

HINDU THROWS R. HAND IN GRILLING WRESTLING MATCH

Rising from the mat with Ralph Hand astride his shoulders, Basanta Singh, the Hindu wrestler last night brought to a close one of the most hotly contested mat battles ever witnessed at Gold Hill. From his position high in the air the Gold Hill man was thrown backward on his head and shoulders with terrific force and lay helpless while the referee awarded the fall to Singh. Hand was carried from the ring in a dazed condition and although thought to be suffering from a broken rib in addition to the blow on the back of his head, insisted on returning to the ring, where he was downed for the second fall in five minutes.

Hand won the first fall of the match in 45 minutes by means of a head chancery followed by an arm-lock. Although the Hindu appeared to be inferior to Hand in both strength and cleverness the latter appeared unable to clamp a decisive hold on his man, Singh wriggling out of each predicament with eel-like slippiness although plainly in serious difficulty several times before the first fall.

Although Singh appeared to suffer no ill effects from the first fall the climax was a surprise to the fans as Hand had appeared able to take care of his man and it is believed that over-confidence in this respect led to Hand's undoing.

Several challenges to the winner were read before the match, among them being one from Mike Yoke. The attendance was somewhat smaller than usual and considering the class of wrestling produced a number of fans missed one of the best bouts put on in this end of the state. Although some money changed hands no large bets were reported as Singh apparently had few backers.

GAS INCREASES TRIGONIA WELL DEPTH 1245 FT.

The Trigonía well is now at an approximate depth of 1245 feet. The men have drilled steadily throughout the week without interruption in the hardest formation yet encountered, a dark gray sand, very sharp and which has sharpened with depth.

The last three days has brought a considerable increase in the gas, which is now readily discernible in a rising vapor from the sludge pit when the baller is emptied. The oil showing now has changed color to a greenish amber, showing much more life. It is interesting to note that the well is now approximately at the same depth as the Cat Creek, Montana pay sand. No drilling Sunday.

RODMAN FAVORS LARGER FLEET ON THE PACIFIC COAST

By CHARLES E. HUGHES, International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—With his leave-taking from the Pacific fleet whose upbuilding he has directed for the past two years in his capacity as commander-in-chief, Admiral Hugh Rodman, distinguished for forty-six years' service with the American navy, paid a splendid tribute to the efficiency of America's sea fighters and made a plea for the united support of the nation in the navy's programme for adequate facilities on the west coast.

He warned that Japan is energetic and aggressive and is providing a pretentious naval program to take care of its commerce. "I wish Americans in every part of the country could realize what an important part the west coast now plays in our national life," said the admiral to the International News Service. "Then they could form some estimate of the tremendous role it will play in the next century, when our Pacific commerce is developed on the scale of magnitude it is sure to attain."

At the present time there are more than 175 fighting vessels of all types in the Pacific fleet, with the prospect, the admiral pointed out, that this number will be swelled if the navy is to keep abreast of the growing United States mercantile marine centered in the Pacific trade.

"I have no knowledge that the Pacific fleet is to be augmented in the near future, but if Washington is going to enlarge it or maintain it at its present standard of efficiency, there will have to be improved docking and repairing facilities. While we have no enemies in the Pacific, we do expect to have a larger commerce in this ocean, which means proper naval protection is necessary."

"Japan, which feels it must have a larger mercantile marine to support its national growth, has provided a larger navy to keep pace with its ships of trade. We should have at least as much protection for our ships of trade as Japan is providing for those under its flag."

NAME ALENDERFER LUMSDEN'S PLACE

On account of the permanent removal of T. B. Lumsden to Los Angeles, it became necessary for him to resign as a director of the Medford Chamber of Commerce and in the vacancy created the board elected O. O. Alenderfer, having received the next highest vote at the final election of directors last March.

In the short space of time which T. B. Lumsden served as a director he became a very valuable man on the board and his removal from Medford is regretted. The newly elected member of the board is no stranger to the people of Medford. While exalted ruler of the Medford Elks lodge he demonstrated his executive ability and won the confidence of the citizens by his fair decisions. The Chamber of Commerce is to be congratulated on having a man of his character as a member of its board.

OPEN MEETING C. OF COMMERCE MONDAY, JUNE 20

A request, signed by 120 citizens of this locality, was presented to the board of directors of the Medford Chamber of Commerce in which they expressed a desire that a meeting, open to all citizens of the community, be held.

The request was granted, and a meeting is being arranged for Monday evening, June 20th, at the Public Library. The object of the meeting will be for the discussion of a wider publicity campaign to procure settlers on the immense acreage of land that will have to be put into cultivation on the completion of the Medford, Talent, Gold Hill and Eagle Point irrigation districts.

There are approximately 30,000 acres in the new and older established irrigation districts which are directly tributary to Medford, none of which may be considered an asset to the land owner or to the business interest of the valley unless these lands are settled upon and intensive cultivation practiced.
It is the belief of the promoters of this publicity campaign that 20 acres of irrigated land would be more than sufficient to support a family in diversified farming. A less acreage in orchard is recommended for each family, and land owners must be prevailed upon to cut up their tracts in units of 20 and 40 acres, so that there may be four to eight families on land, which without irrigation now only supports one.

There is every desire on the part of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to see a representative gathering of business men as well as owners of land now being included in the new irrigation districts at the meeting a week from next Monday night.

I don't believe people expect me to haul them less than cost and therefore the price will remain the same. If people want the street car to continue they should patronize the same.

SUNSET TO MIDNIGHT ELECTRIC SIGNS

You quit selling goods at six o'clock (or thereabouts). So do your clerks. But the rent does not quit. And your taxes do not quit. Moreover the people do not go to bed at six. Why not let an electric sign and brightly lighted windows, illuminated with electricity, go on selling goods for you after six? All through the evening in fact. Why not—The very people you want to reach—the purchasers—have no time to be on the street except evenings. That is the time they roam about, looking, seeing, formulating and deciding on their purchases. People do not have to hunt up your electric sign. It hunts them up like a search light. It is seen from afar. It talks to folks all along the street. They do not have to decipher it, either. It burns its message into them quickly, pleasantly, deeply and surely. And mark you, they will remember it, and you and your location, after they have gone home. Once more then, we ask, "How about Sunset to Midnight?"—May we send our representative to help you decide?
