

ONLY WOMAN CONGRESSMAN IS OPPOSED TO VOTES FOR WOMEN

BY NED BALDWIN Private Secretary to Congressman Nicholas J. Hammel, of Oregon. (Written for International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—She's some girl. The speakers were not street corner loggers commenting on a passing 1921 display of beauty, but members of the National Press club at Washington, D. C., about as hardheaded and hardboiled a bunch as there is in America.

The comment was made after Miss Alice Robertson, the new Congresswoman from Oklahoma, had finished a fifteen-minute heart-to-heart talk with the boys of the press at "daily congressmen's night." Once each year the newly-elected Senators and Representatives are invited to visit the super-reporters of America.

Her hair is gray, silver gray, almost white. She wears the favored even-toe, hair and wavy hair style. There isn't an ounce of pretense about her. Right in the middle of her speech she admitted that she was six and sixty years old.

Her hair is gray, silver gray, almost white. She wears the favored even-toe, hair and wavy hair style. There isn't an ounce of pretense about her. Right in the middle of her speech she admitted that she was six and sixty years old.

After she had mounted the platform in the Press club for the "daily congressmen's night" she sat down in the front row and to the amusement and delight of the press boys pulled a puff and murmur of a long aftertaste to ponder her face. When the laughing died down she remarked: "I never did this before, but I can't let these clerks and secretaries here in Washington get ahead of me." Then she told a happy story about the man who took her by the temporal on a doctor's prescription and the audience was here. She has a rare sense of humor the durable kind that has survived a life full of struggle.

A Paradox. She is a militant anti-suffragist. If such can be. "I'm a parrot," she said, "vice-president of the anti-suffrage league of my state and in congress by accident. We were so busy during the war looking after Liberty bonds and Red Cross work and helping the soldier boys that the misguided men who didn't go to war voted suffrage in."

"Miss Alice," as she is spoken of generally about the Capitol and the House Office Building, has a skill in springing surprises that is worthy of a seasoned stump speaker. Here was her part one. "I was born in Georgia. I tell you so, because my grandfather went over the plains into Arkansas just as soon as he got out of the penitentiary in Georgia."

and tell "why they are on earth." "The lady from Oklahoma" completely won the hearts of the newspaper boys by her sound common sense and the pathos and human interest in her wonderful history.

Just a moment, please, Miss! We'll pool our knowledge of what she wore and what she looks like right
