The Screen

A Ridin' Romeo. "A Ridin' Romeo," in which Tom Mix, the William Fox star, has been giving thrilling and humorous entertainment at the Rialto theatre for the past three days, will end its run there past three days, will end its run there with today's showings. Mix has added to his popularity with "A Ridin' Romeo."

Northland Romance. One of the most successful film dramas of the day, "Isabel; or The Trail's End," is to be the feature offering at the Rialto theater tomorrow and will remain at that theater for four days. The cast includes House Peters and Jane Novak. This rugged romance of the Far North has been the recipient of more praise by metropolitan critics than any other production of the season.

The Old Swimmin' Hole. Charles Ray, one of the real talents of the screen, offers his immense following a big surprise in "The Old Swimmin' Hole," which comes to the Page theatre tomorrow. It is a picture without a subtitle. Each scene is told strictly by pantomime—pantomime so easily understood that words are truly unnecessary. The picture is also plotless in the dramatic sense; there being no theme or idea exploited. It is just an exposition of boyhood life as found in the rural districts of the country. The picture is based upon James Whitcomb Riley's celebrated poem of the same name.
