

TRAINER OPINES G. CARPENTIER MENTALLY STALE

NEW YORK, June 11.—Fear of over-training appears to haunt Georges Carpentier and his manager. In his eagerness to be in complete trim when he faces Jack Dempsey July 2, the French pugilist has, apparently reached top condition well in advance of the date of combat.

Several close observers of pugilistic conditioning methods have intimated recently that Carpentier was training at too fast a pace for a bout to be held in the early part of July. His open exhibition of bag punching, shadow boxing and body strengthening exercises Thursday appeared to produce an impression of fatigue out of proportion to the amount of physical energy expended.

Among those who watched the workout was Royd Comstock, former trainer of the University of Southern California track teams. Asked regarding his opinion of the exhibition, he said:

"In many respects Carpentier is a most remarkable athlete. I should say right now he is mentally stale if not physically so.

"Considered as a whole I would say that Carpentier's bodily development leaned toward that of a track athlete or an acrobat rather than a heavyweight pugilist."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—After a 24-hour lay off, Jack Dempsey swung back into his training grind today. The champion was away from camp the entire day yesterday, motor-ing to Camden, N. J.

The physician who stitched the champion's damaged eye, told him that the wound had sufficiently healed to permit the resumption of boxing without danger of further serious injury.

Mrs. WAGNER of PALM BEACH Tells Girls How She Found Relief From Pain

West Palm Beach, Fla.—"When I was 19 years old I was irregular and I had such terrible cramps it felt like a knife going through me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was cured. After I was married I had the same trouble caused by the added work of farming and heavy washings so I told my husband to get six bottles of the Vegetable Compound and by taking it regularly my troubles ceased and now I never have a pain or ache, and am regular. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think every young girl should take it. You can publish this letter and it may be the means of helping some other girl or woman."

—Mrs. MARY M. WAGNER, Box 769, West Palm Beach, Florida.

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that woman should suffer so severely and when pain exists something is wrong which should be set right. Every girl who suffers from monthly cramps should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

GENIUS IS BORN OF INTENSE DISSATISFACTION—CHILDREN OF ELDERLY PARENTS ARE GREATEST

By MARGERY REX
(Written for International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 11.—"Most great men are born of aged parents." Those who would give geniuses to the world had better wait till forty to become parents, according to Casper L. Redfield, Chicago member of the American Genetic association. Mr. Redfield declares that the majority of the world's brilliant citizens are the children of men and women of forty years or more.

"The only great men whom we have been able to discover who were born of young parents," says Mr. Redfield, "were William the Conqueror and Frederick the Great."

Aspects and effects of that strange phenomenon called "genius" have always beguiled scientists into a study of its vagaries, causes and the nearness to a less desirable state of mind (insanity) which it so nearly resembles at times.

But why should the child of the middle-aged be possessed of what almost any mother would be pleased to see develop in her dearest possessions?

Is the mental stability of the adult, his experience and wisdom, transmitted to offspring? Do wise parents in the prime of life have brilliant children? Is this the explanation?

Opinion of Andre Tridon.
Nothing of the sort, declares Andre

Tridon, psycho-analyst, author and successful explorer into the mysteries of the mind, who offers a unique explanation for the great who are born of the aged.

"It is quite true," explained Mr. Tridon, "that the child of a couple born when the parents are no longer young is sure to be the superior of the first born or even the second child."

"The first born is sure to be inferior to the children that follow when a better understanding and more freedom exist between them than in the first years of married life."

"Goethe's parents were old when he was born. So were Napoleon's. And so were those of most famous men who were not the first or second but usually third, fourth or sometimes last of a large family."

But what is it about a middle aged mother and an old father that makes for genius?

"The discontent of the child who finds himself with parents that are too old for him," answers Mr. Tridon, "who has made scientific excursions about the south poles of the sub-conscious and brought back to the attention of our conscious minds an array of reasons, motives and complexes which really explain phenomena."

