription—which the doctor writes—is filled correctly.
