HAWAII FACES CROP LOSS, ASKS ASIATIC LABOR

Lift Immigration Bars Against Orientals for Limited Period —Rice Industry Gone— Japanese Grip on Labor Supply Absolute.

HONOLULU, April 25.—(Delayed.) (By Associated Press.) The great sugar, pineapple and coffee plantations of Hawaii are facing near extinction as the result of the most acute labor shortage in the territory's history; the rice growing industry of the islands has been wiped out for the same reason, and the business of Hawaii is fast slipping into the grip of the Japanese, the dominating race in the territory, according to statements made to the Associated Press by Governor C. J. McCarthy and by Albert Horner, territorial sugar expert. To meet the situation Governor McCarthy has asked the legislature to memorialize congress, requesting the lifting of immigration bars so that labor, including Orientals, may be imported, with the proviso that such importation shall be only for limited periods and shall not operate so that there will be within the territory at any time a total number of aliens of any one race more than 25 per cent of the population of the territory. This last provision would bar the importation of the Japanese, stopped since the "gentlemen's agreement" was made in 1907, since already the number of Japanese in Hawaii far exceeds the stipulated 25 per cent of the total. The net result of the shortage is that the sugar crop, which under normal conditions should be harvested by the end of July, will not be in the bins before January, February or March, 1922. Authorities here see only one solution of the problem and that lies in the Oriental labor. With about one-half of the total population of the territory Japanese, that race already has a firm grip on labor conditions and is rapidly extending its activities into the commercial field. A prominent sugar planter is authority for the statement that twice last year and once this season Japanese moneyed interests have made a bona fide offer to buy one of the largest sugar plantations in the territory. All the offers were flatly turned down.

BACCALAUREATE PHOENIX SUNDAY

The Baccalaureate sermon to the 1921 graduating class of the Phoenix high school will be given next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Phoenix church by the pastor, Joseph W. Angell. This will take the place of the usual church service, and all friends of the class and of the high school and the church are particularly invited. Special music for the occasion. No evening services at the church, so that all may attend the vespertine meetings at Medford. Members and friends of the C. E. society will attend in a body, leaving the church about 4:30 p. m.

THE MIDWAY AT THE COUNTY FAIR

The Midway at the "County Fair" at the Rialto is attracting considerable attention and is all aglow with the fair spirit and electrically lighted at night. There are seven booths artistically arranged to display the exhibits as follows: Sugar Bowl, candles and popcorn; Portland Flouring Mills, flour and cereal products; People's Electric Co., Thor washing machines, Hotpoint and Royal Vacuum cleaners; Medford Book store, Corona typewriters; First National bank, saving accounts; Groceria, bakery and groceries; Weeks & Orr, aluminumware. It makes you think of ye old time fair and inspires you to be young again. The "County Fair" in moving pictures at the Rialto is a splendid thriller and depicts the old time fair with all the fancy stock, big pumpkins, fakirs and through it all runs a beautiful love story.