"The genius grows out of the dissatisfied child."

"Genius itself is an intense dissatisfaction."

WAGE REDUCTION IN S. F. COMES TOO LATE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The building trades council of San Francisco today emphasized its willingness to "accept unconditionally" the award of an arbitration board which carried a wage reduction of 7½ per cent for all crafts but officials of the Builders Exchange declared they would proceed with plans for the "open shop" which will be effective Monday. The acceptance by the trades council came too late, they said.

Callahan Suffers Stroke.
WALLACE, Idaho, June 11.—James P. Callahan, wealthy mining operator of the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, was stricken with paralysis at his home here last night. He became known today. His entire right side was said to be affected.

Good news to the orchardists of the valley was contained in a telegram received by Mark Montgomery, local Southern Pacific agent, this forenoon from H. E. Hinshaw, general freight agent of that railroad. This telegram was to the effect that the fruit cold storage shipping rate from here to New York beginning with next September will be $1.66 per hundred pounds, which is 16½ cents less than such charge this year.

"human element" had been forgotten. He said that he had regarded the national board of jurisdictional awards with the greatest satisfaction and fully realized its necessity. He said, however, that it had questions that could not be settled for all time, no matter what was devised.

President Donlin of the department said that the executive council of the department would attempt to hold a meeting with the carpenters' executive body and learn whether it intended to live up to the board's decision. "If they don't they will be suspended," he said.

The carpenters union, which is the largest union in the building trades department and the second largest in the federation, has twice before withdrawn or been suspended from the department because of jurisdictional controversies.

The official roll call showed that if the carpenters' delegates who declined to vote, had cast a ballot the resolution for the suspension of unions defying the board would have been lost by six votes.

"We consider ourselves suspended and have no intention of appealing from the intention of the action," said President Hutcheson of the carpenters this afternoon.

MAIL BANDIT ESCAPES AGAIN

near Del Paso Park, eight miles from Sacramento, when he overheard a conversation by the man who rode the train No. 16. He led the officers to the spot where the securities were supposed to be cached, but no mail sack was found. Officers stated, however, that there was evidence to show that the mail sack had been hidden in the trees and announced their intention to continue the search for securities with a man which Gardner drew for them before he was taken from jail in San Francisco and started to McNeil Island.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 11.—Frank Pyron arrested two years ago at Dunsuir, Cal., was an escaped counterfeiter under sentence to McNeil Island prison. Pyron was to have joined the party escorting Gardner, as they passed through Dunsuir on their way north.

Battle Is Expected.
TACOMA, Wash., June 11.—A battle is momentarily expected between the posse that is on the trail of Gardner and Pyron, according to a dispatch from Castle Rock this morning. The escaped prisoners are well armed with guns taken from the deputy marshals from whom they escaped. The posse is on the trail of the convicts in the hills surrounding Castle Rock.

Another version of the escape was received here today from the Castle Rock correspondent of the News Tribune. He reported that Gardner and Pyron pleaded for exercise when their train stopped at Castle Rock water tank, where it always takes on water. He said that while off the train a confederate, who was in waiting, slipped Gardner a gun. The latter, he reported, covered the deputies, forced them to remove the handcuffs and Oregon boot from him and Pyron and then robbed them.

Transferring the handcuffs to the officers, Gardner is reported to have handed them a $5 bill and said:

"You'll need this for breakfast boys."

The train pulled out, it was said, without anyone knowing of the escape except those directly involved.

Pyron Escaped Before

DUNSMUIR, Cal., June 11.—Norris H. Pyron, Roy Gardner's accomplice in escaping from officers on the train in Washington, had been at large in Shasta and Siskiyou counties for three years since his escape by leaping through the window of a train at Kennett, Cal., while being taken to prison in October, 1919, according to City Marshal Sam Fiske, who assisted federal agents in the re-arrest of Pyron here recently.

