

MORE ARRESTS ARE EXPECTED IN STILL CASE

Although the police and county authorities were and are very close-mouthed about the facts in connection with the booze enforcement excitement of last Tuesday night more details are coming to light, and it is known that arrests are contemplated in connection with the finding of an unused still along Bear creek, and the bootlegger who escaped the police at the depot.

It is now known that the latter was a Gold Hill bootlegger who boarded the train at Gold Hill with two suitcases full of bootleg whisky, and that the Medford police were tipped off by a passenger to this effect and not by the conductor of the train, as was previously stated. Train crews running through here have not attained an enviable reputation with the authorities in providing such tips.

This bootlegger with his suitcases at once hurried from the train when it stopped here, to an awaiting taxi which sped away before the police or sheriff could act. It has been learned that this taxi took the bootlegger to a house near Phoenix where he was supposed to reside, according to the taxi driver, who on his return to Medford was nabbed by the police and induced to take the officers to the house in front of which he said he had discharged the passenger.

The police awakened the occupants of the house who said the man did not live there nor had he been seen by them. No booze was found in the house. It developed later that the bootlegger instead of entering the house when the taxi drove away continued on through the premises, crawled over the back fence and in so doing tore a part of the straps off one of the suitcases. It is then presumed he walked away to some place where he cached his booze.

FEAR TROUBLE IN MEXICO MAY 1

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—Elaborate preparations for May day celebrations throughout Mexico are being made by radical elements and in some quarters there is apprehension that the observance of the day may lead to disorders.

Government authorities while inclined to look on the demonstrations as mere outlets for radical enthusiasm are prepared to meet any emergency.

Linn A. E. Gale, an American radical, expelled from Mexico April 1, as a pernicious foreigner, has returned to this city, according to an apparently well authenticated report.

Local Briers

Chas. S. Fee, of San Francisco, general passenger traffic manager, and John M. Scott, of Portland, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, after having enjoyed a couple of days of change of scene and resting up in Medford and vicinity, departed this forenoon for a short sojourn in Roseburg. In company with Mark Montgomery they yesterday enjoyed an auto drive through the valley which took them to Ashland, Jacksonville and Grants Pass and back to Medford. Mr. Scott, who with Mrs. Scott leaves in June for a three months visit in Scotland, hopes before that time to come back here for a several days fishing stay at the river with the Kelly Island club as headquarters.

Rev. J. K. Howard, who was pastor of Olivet church for eight years, is now the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Jacksonville, and all of his friends at Glendale join in being pleased to hear that he is now near us, as we note his splendid work for us while he was our pastor.—Glendale News.

Mike Wonnack and brother Ace, left Wednesday for Josephine county where they plan to locate several mining claims.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Clark were visitors in Ashland the forepart of the week.

The Medford Elks bowling team left for home this morning, defeated in all six games rolled with local Elks. Klamath Falls now leads the championship contest by 600 pins. The six remaining games will be bowled at Medford next Sunday evening.—Klamath Falls Herald.

Mrs. Ursula Conral of New York, arrived in the city this morning for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Walter Howne.

A feature of Tuesday night's council meeting was the informal reading and informal discussion of a resolution and ordinance, whatever that combined proposed legislation means, calling for a special election to be held on June 7th in connection with the state election on the bonus bill, to have the city purchase for $20,000 the Pacific and Eastern railroad tract of 19 acres for an auto camp ground. Opposition to the proposed election was led by Councilman Keene, and while the matter was talked over informally neither the mayor nor councilmen seemed to be very enthusiastic about the proposition. No action was taken.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Siefert Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it and got all right. I gained twenty pounds or more and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. SALLIE SIEFERT, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

COMMUNICATIONS

Mr. Thomas Once More

To the editor: I notice Mr. Johnson thinks my letter peculiar, but if some of the good people care to investigate I think if they would write to the chamber of commerce at Klamath Falls, also some of the leading business men of that place, I do not think my letter would sound at all peculiar. Also I notice Mr. Johnson said nothing of the meeting at Walla Walla. I wonder why? MR. THOMAS.

Regarding Mr. Bulgin

To the editor: I noticed in your communication column that there is at least some opposition to the Bulgin-Lewis Co. coming to Medford to hold a revival and I would like to say that I have heard Dr. Bulgin preach and I do not think his sermons are any more radical than some of our local ministers' "quiet sermons."

At least I think from what I know about Dr. Bulgin, that I would advise Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Williams also, that if they are "infidels" they had better keep their sons and daughters away from the tabernacle or Dr. Bulgin might convert them to Protestant Christians. ELIZABETH MAUPIN, Medford, Ore.

At the Rialto

Louis B. Mayer has produced what may be truthfully described as a star-proof picture, for the caliber of screen acting, while distinctly ordinary, can be entirely forgotten in the theme developed with consummate skill and directed with rare and touching emotions. If only for the precocious and talented child performer that has yet appeared before the camera "The Woman in His House," which opened for a four days showing yesterday at the Rialto theatre, is worth seeing twice, for the full force of his gifted performance can hardly be appreciated at one sitting. It tells of the loving wife and the too busy husband, a great physician.

Mildred Harris is fortunate to have appeared in such a story. She was never more emotionally sure, more human or appealing than in "The Woman in His House." The production can readily be ranked with the few great pictures of the film world.

Bill Hart at Page

With William S. Hart's new picture, "The Testing Block," written by himself, we find "Darling Nelly Gray," as an important feature of the picture, there is a warming of the heart, a reviving of past dreams—"When you and I were young, Maggie." But if the song itself is old, there is nothing if not novelty in the manner in which Mr. Hart introduces it. A strolling band of minstrels in the Sierras during the days of gold, are forced to perform for a banish crew headed by the redoubtable Bill Hart.

Among the nomadic players is a girl named Nelly Gray and the song she plays on her violin is "Darling Nelly Gray." The leader is fascinated. So are the others and Bill fights each one single-handed to win his right to the girl. Then he forces her to marry him. She was the turning point of his career and when he found love for her, he encountered the testing block in his ladder of life.

It will be shown at the Page theatre today and the remainder of the week. Eva Novak plays opposite the star.

JACK CUDAHY, SUICIDES

ailments, lost his commission. Last June he assisted in the organization here of a motion picture producing company in which his children, Anne and Michael, were given juvenile roles in the first and only picture made by the organization.

Daughter Elope

About the time of the organization of the picture company, Cudahy's eldest daughter, Edna Catherine Cudahy, eloped with Percy Fisher Browne of Pasadena. They were married in Riverside.

Mrs. Cudahy was said by police officers to have shown remarkable composure while telling what she knew of her husband's tragic act but later collapsed.

Two sisters of the dead man, Miss Clara Cudahy and Mrs. W. P. Nelson, were on the way from Santa Barbara to Pasadena when they learned of their brother's act. They immediately went to the Cudahy residence here and passed the night with the widow and her children.

"Whatever may have been the motive for the suicide," Dr. Huff said today, "I am certain Cudahy at all times was in normal possession of his faculties."

"It was worry, worry over financial troubles that caused this terrible tragedy," said Miss Marie Cudahy, the dead man's daughter.

"It is untrue there was an estrangement between my father and mother. When he came home recently after an absence to recover his health, mother realized it was his time of need. She knew he was ill and needed the care of a helpmate. Since then she had been with him day and night.

"Her cot was beside his bed. Her greatest thought was to see his every desire gratified.

"Please say something nice about my parents' wonderful devotion to each other. They were true lovers."
