WEDDING BELLS

Smith-Grebb.
Edward S. Smith and Miss Myrtle Grebb were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the German Lutheran parsonage in this city June 28. All preparations for an elaborate wedding were laid aside, owing to the serious illness of the bride's sister, Miss Mary Grebb, who was sinking rapidly at the Granite City hospital in Ashland. The bride-to-be was attended only by her brother, Johnny, who acted as best man and Mrs. B. D. Smith, mother of the groom as bridesmaid. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was used. The bride was attired in simple white Ormandy and the groom wore the conventional suit. As tradition has placed it that the June weddings are always the happiest ones and that the June bride forever holds the love and esteem of her husband, much happiness and prosperity is sure to attend the young couple on their road of matrimony. Miss Grebb is the sweet and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grebb of Eagle Point. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Smith, old residents of the valley, is an ex-service man, having been on duty at Norfolk, Va., is a young man of sterling qualities and highly esteemed by all who know him.

The young couple will make their home at Eagle Point, where Edward, as he is familiarly known, is employed in the orchard work. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left immediately for Ashland, Mrs. Smith to be at the bedside of her sister.

LONDON AND PARIS ARE DISAPPOINTED

LONDON, July 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The victory of Jack Dempsey over Georges Carpentier caused keen disappointment here. Carpentier had been a popular favorite and public interest was no less keen than if he had been an Englishman.

Among the followers of pugilism, however, who ruled by judgment rather than by sentiment, Dempsey had by long odds the stronger backing.

PARIS, July 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The defeat of Carpentier was received with deep regret by all Paris, and pathos marked the scene of the posting of the first news of the match.

An aged woman before the office of the Echo de Paris moaned as a final bulletin was posted and then reached for her handkerchief to dry her eyes.

LADY SPEAKER KIDNAPED

ranged for her to deliver a lecture at Twin Falls Friday night.

Accounts of the abduction stated that about twenty men appeared at the Friedheim home and quietly removed Mrs. O'Hare to an automobile. Later reports from Hollister, Idaho, about twenty miles south of Twin Falls, were to the effect that several automobiles passed rapidly through Hollister headed south, presumably toward Wells, Nev.

Mrs. O'Hare was believed to be in one of the machines. She was paroled by President Wilson after she had served fourteen months of a sentence for violation of the espionage law. None of the members of the party who escorted the woman out of Twin Falls were identified and officials professed ignorance of her destination.

DEMPEY WINS IN FOURTH

right. They fought at close range in a clinch. Dempsey was short with a left to the head. Carpentier missed a right but connected with a left hook. Dempsey punished him, beating him unmercifully. Carpentier was groggy and bleeding at the nose. Dempsey missed a right swing but beat Carpentier as they clinched. Carpentier fell through the ropes trying to avoid a punch. He flew into Dempsey when he crawled back into the ring, and landed several blows on the champion's body at the bell.

Dempsey had the better of the round.

Round two—Carpentier missed with a left and clinched. Carpentier backed away and Dempsey hooked him with a right to the jaw. Dempsey followed after him, beating him around the head with rights. Carpentier was short with the left hook, but he staggered the champion with six rights and lefts to the jaw. Dempsey staggered back a bit and split the Frenchman's left eye with a hook. The cut was under the eye. Carpentier missed a right swing. Dempsey missed a right swing. They exchanged body punches then clinched as the bell rang.

Round three—Carpentier ducked a left hook. Dempsey backed into the ropes and hit him with a short right. Carpentier landed two uppercuts to the body in a clinch. As they clinched Dempsey punished the invader in the body and Carpentier nearly fell down when he missed a right swing. They missed lefts to the head and Dempsey punished Carpentier viciously in the infighting. Dempsey landed a left and right to the head without a return. Carpentier's right swing was short and Dempsey clubbed him on the jaw, with left hooks in the clinch. Dempsey battered Carpentier into a corner with rights and lefts at the bell.

The bell saved Carpentier from a knockout.

Round four—Dempsey rushed Carpentier to the ropes and planted a left to the body which made him wince. Carpentier landed a right to the head and tried to hang on. Dempsey missed Carpentier. Flash—Dempsey wins by knockout.

The continual bombardment of heavy body blows from Dempsey's fists was rapidly weakening Carpentier. The Frenchman began to sag noticeably at the knees and after about fifty-five seconds of punishment, crumpled up on the floor from the right to the body and left to chin. Carpentier was not unconscious but in sore distress as he lay curled up on his side. Referee Ertle began the count as he stood alongside the prostrate Frenchman while Dempsey, leaning against the ropes with a sardonic grin on his face, watched the rise and fall of the referee's hand. At the count of nine Georges rose to his knees and arose in a game but weakened fashion. The champion was upon him again in a flash and another crushing left to the midsection followed by a flashing right to the chin with all of Dempsey's weight behind it hurled Carpentier to the floor again with a thud that could be heard many feet from the ring. Again Carpentier lay on his side while the count went on and at the sound of eight he made a desperate attempt to regain his feet. He raised his body part way from the floor with his right hand, but the effort was futile, and two seconds later the European champion was counted out.

Carpentier a Good Sport

RINGSIDE, Jersey City, N. J., July 2.—Georges Carpentier took his defeat gamely and praised Dempsey as a great champion. In his dressing room after the fight Carpentier dictated this statement:

"I staked my all to win in the second round. I hit him hard, but could not drop him. I tried again in the third, but as right to my neck seemed to daze me. I do not know how he got through my guard in the fourth.

"America should be proud of Dempsey. He is a great champion." Georges returned immediately to Manhattan on the yacht Lone Star. He will rest for three or four days.

Dempsey Greets Georges

RINGSIDE, July 2.—Dempsey came into the ring in his white silk fighting trunks and a maroon sweater. He greeted the French challenger with a friendly "Hello George" when they shook hands in the center of the ring. Benjamin, Teddy Hays, Jack Kearns, Mike Traut and Bernard Dempsey, the champion's brother were in Dempsey's corner with Manager Kearns in charge. Descamps, Jomnee and Charles Ledoux were in charge of the Carpentier corner. Manager Descamps went to Dempsey's corner and demanded the right to examine the hand bandages. He excitedly pushed Dempsey's seconds away and watched carefully as the tape was wound around Dempsey's fists.

Mayor Hague and Jersey City officials of the boxing commission were introduced from the center of the ring. While this was going on Carpentier kept constantly looking aloft at two airplanes soaring overhead.

Governor Edwards of New Jersey was called into the ring and introduced. Bill Brennan was introduced and he challenged the winner.

There was a delay of a few minutes while Dempsey's hands were being bandaged in the presence of Descamps Carpentier's manager.

With this over a new pair of eight-ounce gloves were tried on Dempsey's hands by Manager Kearns. Descamps laced the gloves on Carpentier. The weights were officially announced as follows:

Carpentier 172 pounds; Dempsey 188.

Both Men Cheered

This was two pounds lighter than Dempsey hoped to be when he got into the ring. Promoter Tex Rickard crawled into the ring and warmly shook hands with both fighters. Henry Ertle, the referee, was attired in white flannels with white canvas shoes and a white shirt with a soft collar. He nervously paced the center of the ring while the gloves were being tied on.

Descamps patted Carpentier on the back as he dug his toes into the resin in his corner. Carpentier was introduced as the pugilistic idol of the Old World and a soldier of France. This draw a tremendous cheer from the crowd. Dempsey also was applauded when he was introduced, as the world's champion.
