SUPT. OF COUNTY FARM VICTIM OF SUICIDE ATTEMPT

W. N. Wells, superintendent of the county poor farm at Talent lies at his home in a precarious condition as the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, Tuesday morning about six o'clock. A bullet from a .38 calibre rifle was fired into his left breast, ranging below the heart and passing through the lower lobe of the lungs, Dr. Malmgren of Phoenix was called to attend to the wounded man.

The injured man has been subjected to melancholia, and suffering for the last five years from ill health. These are the reasons given for the act. He underwent two major operations for stomach trouble about five years ago, and friends state this had a depressing effect upon his mind.

The act was committed in the kitchen of the Wells' apartment at the poor farm. His wife was out in the yard feeding the chickens when she heard the shot. She rushed into the kitchen to find her mate lying on the floor with a rifle by his side.

Further evidence that the act was premeditated is shown in a check written out to the Phoenix church of which Mr. Wells was treasurer.

Besides his wife, the wounded man has a daughter, Mrs. Elton Beeson of Talent.

ALL STAR ELK'S MINSTREL SHOW ASHLAND, THURS.

Another star of the first water has been added to the Minneapolis Elks all-star minstrel show, which will be seen in Ashland on the evening of July 7th at the Chautauqua auditorium.

The touring minstrels will have Harold Gillis, a World War veteran, and a star in the Expeditionary force musical revue, "Who Can Tell" with them on the entire trip of the Pacific coast. Mr. Gillis will be the premier dancer in the big minstrel show which Minneapolis is sending here.

Besides being an exceptional dancer, Gillis has a song entitled "Loose and Careless" which is one of the many song hits of the first part of the show. Mr. Gillis appeared before former President and Mrs. Wilson, diplomats, representing Allied nations when "Who Can Tell" was presented in Paris.

These boys, all Elks, by the way, as is every member of the troupe, are professionals. As schoolyard pals they organized their quartet which has been heard on the Orpheum circuit and which for two years was in the services of the army camp entertainment committee both in this country and in Europe.

At the National Elks' convention last year held in Chicago, they appeared on several different occasions and as a result of their popularity, several vaudeville offers were received, and finally a short contract was signed, following the convention.

William Robertson, managing editor of a large Minneapolis daily newspaper, and a former professional actor, will act as interlocutor for the show and with "Big Bill" in the "middle front" the show is sure to go with snap and vim.

The traveling Elks are playing their way across the continent and over the Rockies and back to their home town and those who have seen them in their rehearsals thus far are loud in their praise.

Every penny over their expenses will be given to the Boy Scouts of Minneapolis, the Elks of that city having taken the task upon themselves of financing this worthy organization for the coming three years.

HARDING POLICY MISUNDERSTOOD BY JAP PEOPLE

TOKIO, July 6.—It is regrettable that the real character and policy of the new American president should be misunderstood by some of the Japanese people," said Micho Kaku, secretary of the Japanese embassy in Washington who has just returned on furlough, when interviewed by the Asahi representative. Mr. Kaku continued: "The president has often had occasion to express his conviction that an Anglo-American-Japanese entente can be made the basis of world peace. There is every reason to believe that the American president and his staff are all in favor of the maintenance of friendly relations between America and Japan.

"Mr. Ozaki's policy of armament limitation produced a favorable impression on American minds in general, although the plan was defeated in the Japanese lower house.

"On my way back I was often asked by American friends when the American-Japanese war was going to break out, and some young American women I met in the country districts assured me that they were determined to offer their services as hospital nurses upon the outbreak of American-Japanese hostilities.

"I was rather surprised that so many Americans should anticipate an American-Japanese armed conflict. My impression is that the Americans are prepared to fight if challenged, but otherwise they will be the last to take up arms against the Japanese. The diplomatic relations of the two countries are not, therefore, by any means so seriously strained or going to be strained as to justify any anticipation of an American-Japanese war. If the situation appears to be anything but quite smooth, that is only because of the propaganda of some Chinese and Bolsheviks.

"In the Osaka Mainichi Mr. Kaku is quoted as saying that what had struck home particularly during his three years' service in the United States was the deep impression which Japan's militarism has made on American minds. The general impression among Americans is that the military party is predominant in Japan and that the Japanese government is under its influence. This bears witness to the extensive injury which the existence of the military party in Japan is doing to the country's cause.

