Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry

The fall conspiracies have started to blossom, and, nationally and locally, one-horse dreams have, and are being punctured ruthlessly and sportsmanlike.

Both managers of the New York teams were cool and confident this am, on the eve of the baseball series, and so was Kort Hall, who handles an apple crop with one hand and a great sport event with the other.

The number of unemployed is reported to be increasing in the east. The gadders are getting home from their summer tours.

Once more the community has been reminded that it's one thing to have plenty of water, and another thing to have no fast method of getting it on a fire. Arrangements should be made to have a cloudburst with every conflagration.

Smoke was leaping from the mines in the Nash District this am. Somebody gave Mica Womack a cigar.

Mr. Roscoe C. Arbuckle has been indicted for everything except being indecently fat.

WEDDINGS WILL OUT (Estacada News)

It seems to be quite a fad, if one may call it by that name, for some of the Estacada young people to enter into secret marriages.

"STRANGER TREATED BY DOCTOR" (Hillside Bend Times) Keep the home whistles wet, first.

Sam Richardson's feline is sick. While in a wk. meat-house, it narrowly escaped being sausage.

The Foreign Missions Society is going to work on the immigrants when they land in this country, in spite of the fact that the place to knock the sin out of 'em is on their home soil.

Old Dock Hramfield went on trial today on three (3) charges, to-wit: first, for killing Dennis Russell; second, for punching a Roseburg reporter in the nose; third, for illegally growing whiskeys.

President Harding can find no time to go to a ball game, but the last one had time to take a seven month gallivant over Europe in an effort to be "premier of the world."

It is a wonder that some of the gents who recite how they got their wrist simoleon, would not relate how the wrist lock and strange hold was broke on the same.

The overgrown moguls of the esteemed Espee are emitting stayed whistles these days, thanks to the efforts of this col. ably assisted by a republican administration. This col. does not stand for any nonsense from corporations, and they know it.

TOMORROW.

TODAY has little sorrow, it is a good safe bet; but we believe tomorrow will show up better yet. And all through life we're groping, with slow and heavy tread, still hoping, always hoping, for better things ahead.

Quill Points

The Bahamas afford near-beer. Russia's last line of resistance is a bread line. Tariff tinkers usually have a high conception of duty. General Depravity hasn't joined the army of unemployed.

At times there isn't a great deal of difference between repentance and satiety.

Speaking of tax-free securities, there wouldn't be any security if we were tax free.

"Prohibition agent shot." That's going a little too far. It's had enough when they are half shot.

An unconstitutional law: Almost any law that somebody has had the price to carry to the supreme court.

Biography of a successful man: "He made a fortune." Epitaph of a successful man: "He left a fortune."

The pleasure of owning a car that will climb the hills isn't so acute after you begin to observe the climbing hills.

Mars knows what's going on. She wouldn't be trying to send us a V if she didn't know we are hard up.

You can't establish good times by showing Capital it's duty; what Capital wishes to see is a profit.

The doughboys who are out of jobs didn't stop suffering for their country when they laid aside their uniforms.

Rebels against the established order are usually willing to eat humble pie when they run out of anything else to eat.

If a man had but one wish, he'd have a hard time choosing between ownership of an apartment house and license to steal.

Is the man who buys tax-free securities to avoid paying for the war any more honorable than the man who grabbed a desk job to avoid fighting?

There is only one excuse for war, and that is peace.

Loafing kills men quicker than working. Keep busy if you would live long.

Where there is a surplus of noise there is sure to be a shortage of sense.

Time settles all disputes, even if it has to kill off the disputants.

Love ceases to be love when it slops over in public places.

Most reforms are all right, but the Lord delivers us from most reformers.
