As a result of the supplementary membership campaign, twenty new members were added to the roster of the Chamber of Commerce. The team workers called on less than half of the prospective members and therefore the executive committee are going to submit a membership campaign plan to the board of directors. There are at present 399 members, all of whom are responsible citizens, which places the chamber in a better financial condition at this time than during any period of its history. The new members signed up in the campaign are—Mrs. Emma York, James C. Cones of the Mosan Art Rug company, W. T. Normile, contractor; Col. William H. Palmer, U. S. A., retired; Albert E. Orr, of Weeks & Orr; Bernice Cameron, manager Postal Telegraph company's office; P. E. Wynkoop, real estate dealer; Oris Crawford, cashier First National bank; J. E. Olmstead, proprietor of the Colonial; W. W. Perkins, of the Auto Electric Equipment company; Chadwick and Compton, engineers with the Rogue River Valley Canal company; C. E. Eads; L. N. Campbell of the Earl Fruit company, A. L. Vroman, plumber; H. C. Smith, manager Holland hotel; Charles E. Cass of the Auto Wrecking company; P. F. Close of the repair department Riverside Garage; L. A. Warder of the American Laundry; Dr. William W. P. Holt, and Medford Wholesale Manufacturing Candy company.

MEDFORD LEGION SUPPORTS POLICE AGAINST BOOZERS

When it comes to a show down between the forces of law and order and those of vice, including bootleggers, the Medford post of the American Legion can be depended on to support the officers.

This warning to evil doers is promulgated through the executive committee of the post which at its meeting Monday night discussed a scurrilous, profane and unsigned typewritten letter addressed to Patrolman J. A. Hemmert, abusing him and Deputy Sheriff J. J. McMahon for their anti-booze activities.

In part the letter, with certain words left out, says:

"Just a little note of warning to tell you that you are getting too fresh. You say you are out to get the drunks and bootleggers, but I want to tell you if you do not go slow the bootleggers will get you. And Joe McMahon, that other efficient officer, we will get him, too. It's a lot of liberty we have when a man can't take a drink when he wants to without some fool officer butting in. So take warning in time."

Both Patrolman Hemmert and Deputy Sheriff McMahon while they laugh at the above mentioned threat and others that have reached them directly or indirectly, serve notice on bootleggers any effort to get them made be done quickly as they are prepared to give a warm reception to any persons attacking them.

COL. H. H. SARGENT GIVES DISCOURSE UPON TIN CANS

Col. H. H. Sargent of Jacksonville was the chief speaker at the Forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at the Medford Hotel, and in a witty and forceful style related his experience in "cleaning up things" from Santiago de Cuba to Jacksonville, Oregon. The subject of his address, which was received with liberal applause, was "Tin Cans."

"Since I started to clean up the half million of tin cans at Jacksonville," said Col. Sargent, "there has been 29 real estate deals, and the people have got the habit. Why only a few weeks ago the Pioneer Daughters cleaned two whole blocks, while the men folks were keeping the curbstones warm."

The Rev. Ward W. Henry of Portland, spoke in behalf of the starving Chinese and Edgar Wight acted as chairman.

Col. Sargent said in part:

"With Tin Cans as my subject, I purpose to relate some of my experiences in helping to clean up the cities of Santiago and Guantanamo in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, and of my home town, Jacksonville, Oregon, during the past few weeks, with the hope that if any or all of you shall ever become enthusiastic about cleaning up Medford you will find in my experiences something of a helpful nature."

"After the Spanish capitulation, which took place on July 12, 1898, at Santiago, General Shafter urged the war department to hasten the shipment of the Spanish prisoners to Spain, in order that his army, which was in a deplorable condition, might speedily return to the United States. More than half of his soldiers were down with malarial fever or recovering from its effects; tropical dysentery and typhoid fever were prevalent; and there were cases of yellow fever in every regiment. It was feared that yellow fever, which at that time was rather a mild type, although lots of natives and a number of soldiers were dying of it, would assume virulent type and become epidemic.

