Game Warden Pat Daily headed a raid made to capture alleged illegal fishermen who were believed to be operating below the Golden Drift dam Tuesday night. Daily reports that he saw a boat put a drift net into the water just below the dam, and that he followed it to where it was about to land near the White Rocks. He says that he recognized St. McClung, an old time violator of the fishing laws, and Bob Blackburn, the latter of Jackson county, in the craft, and that he emptied his revolver in the direction of the boat as it made its escape across the stream. McClung has not been seen since, but Blackburn has surrendered himself to the court and has paid a fine of $50. Daily states that he found an automobile in charge of Ben Rainey awaiting the arrival of the boat with its crew.—Grants Pass Courier.
