WALK RUTH TO WIN

Kierst, 29, a fireman from Auburn, N. Y. He said he had not missed a world's series yet, and directly behind him was Charlie Carpenter, a 15 year old high school lad from Jamaica.

It was a cold night for the waiting fans. A cold wind accompanied by frequent showers brought out overcoats, blankets, and even old newspapers, to keep the enthusiasts warm.

The fans afoot were not the only ones among the early arrivals, a number of automobiles reaching the surrounding streets soon after midnight. Drawn curtains indicated the occupants were asleep, awaiting daybreak, and a chance to buy a ticket.

Boys did a thriving business selling wooden boxes to those in line, so they could rest their weary bodies. But they had short use of them, as the police flashed the line occupants to destroy them soon after they were purchased. Even this did not peeve the fans, they complied willingly.

The Giant hurlers probably will find the batting combination of Miller, Peckinpaugh, Ruth, Meusel, Pipp and Ward, one of the toughest they ever have been called upon to solve. Peckinpaugh is always a dangerous hitter and Miller who proceeds him is no mean batsman.

Then comes the mighty Ruth. To pass him will mean facing the fearful Bob Meusel, and to pitch to him means that at any time the ball might go sailing over the stands for a homer.

George Kelly, the elongated Giant first baseman, holder of the 1921 home record in his league and Young, Burns and Bancroft, with Snyder, the regular backstop, form a batting bunch that will give the Yankees their greatest trouble. The entire McGraw aggregation is noted for its daring on the bases.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The lineup for today's opening game of the 1921 world's series is as follows:

New York Nationals: Burns, cf; Bancroft, ss; Frisch 3b; Young, rf; Kelley, lb; E. Meusel, lf; Rawlings, 2b; Snyder, c; Douglas, p.

Umpires: Charles Rigler and Ernest Quigley for the Nationals and George Moriarty and Ollie Chill for the American league.

The umpires today will be distributed in this order: At the plate, Rigler, first base, Moriarty, second Quigley, third base Chill. In the second game, Moriarty will go behind the plate with Rigler at third and each of the others advancing. That reduction will be continued throughout the series.

Women Continually Overdo..

This applies to all women, regardless of caste or color. The ambitious girl striving for school honors, the overworked housewife, the shop girl, girls in offices and stores, and the society woman, all climb too high, overtax their strength, and what follows? Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for woman's ills.