"Such were the conditions when my regiment, the Fifth United States Volunteer Infantry, commonly known as the Fifth Immunes, was with two other immune regiments sent to the Santiago province to relieve General Shafter's troops. We sailed from Savannah about Aug. 8, and arrived at Santiago on August 12, 1898. (Col. Sargent here described the going into camp at Santiago the conditions in the city, the cleaning of them up, etc., showing also some photographs of the camp and his headquarters, etc., then described briefly the cleaning up of Guantanamo, and continued as follows:

"Since then nearly twenty-three years have passed. How time flies! Two and a half years during the great World War spent in San Francisco, Princeton and Washington, and nearly eight years spent with you in this valley at Medford and Jacksonville. Rapidly we all approach the sunset of our day.

"Whether at Jacksonville or Washington, "Whether the cup with sweet or bitter run, The wine of life keeps oozing drop by drop, The leaves of life keep falling one by one."

(Col. Sargent then described the cleaning up of Jacksonville and gave

One of the big occasions in the history of the Medford council of the Knights of Columbus order, was the day night on a class of 40 at the conferring of the third degree Mon-American Legion hall.

This degree was conferred by the Portland council degree team of 21 members with Frank J. Lonergan of Portland, supreme director of the order in the United States, in charge assisted by State Deputy J. A. Pearro of La Grande, Wm. Eagles of Albany and P. J. Hanley of Portland. The degree was put on in fine shape, following which a banquet was served.

34 MANUFACTURERS EXHIBIT PRODUCTS

Many residents of the county inspected the exhibit of manufactured products displayed at the Medford Chamber of Commerce rooms. A total of 124 Jackson county manufacturers are showing their products, most of which are founded upon the agricultural production of the county and that of the forests.

Among those who made exhibits yesterday of whom there was no mention made in yesterday's paper were Tomlin Box company, Oregon Granite company, F. D. Netherland and D. K. Jones, W. W. Perkins & Son, and M. Evans.

The exhibit will be open to visitors for the balance of the week.

GIRL STENOGRAPHER SHOOTS ROOM MATE

CHICAGO, April 27.—Miss Jeanette Hoy, a stenographer, today shot her former room mate, Miss Catherine Davis, 24, a bookkeeper, while standing on a crowded elevated line platform in the downtown business section, then ran into a cigar store and shot herself. Both girls were taken to a hospital, where their condition was said to be critical.

The shooting, witnessed by hundreds of persons on their way to work, was believed to have resulted from a recent quarrel, which caused the two girls to break a friendship of a year. Two days ago Miss Davis received a letter from Miss Hoy containing a bullet.

Miss Hoy was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, but was discharged.

turn of the purchasing value of the dollar toward its normal worth as reflected in the drop in the cost of living.

"I have given much thought to this matter," he said. "I want to be fair to the interests of the men and officers who are manning our ships, to the operators and owners who are looking to the shipping board to protect their interests in the merchant marine."

Rapidly changing economic conditions resulted from the war, Chairman Henson continued, having caused a tremendous decline in ocean freight, the tying up of many ships and the unemployment of many men.

Labor Demand Rejected

Six points on which the marine engineers asked favorable assurances before discussing wages in the present negotiations, were rejected by the chairman. The board, he said, could not give its consent to the abolition of the sea service bureau which places American seamen on American ships.

"Nor can it consent," he continued, "to a government institution to points five and six involving unions preference. The shipping board as a government institution, must stand for that equality in that relation to that which is guaranteed to every citizen by the constitution of the United States."

Representatives of all marine unions on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were invited to the conference as well as the owners from both coasts.

BERLIN NOTE SPURNED

Hughes Awaits Word

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Word from the allied capitals as to the acceptability of the German counter proposals on reparations was awaited today by Secretary Hughes before he framed his reply to the latest communication from Berlin.

Up to noon the American government had no authoritative information as to the attitude of the allied powers.

Since the receipt of the German proposals yesterday there has been no further exchanges between the United States and Berlin. This statement was officially authorized after the publication in this country of Berlin dispatches saying that Mr. Hughes had sought elucidation of certain points in the German communication.

County Agent C. C. Cate arrived home this morning from Salem where with Colonel Gordon Vorhies and Howard Hill the other Medford directors, he attended the meeting of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association. Messrs. Vorhies and Hill are visiting in Portland before returning. The three local directors are quoted in the Salem newspapers to the effect that despite frost damage the Rogue River valley pear output will this year be equal to that of 1920, and that the apples were not injured by the recent frosts.
