An organization meeting for a historical society for southern Oregon will be held on Monday evening at 7:30 at the public library. Col. Robert Miller of Portland, who holds the interests of southern Oregon very near to his heart, has consented to extend his visit in this city over that date and will be the speaker of the evening. All those interested in the preservation of things historic are urged to be present and bring their friends. No admission fee.

The Screen

Last Time Tonight

The last presentation of "The Inside of the Cup," the much discussed picture now at the Page theatre, will be tonight. Those who like great pictures such as this, should not fail to see it.

The Black Bettie cafe, one of the most picturesque cafes of Greenwich Village, is the locale of several important scenes in "The Dangerous Moment," the photodrama which will be at the Page theatre tomorrow, with Carmel Myers in the starring role. A fascinating story of unusual heart appeal are unfolded against the colorful background of the Bohemian quarter.

At the Rialto

Delightful touches of humor, powerful drama and colorful flashes of inspiring scenery are features of "Hearts Up!" in which Harry Carey comes to the Rialto theatre tomorrow.

Harry Carey wrote the story himself draughting the story to comply with the requirements of playgoers who have made him their screen idol.

Opposite Carey plays little Mignonne Golden, who typifies the natural charm of the western girl. Other important players in the cast are Frank Braidwood, as a young civil engineer, Charles LeMoine, as an unscrupulous rancher and Arthur Millett as a squaw man.

Elk Creek

Several of Medford's leading merchants were at the U. S. fisheries on Rogue river Sunday working on their camp grounds which is on part of the station land. They nearly completed the fence around the camp and it is understood that two or three cabins will be started right away.

Miss Eula Housen and Fred Middlebush were married Friday evening, May 13, at the home of Rev. J. E. McDonald who performed the ceremony. The wedding was a complete surprise to everyone. Although the couple were at a picnic which Mrs. Middlebush gave to the school children no one knew they were married.

It began raining here Sunday evening and has been raining ever since. Monday it hailed quite hard several times, being hard on cabbage and tomato plants.

Will McDonald is painting the Rogue Elk hotel and making various improvements which certainly makes a different looking place of the hotel and grounds. His brother, Fred McDonald, who ran the little store across from the hotel last year is back and is enlarging his store.

Dr. Van Sey and son of Medford spent Sunday at their summer home just above the Rogue Elk hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Hutchinson and daughter Olive took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Van Heffner.
