EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett
Harry Hayse and wife were business callers Friday and so were Pearl Stowell, William Holman and Harry Stanley.

Among the passengers on the Eagle Point stage were Henry Thornton of Perist and Mrs. Anna Peedster of Los Angeles on her way out on Reese creek to visit her son-in-law, Mr. Parr and family, one of the homesteaders in that section of the country.

Benj. Whetstone was also here having some work done by our blacksmith.

C. D. Clark and wife came out Saturday morning and went on up to Prospect, their home.

Mrs. A. J. Moon, the lady who came in last fall, went and interviewed our county school superintendent, found a vacancy in the Reese creek school district, called up the school board of that district on the phone, made arrangements with them to meet her at the Reese Creek school house the next day, Saturday, came out to the Sunnyside and that Friday night with her husband and two boys, Albert and Frank, went to the Reese Creek school house the next morning, arranged to teach the school, rented a house to live in, arranged for household goods for housekeeping, moved in and commenced her school Monday morning at 9 a. m. and finishes up her school on Friday, May 13th and expects to start back east to join her husband who has preceded her as business matters called him home at that time. Now if that ain't going some. And the beauty of the whole thing is that she has taught them a good school and the patrons are well pleased with her, not only as a teacher but also as a neighbor and citizen. But what I started in to say was that Mrs. Moon and her two boys came in and spent the night at the Sunnyside, took the 7:30 stage the next morning, went to Medford to send her oldest boy over to Hill to visit his grandmother before they start back to Iowa. Another lesson for our boys and girls showing what perseverance, grit and push will accomplish with education. Never give up but try.

has been up in the Derby country visiting friends and relatives passed thru here Friday to Medford, returning Saturday.

Sam Harnish reports that some one has drawn a long piece of pipe out of the well where his barn was burned several years ago and thinks it was a mean trick.

A. C. Radellif, who owns a nice home just above town has had a time getting a large sheet iron tank out and up to his place. The tank is nine feet high and ten feet in diameter and when he started across the bridge which hit the top of the tank came in contact with the cross-ties in the top of the bridge cover, it started the horses and they jerked it against so hard as to jam it all out of shape, but finally he gathered a crowd of young men and they, after trying to wheel it thru the bridge, but it was too flimsy as the top hoop was pulled off so they procured two timbers, put it on and pulled it through the bridge.

Kay Looesley and wife of Fort Klammath, and Mr. and Mrs. Findley of the Klammath Falls Packing company were here for dinner Saturday.

And so was Robert Moore of Wellen and J. D. Patrick and a man and wife whose name I failed to secure were here for dinner Saturday.

Rev. H. G. King, the Sunday school evangelist for the American Sunday school Union came in Saturday afternoon and announced that he would preach Sunday morning after Sunday school. There was a small congregation, but he gave us a good talk and also held services again at night. Mrs. Nettie Grover and her daughter, Mrs. Guy Prentiss were in attendance in the morning. Mrs. Grover was our Sunday school superintendent for several years while she lived here.

I see that I am going beyond my limits so will call a halt here by adding that Harry Stanley is the proud father of a 9 1/2 pound boy born Tuesday morning and James Owens, our county commissioner was in town the same day and seemed to be very solicitous as to whether Harry would survive the shock, but at last accounts both parents and grandparents are out of danger.

Footprints of a dinosaur estimated to have lived ten million years ago have been found in Connecticut.
