FAVOR LOCAL AID TO UNEMPLOYED AS FIRST STEP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(By Associated Press.) Tentative recommendations for providing work for the nation's jobless workers, estimated at four million, were completed today for submission to the national conference on unemployment.

The recommendations, drawn up by the conference's steering committee on the basis of reports from the various other committees, were characterized as an emergency program, and said to be based on the principle that unemployment is in the main a problem for solution by the individual communities, the federal and state governments aiding in such ways as possible.

Establishment of representative emergency committees in the communities to co-ordinate the work of finding jobs for the involuntarily idle and for registration of the unemployed was understood to be recommended as the initial step in the relief program.

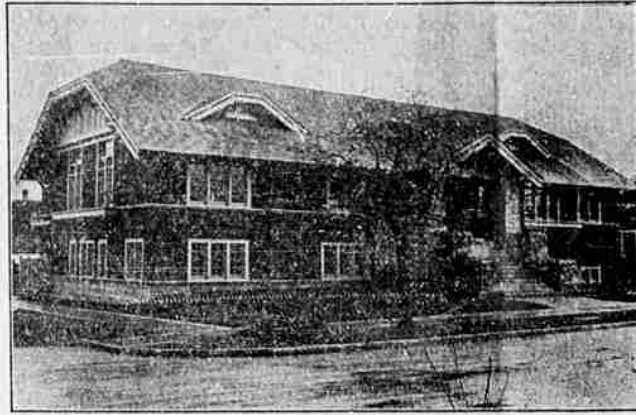

PERJURY CHARGED IN HIGHTOWER MURDER PUZZLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—J. Harry Dunlap, who swore to a complaint recently charging David Bender, a fugitive from the Maryland state prison, with the murder of Father Patrick E. Heslin, Colma Catholic priest, was arrested today on a perjury charge in connection with the complaint. The warrant for Dunlap, who is a private detective, was sworn to in Colma by Thomas J. Curtis, a police detective of San Francisco. The complaint against Dunlap charges that he made misstatements in regard to the caliber of the pistol used to kill Father Heslin and that otherwise his information on which the Bender complaint was based was inaccurate.

Bender was arrested in San Francisco after having fled here from the Maryland prison, where he was incarcerated for the murder of a Baltimore policeman. Bender denied all knowledge of the Heslin murder.

William A. Hightower, Lincoln baker, who is also charged with the murder of Father Heslin, is scheduled to go on trial in Redwood City Monday.

BOXERS IN NEXT SMOKER BUSY

The sport fans were all at the training quarters last night to see the boys work out and were well pleased.

Fighting Johnny Carlson boxed four rounds with Rugged Joe Blackburn. Shadow boxed two rounds and skipped rope for two rounds, and from the way he works, Kid Egan will have to go some if he stays the limit.

Kid Irish looks good in the training quarters and if he works like that in the ring Jess Ingram will have his hands full when these two boys meet.

Billy Huff will leave for Yreka, Calif., and will box Fisk Saturday night and return Monday. The rest of the card looks good, and the fans can be sure to see lots of gloves in action.

All the boys will work out every evening at the Nat at 7:30.

Fighting Johnny Carlson will leave this afternoon for Gold Hill, and will train there for a few days.

Tickets are on sale at Browns for ring side and reserved seats.

The first preliminary stars at 8:30 sharp, at the Nat, Friday night, October 7th.

AMATEUR SAFE CRACKER DIES ROBBING SAFE

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 30.—Following a blast that wrecked the safe in the Randolph Meat Market on East Park street this morning, Joe Cospin, miner, 22, living at 310 West Quartz street, was found in a dying condition in the alley back of the place. He was removed to Columbia hospital, where he died a few hours later. Cospin was badly burned and had either been blown through the back window, or jumped to the alley. Police believe he had a partner who escaped. The men were amateurs and secured no money. Fire started from the blast and the interior of the store was gutted and the Ambrose pool hall overhead damaged.

How I Earned My First Dollar

A series of pen sketches describing how some of Medford's well known citizens climbed the first rung.

Fred L. McNeff

When I was a boy of six the county in which we were living was overrun with ground squirrels, on which there was a bounty of one cent paid for each squirrel, the tail being presented as proof of the deceased. The principal method used for catching them was to drown them out when irrigating, as my two uncles were running water over a large tract of land all that remained for me to do was to provide a short handled shovel and go to work.

All through the heat of the summer, and it gets some hot at Fresno, Cal., I worked, with the help of a dog who would run down those that I would miss with the shovel as they came out of the hole, I managed to kill a large number over a period of several months. At one time I made a rather serious mistake, for I had turned the water into what looked to be a very promising hole and in due course of time out walked a very indignant black striped skunk who seemed to blame me for his recent wetting, and according to his beliefs and inclinations he proceeded to give me a truly good shower of his only means of defense before I had time to get out of the way.

At the end of the irrigating season I cashed in the tails that I had collected and found that I had 121 which was $1.21. I kept the dollar for a long time before finally spending it.

SOMETHING TO FALL BACK ON

A homely phrase, but it just expresses the sense of comfort that comes to a man or woman in time of stress at the thought of some money snugly tucked away in a bank.

No matter how much you have invested in other ways, it never hurts to keep a reserve sum in the First National, drawing interest till you want it.

Friendly "Advice" Proved to Be a Form of Manslaughter

How a friend's suggestion as to a "fine medicine" turned out most tragically is told in one of the recent magazines. The fact that the friend meant to help was no consolation to the husband and the five orphaned children.

The mother had been suffering from headaches. A friend recommended a "relief" which had "cured" her on several occasions. Headaches may be the symptom of any one of a dozen ailments, and in this case the mother's headache was due to a heart affection. The friend's "relief" was just the opposite of what she needed—and she died.

A doctor would have found first what caused the headache—and then treated the cause with the personal requirements of his patient in mind.

Isn't it logical that we don't like to "prescribe" something for an ailment? Our work is to see that the doctor's orders are followed.

"No, it's just the old rug home-cleaned with Citrus"

Here's the way to brighten rugs and carpets with Citrus

Dissolve a cupful of Citrus Washing Powder in a half-gallon of boiling water. Use a very coarse cloth—an old Turkish bath towel is excellent—wring out well. Go over a small surface of the rug or carpet at a time, rinsing the cloth frequently. In this manner the nap will be cleaned, raised, and restored in color without soaking the body of the rug at all, and it will dry on the floor quickly.

For Rag Rugs—use the tub and stamper, soaking the rug a half-hour in fairly strong hot Citrus suds. Rinse thoroughly and hang out to dry.

UPHOLSTERY ALSO RESPONDS

so beautifully to the same harmless treatment that re-upholstering may be long postponed. The work is "positively fascinating" as one woman puts it.

For this dissolve a half-cupful of Citrus in a half-gallon of boiling water. When cool enough to bear the hands in, wring out of it a large soft sponge and sponge lightly the tapestry or velour. Place in the shade where the wind blows briskly. The transformation will amaze and delight you.