Pyron was convicted as a counterfeiter. He was said to be expert in the making of spurious five dollar gold pieces. After his escape in 1918 he followed various occupations in northern California and was not apprehended until an attempt was made to cash in San Francisco a bank draft which was returned for lack of funds. His description then was sent out and his identity established.

Shock to U. S. Marshal

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Ten men have been detailed by Daniel O'Connell, special agent of the Southern Pacific company, to assist the United States marshal's office and employes of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company in their search for Gardner. Gardner is an expert mechanic, O'Connell said today, and quite likely will commandeer an automobile or motor boat to further his escape.

The sensational escape of Gardner was a distressing shock to United States Marshal James B. Holohan. "I was willing to stake my reputation that Gardner would not escape again," he said.

The prisoner was in charge of Deputy Marshals Thomas McNeil and D. W. Winekel. "They were under orders to keep the Oregon boot and handcuffs on Gardner at all times," said Holohan. "This was the first time I ever had occasion to give such strict orders. The Oregon boot, a shoe weighing about 20 pounds, makes it impossible for a prisoner to run while it is on."

Wife Not Delighted.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Mrs. Roy Gardner did not express unalloyed pleasure when informed today her husband had escaped. "I can't say I'm glad he made the break for I think it would have been better for him to serve his term than come out to start life anew. As long as he escaped, however, I certainly hope he succeeds," she said.

to remove to a point near the federal prison in order that she might be close to her husband.

JAPAN WANTS OPEN DOOR (Continued from Page One)

which she planned to absorb Korea. I do not know how generally this historic fact is recognized, but Japan made every conceivable effort to avoid the conflict with Russia. So long as she could she strove for a compromise that would give her a chance to live. It was for that chance alone that she finally went to war and not for any territorial gains.

China Not a Unit

"The republican revolution in China completely destroyed for a time even a semblance of her national unity. In this connection Russia again stepped in and under the name of self-government began to absorb Mongolia. If Japan had territorial ambitions she too would have made some use of this rare opportunity. The fact that she stood aloof and would not touch any of the land thus laid at her feet is sufficient proof that she is not land greedy. Instead of taking land we stood by and protected China's territorial integrity."

We came then to the most delicate part of the subject, the present situation in China, about which he said:

Welcomes Open Door

"We welcome the policy of the open door and an equal chance for all. We are China's nearest neighbor. There is not the least need of any exclusive rights for us there. It is said that Japan has not followed this policy hitherto. If she has not seemed to in every case it has been because China has been unable to give every nation a fair chance; when, in plain terms, she was giving special privileges in return for bribes or considerations.

"We want to have order and stability restored in China. That is of the utmost importance for Japan's own interests and for the general welfare of the world. Any political interference from outsiders would be most unfortunate. But Japan desires to give all support that she properly may give to the restoration of social order in China and the unification of the country.

"Japan has been much misrepresented on these matters. Many persons in China and in western countries have come to feel grave doubt of Japan's sincerity about the open door and territorial integrity. That sincerity will be proved in time by facts and deeds. At the same time it is true that imprudent utterances or actions of some of the Japanese have sown seeds of misunderstanding and distrust among the Chinese. As a result the entire Japanese people are now being enlightened as to the wisdom and advantages of a closer political and economic entente with our Far Eastern neighbors.

Ready to Assist China
"As soon as China is united and a stable government is established Japan will be among the first nations to assist her in the building of the railroads, and the carrying out of the other improvements she so badly needs.

"This is a plain exposition of Japan's real attitude toward China. I hope it will do something to correct the false impressions that do Japan so much injury and injustice."

It should be noted that in the foregoing statement the baron laid stress on the assertion that Japan was in favor of the open door in China. I have had the same assurance from other Japanese statesmen. It is conceivable that they are either deceived or deceiving about it, but if they are neither, here is news of permanent significance. The greatest real chance of real friction between these countries centers around Japan's presence in China. If that is innocent we can go to bed and sleep, for these countries are not going to fight.
