BUILDING SHOWS MARKED INCREASE ON PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Increases in building activity, particularly in southern California and the government forecast May 1 of a winter wheat crop of 66,000,000 bushels, the largest in the history of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, were the outstanding developments in the district during the past month, according to a statement made public here today by John Perrin, San Francisco, federal reserve agent.

"In the district generally," the statement said, "the number of building permits was 48.9 per cent larger than in April 1920 and their value 27.4 per cent greater. The smaller increase in value of permits is doubtless due to decreased building costs, which are estimated to be from 8 to 50 per cent less than they were a year ago."

Regarding winter wheat, the statement said its condition in the district May 1 was slightly above the ten year average, and predicted a total production of 66,654,000 bushels if average conditions prevail until harvest time, compared with 58,959,000 bushels for 1920. There is an abandoned acreage of 28 per cent in California and 10 per cent in Arizona.

More than a seasonal improvement of activity was reported in the statement for the district's lumber industry. Seventy-five per cent of the mills are now operating. It was declared, compared to 40 to 50 per cent earlier in the year, and demand for nearly all grades of lumber is reported increasing.

"April production of lumber," the state declared, "was reported to be 299,235,000 feet for the district, compared with 202,970,000 feet for the preceding four weeks. April orders exceeded the April cut by 11.9 per cent."

"The present market for lumber of all kinds, with the possible exception of timbers, is showing activity and stability."

WALLACE WOULD KEEP IN FRANCE U. S. WAR DEAD

PARIS, June 1.—"America comes to the graves of our soldier dead," said Ambassador Wallace at the ceremonies held here yesterday, "with feelings of reverence and devotion, for the gratitude which inspires us can be expressed in no other way than in the sentence: 'All that a man has will he give for his life.' Yet these men gave life itself for home and country. Unselfishness could go no further, and it hallows the ground in which they lie."

"Here in nowhere else, we realize the meaning of the cross. Where men have died for men we mark each grave with a sign of Him who died for all. Could I have my way these graves would never be disturbed. The loving care of the French people has made them beautiful and the peace, which reigns here should be embroked I intend no disagreements with those gold star mothers at home who asked that the bodies of their sons be returned to the land which bore them, but I think that in following this natural impulse, they have acted without full understanding of the true conditions. Could they be with us here today and see what I see, they would not deprive their boys of their places in this field of honor, where glory guards solemnly around the dead."

WAR DEPT. TO INVESTIGATE PLANE TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Investigation by the inspector general of the army of the airplane crash at Morgan town, Md., Saturday in which four officers and an enlisted man in the army and two civilians lost their lives was ordered today by Secretary Weeks. Instructions transmitted by Major General March, chief of staff, directed that every angle of the disaster be carefully reviewed. The report will form the basis for any further action which may be decided upon by the war department.

This investigation will be independent of the action taken by the air service's board of inquiry which reported today to Major General Menor, chief of the air service. This report exonerated the pilot, Lieutenant Stanley Ames and said there was no evidence of defective design in the machine.

The inquiry by the inspector general presumably will be of wider scope however and take cognizance of the statement made by Captain De Le Vergne, air attache of the French embassy, who rode in the wrecked plane from Washington to Langley field, but who declined to return in it saying that he had noticed on the way down lack of balance at times and that the ship was at times out of control of its pilot.

NEW SETTLEMENT IRISH PROBLEMS GOES GLIMMERING

LONDON, June 1.—(By Associated Press.) The official residence of Prime Minister Lloyd George, has been inundated with requests for confirmation or denial of reports from Belfast that Eamonn DeValera and Mr. Lloyd George had held a conference. A definite answer to this query is being withheld.

Those usually informed of the prime minister's movements, however, have been unable to verify his whereabouts during the week end of May 21.

LONDON, June 1.—(By Associated Press.) Prime Minister Lloyd George announced in the house of commons today that it was proposed to strengthen the crown forces in Ireland and that a statement would be made to parliament on the subject when the arrangements were completed.

Replying to a question, as to whether the government would adopt the suggestion of colonial autonomy for north and south Ireland and have the apportionment of the national debt submitted to judicial arbitration, Mr. Lloyd George said that even if parliament approved such proceeding "I have reason to believe it would not be accepted by the men responsible for the violence in Ireland."

The prime minister said there could be no question of making good out of the British exchequer the damage to the Dublin custom house caused by the recent incendiary incident in that building. He asserted the building was deliberately destroyed by Sinn Feiners.

LONDON, June 1.—(By Associated Press.) Wild scenes were witnessed here last evening shortly before the curfew hour. Stone throwing and shooting occurred between civilians and soldiers who were accompanying young women, the civilians trying to separate the girls from their military escorts. Several of the combatants were wounded.

A fatal shooting occurred in Angel sea street, where a grocer's assistant was shot in the chest and died shortly afterwards.

WOMAN'S VOICE BEST DEFENSE AGAINST ATTACK

(By International News Service)
DENVER, June 1.—Attention, ladies!

Scream loud and scream long when confronted by a burglar or a foot-pad!

This is the advice of Chief of Police "Tug" Williams, given in a series of "Hints on Home Protection" for the benefit of the female of the species.

A woman's best defense against attack is her voice, Williams declares, and says that the best and quickest thing for her to do when confronted by an intruder is to scream—scream at the top of her voice—and the more terrified the pitch the more successful her effort is likely to be. Because, the chief adds, either the burglar will flee or someone will come to her aid.

Time is too often limited in emergency cases for a woman to rush to a pillow, or a bureau drawer, to grasp a revolver, and, even when she does get hold of a gun, the chief thinks, the chances are she will not know how to use it. "So just scream, scream, scream!"

And the high mogul of Denver's Police Department adds a few "don'ts" to the advice to women.

"Don't slip over to the grocery store and leave the doors open."

"Don't go out at night leaving the house black dark. A thief works best under cover of darkness."

"Take the shades, light up dimly, and lock the house before going out for an evening."

"Don't hide the front door key under the porch mat for 'sunny' or 'sister' when they get home from school. A prowler watching the house is certain to discover the secret."
