

PORTLAND MAN IS A FIRM BELIEVER SINCE TAKING IT

"Tanlac has made a believer of me, for I have picked up seventeen pounds by taking it," said J. P. Altizer, 228 Hall street, Portland.

"About two years ago I was taken down with erysipelas and was in bed for over a month. It left me with no appetite and my stomach was all out of order and I began to fall off in weight. When I ate anything it would sour on my stomach and I would blot all up and get short of breath. I was troubled a lot with heartburn and dizziness. My nerves finally broke down and I became so restless that I could hardly sleep. I was just about all in and so weak that each morning I didn't know whether I could hold out through the day or not.

"Well, I hadn't been taking Tanlac four days before I felt a great relief, and now I don't believe I ever felt better in my life. I eat like a lumberjack, am not troubled with nervousness or dizziness and sleep like a baby. I am back to my normal weight and, knowing what I do about Tanlac, I am more than glad to tell others about it."

Advice Is Cheap, So It Is Given Freely to Sick People

When a watch—a lifeless combination of wheels and screws and springs—gets out of order, a person wouldn't think of listening to advice from friends that a screw driver or a mallet or monkey wrench would be just the thing with which to "fix" it. It would sound foolish. And the watchmaker would be hunted up—without question.

So it is no wonder that men who know are constantly amazed at the ease with which people will swallow fearful and unknown compounds when they don't feel well—all upon the "advice" of friends.

And the human body is a thousand times more delicately adjusted than a watch. It takes years to learn the delicate functions of nerves and muscles and secretions—just what is wrong with them when they go wrong in sickness. It takes years to learn what is right in a given case. It's the doctor who puts in those years of learning. It is the doctor's learning which enables him to write the proper prescription—which tells him the way to help nature resume her many delicate functions.

PHOENIX TO JOIN IN BULGIN MEETINGS

In order that all desiring to attend the Bulgin meetings in Medford, may have every opportunity to do so, the usual Sunday evening and mid-week church services at the Phoenix church will be omitted during the tabernacle meetings. The Christian Endeavor society, however, will hold a short meeting at the Phoenix church each Sunday evening promptly at 6:45, which will close in ample time to take the interurban bus for Medford, which is due at Phoenix at 7:20 p. m.

The services of last Sunday and this week have been with special reference to the tabernacle meetings. This week cottage meetings will be held at country homes both east and west of Phoenix with good interest.

State Superintendent W. J. Herwig of Portland, will give a special lecture at the Phoenix church Sunday morning on "America's Opportunity in World's Crisis," in connection with the present status of the liquor problem in America and other countries.

Mr. Herwig is the new state superintendent of the Oregon Anti-Saloon league, and will speak also in Ashland Sunday evening. No special exhibition at the Phoenix meeting. Mrs. J. M. Rader will sing a contralto solo at this service, the time of which is 11 a. m.