"But Mr. Kaku emphasized that Mr. Ozaki's disarmament speeches had produced a greater echo than expected and that Americans generally interpreted these speeches to indicate a decline in the influence of the Japanese military party.

"He was convinced also that as a result of the friendly attitude of the new American government the anti-Japanese situation in the United States had improved very considerably.

DIVORCE DELUGE SWAMPS ENGLAND FOLLOWING WAR

LONDON—Since Easter the divorce courts have been working at high pressure to clear off an unprecedented accumulation of arrears, which, added to a steady stream of new cases, threatened at one time to overwhelm the physical capacity of the bench.

It needed the assistance of a number of retired judges to make headway against the avalanche of suits, with the result that they have been disposed of at the average rate of two score or more per day.

The Lord Chancellor, Lord Birkenhead, himself, lent assistance by acting as an ordinary judge in the courts. Reviewing the position, he said: "The war has left a degree of unrest which has spread into almost every sphere of modern life, and the influence of which is likely to be felt for an indefinite period in domestic relationships.

"Nineteen out of twenty of the cases in arrears," Lord Birkenhead added, "had their causes in the war or consequences of the war. The date when he joined the army was the early chronological landmark of petitioner after petitioner, from which dated the familiar and melancholy story of weakness on the part of the wife."

It is Lord Birkenhead's opinion that matrimonial suits may not return at least for a generation, to the pre-war level.

The anomaly of the present situation has revived controversies on the inadequacies of English divorce laws.

Mrs. Seaton-Tiedman, secretary of the Divorce Law Reform Union, estimates that the number of wrecked marriages in the United Kingdom is higher in proportion to the population than in the United States.

WOMAN PAYS FREAK BET ON CARPENTIER

OMAHA, Neb., July 6.—While more than 500 persons looked on, Mrs. Ross Stodden yesterday paid a freak bet on the Dempsey-Carpentier bout by piloting Walter Binkley thru the business section here in a gaily decorated wheelbarrow. She had a large placard, "I bet on Carpentier," pinned on her back. It took her 25 minutes to wheel Binkley over the prescribed route.

ENTHUSIASTIC FAN STOPS BABE'S RUN

NEW YORK, July 6.—"Babe" Ruth would have been credited with two home runs instead of one yesterday had not an enthusiastic fan tried to catch the ball in the bleachers.

Ruth's high drive mingled with the clouds and was descending just on the edge of the right field stands when the fan jumped up and diverted the ball into the field. Ruth was on third base, but Umpire Connolly sent him back to second under the ground rules.

Ruth has 21 homers to his credit with New York yet to play three games before reaching the half-way mark of the season. At this rate the Yankee slugger would hit at least 64 home runs, ten more than last year.

HISTORY OF THE RED MAN SERIES

THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA
BY "INDIAN" MILLER

When Columbus discovered America, Christ's cross on his sails and banners, to whom did he reveal it? I answer myself. To the Christian nations, to whom alone it was a discovery. Had the Indians reached Europe in those days they would not, according to the practice of those times, have discovered the Old World. It is not discovered yet. Had the Chinese reached America at that time it would not have constituted a discovery. Only things found by Christians were discoveries. From the old Christian standpoint the Esquimaux crossing the Behring Straits in those days found nothing on either side, because they were not Christians. It is an interesting study.

Why was America called the New World? Because it was new to Christians, of course. It was not new to the Indians; nor was civilization a new thing to the Indians.

When Columbus discovered the New World he discovered also a new race—the red race. Why was it a new race? Because Christians had not known of it. The Pope had not known of it. The King of Spain had not known of it.

When Columbus discovered the Red Men they did not turn discover him, although they saw him. Why? Because they were not Christians.

The day of discovery is not over. Motorists are discovering in Savage Tires a product in keeping with the ideal behind their manufacture—the ideal to make tires so mighty that they will excel all others.

And now a new member has come into the tribe—the mightiest of them all—the new Savage Cord. This latest product of the House of Spreckels embodies refinements and the best known practices in cord tire construction. Even as the Savage D type is mighty among fabric tires, so is this Savage Cord mighty among tires of cord construction, for it is Built to Excel. It is true.
