SECURE DETAILS DROWNING OF ASHLAND WOMAN

Mrs. Margaret E. Gray of Ashland, former well known Medford woman, before removing to that city, was accidentally drowned while on an auto tour in Montana two weeks ago and a number of local friends have received letters telling of the accident, including Mrs. Earl C. Addis, The Ashland Tidings of Tuesday contains the following account: "The body of Mrs. M. E. Gray, well known Ashland woman who was drowned June 7 in a Montana mountain stream, has been recovered according to word received here by Charles H. Pierce of the local Ford agency. The body will be shipped to Brooklyn, N. Y., the birthplace of Mrs. Gray for burial in the family plot at that place. "Mrs. Gray, who left here on a motoring trip the latter part of May in company with Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Lidstrom of this city, was drowned in a mountain stream near Phillipsburg, Mont., while crossing on a narrow foot-bridge. All efforts to save Mrs. Gray were futile, owing to the swiftness of the stream. "Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were old-time friends of Mrs. Gray and were the first to receive word of her death."
