

Local and Personal

The fears felt by orchardists that the storm period of Sunday and this morning might end with a dangerous frost were dispelled this forenoon for Tuesday morning by Frost Expert Young and County Agent Cate, who stated that local conditions indicated mild weather for Tuesday. During the showers from Sunday morning until this morning 17 of an inch of rain fell, making in all 20.15 inches of precipitation since September 1st last. The regular weather prediction for Tuesday is for fair weather.

When W. H. Gaston Domergue goes fishing hereafter he will wear ear muffs, no matter how torrid the temperature, as a protection against the further marring of his pleasing features. The well known Medford insurance man was fishing at the Rogue river yesterday afternoon with a dry fly when in making a cast in some manner the hook flew around and snagged the lobe of his left ear, imbedding itself there. Unable to get the hook out at once and not desiring to waste any more time in the effort when he was having such good luck at pulling in the piscatorial beauties, he cut the line from the hook, put another fly on it, finished his day's sport, slept well last night, and this forenoon had a physician cut the hook out of his ear.

Thursday witnessed the observance of a very notable event in connection with Ashland. This was the celebration of the 68th anniversary of the arrival of the Hill family, one of the first pioneer families to settle in this part of the Rogue River valley. It was also the 83rd birthday of Mrs. A. H. Russell, one of the members of that family, who was a mere slip of a girl when the journey was made through the unsettled western country. The date was further marked by the 19th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Russell's grandson, Francis Winter, and, as is the usual custom, the "Hill tribe", as this well-known family is known in this vicinity, held a gathering to celebrate these anniversaries. The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Winter was the scene of the annual "tribe" gathering this year, and 31 guests, principally members of the Hill connection, sat down to a most sumptuous dinner at 6:30 o'clock.—Ashland Tidings.

The reason why Klamath Falls did not have a delegation present at the Chamber of Commerce committee meeting held here last Thursday is given in the Klamath Falls Herald as follows: "Klamath Falls was not represented at the meeting. This was due, said Secretary Stanley of the chamber of commerce, to the arrival of Governor Olcott in Medford, before schedule. The governor was not to arrive until evening and a local delegation intended to attend the banquet and conference, said Stanley, but the governor came on an earlier train and was in haste to get to Salem, so the morning meeting was held. The change in plans was telephoned to Klamath Falls and the local men abandoned the trip."

The attempt of M. F. Hanley to extend his water rights on Little Butte creek was the subject of a hearing before the state water board here Thursday, representatives of the Rogue River Canal company and the Medford Irrigation district appearing in protest, contending that they held prior rights to the water involved all of which is needed for the irrigation district. Representing Hanley in the controversy were Eyan Reames, Medford attorney; Garfield Stubbsfield of Grants Pass and J. A. Daar, Portland engineer. The protesters were represented by H. P. Chadwick, engineer, and James T. Chinnock, attorney for the company.—Salem Capital Journal.

Y. M. C. A. BALL LEAGUE TO START PLAY MAY 30

The schedule committee of the Medford Y. M. C. A. Athletic league met Saturday night at the call of the chairman, B. R. Elliott. After a thorough discussion of the situation, the following points were agreed upon:

As five churches have made application for membership in the league, the schedule of games will be set up on that basis. Teams will be entered from the Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Methodist church, South, Christian.

Games will be played on Tuesdays and Fridays at 6:30 p. m. at Jackson school grounds.

The season will open Tuesday, May 3rd. The Senior league schedule for the first five weeks follows:

May 3, Christians vs. Methodists.
May 6, Baptists vs. Presbyterians.
May 10, Methodists South vs. Christians.
May 13, Methodists vs. Baptists.
May 17, Presbyterians vs. Methodists South.
May 20, Christians vs. Baptists.
May 24, Methodists vs. Presbyterians.
May 27, Baptists vs. Methodists South.
May 31, Presbyterians vs. Christians.

June 3, Methodists South vs. Methodists.

Junior league games will be played on Mondays and Thursdays at 4:30. The Junior league season will begin Monday, May 9.

The Junior league schedule for the first five weeks follows:

May 9, Methodists vs. Christians.
May 12, Presbyterians vs. Baptists.
May 16, Christians vs. Methodists South.
May 19, Baptists vs. Methodists.
May 23, Methodists South vs. Presbyterians.
May 26, Baptists vs. Christians.
May 30, Presbyterians vs. Methodists.

June 2, Methodists South vs. Baptists.

June 6, Christians vs. Presbyterians.
June 9, Methodists vs. Methodists South.

It is distinctly the intention of the management that these games shall in no way interfere with the Bulgin evangelistic services. The above schedules will consequently be held subject to change with due notice when in the opinion of the schedule committee such alteration seems advisable.

VLADIVOSTOCK IS WICKEDEST CITY SAYS CITY VISITOR

Leon Granman, formerly with the American forces in Siberia, arrived in the city this morning, telling a story of Japanese treachery and Bolshevik lawlessness in that unhappy land. Granman is a member of a pioneer Albany family.

"The Japanese hold no good will towards Americans," said Granman, "and every night a sentry shoots or takes a shot at an American. The alibi is always: 'Me think he him Chinese robber,' or 'Me think he him Bolshevik.' They always have a plausible story to cover up what they do purposely."

"The Bolshevik employ their pretty daughters to lure American soldiers to lonely spots near Vladivostok, where they are murdered and robbed. This is a frequent occurrence, and I know of several who fell victims to this trick. Vladivostok is the wickedest city the world has ever known."

"When I was in Siberia, a troop train was fired upon by Bolsheviks, and 27 Americans killed. Another time a naval lieutenant from the U. S. S. Brooklyn narrowly escaped death at the hands of a Japanese sentry who fired without warning. The investigation that followed brought out the usual excuse that the officer was mistaken for a Chinese prowling around the dock."

"Between raids of the Bolsheviks and Chinese bandits, the Siberian farmer has no chance. One or the other always take his crops and stock."

"Disease lurks in every quarter of Vladivostok. The residents do not even bury their dead, but throw them into box cars, that are afterwards hauled to some remote sidetrack. There they decompose and the city is alive with vermin. Millions upon millions of flies fill the air. They are carriers of typhus. The American Red Cross is fighting this terror, but get no local support. The city has no sewer system. Death is so common it attracts no attention."

"Vladivostok is a city of half a million, and has absolutely no moral code for young or old."

"The Czech-Slovaks are the best soldiers in Siberia. They captured the city from the Bolsheviks in 1918 armed with crowbars and pick handles."

Mr. Granman says the Japanese are highly resentful towards Americans, and take pains to show it.

"The Japanese are piling the docks of the city with supplies and ammunition," said Granman, "and are getting ready to slice Siberia for their own."

Building Shoes Like Bridges—

Most shoes are just "made"—all that they are intended for are to be mere "foot coverings." The preservation of the foot is not taken into consideration.

That is where the ARCH PRESERVER SHOE and ordinary shoes differ. They are built on a basic principle—they have a wide bridge reaching from the ball of the foot to the heel, anchored securely in place.

It is this bridge that supports the arch gentry yet firmly—it keeps it in its normal position and preserves the foot.
