

Local and Personal

There is no danger of a shortage of refrigerator cars in which to ship pears and apples from Medford and the valley, is the welcome announcement to orchardists given out by Mark Montgomery, the Southern Pacific agent. There were not enough cars for Friday's and Saturday's shipments due to the fact that Mr. Montgomery had underestimated the number of cars that would be ready for those days. Five cars arrived here Sunday morning, 19 more arrived last night, and 26 more are coming daily for the valley, fifteen of which are for Medford shipments alone.

Here is the Ashland-Grants Pass high school football game of last Friday from partisan viewpoints: The Grants Pass Courier says: "Too much beef proved disastrous to the Grants Pass football eleven yesterday afternoon when they were defeated by the husky Ashland aggregation by a 61-0 score. The visitors pounded through the light local line almost at will, the players showing splendid training. The local boys fought gamely throughout the game but were too much outclassed to stand any show." The Ashland Tidings says: "Smothered in glory and cheered by a large delegation of Ashland rooters, the gridiron warriors of the local high school romped over the Grants Pass field yesterday afternoon for a victorious score of 61 to 0. Moving with rapid, machine-like precision, the boys in crimson and white fought their way to the Grants Pass goal with a persistence that piled up score after score in quick succession."

TRIGONIA DRILLING HALTS FOR CASING

Drilling at the Trigonía well is deferred for a short time in order to secure necessary 6 1/2 inch casing for closing out the water, as the 8 inch casing cannot be satisfactorily used. Quotations on casing have been wired for to four leading concerns, and replies will determine where order can be placed to best advantage. In the mean time, the labor is laid off except Mr. Watt, head driller, who will do some necessary repair work while the casing is coming, which may take 10 or 15 days to go through. Mr. Watt is living at the well and will be watchman.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Jeff Wilson and wife of Klamath Falls were here Saturday night and Sunday morning started on their homeward journey.

There were services in the Catholic church Sunday morning and there was a good attendance. Among those from the country were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lejer, son and daughter, of Lake Creek, and later they came to the Sunnyside for dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bergsman also came out and Mr. Bergsman attended the services in the Catholic church and his wife attended our Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Kath, recently of Colorado, but now of Medford were here for dinner Sunday and a stranger whose name I failed to secure, also James Watkins, Central Point, and L. A. Nester of Medford. Mr. Watkins brought his daughter out with him but she took dinner with her aunt, Mrs. Nancy Watkins and cousin Miss Anna Watkins.

John Foster was also a visitor at the Sunnyside Sunday afternoon and so was Mrs. James Davis, nee Lula Emery, formerly in her girlhood days a resident of our town, her foster parents having lived on the site of the present Sunnyside hotel. Mrs. Davis is now a resident of Gold Hill. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker. They also were formerly residents of our town but now are living in Gold Hill. Mr. Cook and family, also of Gold Hill, were here Sunday.

Mr. A. Bishop of Portland, a contractor who has a sub-contract to put the crushed rock on the Crater Lake highway, came in Sunday evening and remained for a few days, and so did Harry Taylor of Ashland.

Wm. Van der Hellen the contractor who has the job of putting the crushed rock on the Crater Lake highway and has had his crusher located on Nick Young's field, has finished putting the rock on as far as Reese creek and has been moving the crusher up the river onto Grant Mathews' place. From all appearances they will succeed in getting through with the job before the wet weather sets in. During the time they were moving the crusher and the necessary machinery over there most of the men, some ten or fifteen, took their meals at the Sunnyside but now they are about all gone and business is settling down to a normal state again.

Wm. F. Smith and wife of Ashland, were here Sunday and Monday visiting Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Gus Nichols and family.

There was quite a rush here Monday of people going to Jacksonville to pay their rent—that is the way that C. E. Bellows expressed the idea, that is to pay the last half of their taxes. And speaking about taxes, the question naturally comes up, when will the continual drain cease? For now we are taxed on everything we eat, drink and wear, and if we are sick we are taxed on every box of pills or bottle of medicine we use, and if we should happen to die and leave a little property that is taxed to pay our funeral expenses, and still whenever our legislature meets it seems to be the first thing that after the members have tried to raise their own salaries, to see how much they can increase our tax burdens. But what is the use in complaining there is a certain class of people who have to live and know of no other way to make it easy except to draw it from the taxpayer.

James Merritt of Reese creek, was a business caller Monday.

David Ball and family of Crescent City, have been here visiting Mrs. Ball's sister, Mrs. Frank Lewis and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ball are of the old pioneer stock of Jackson county as David was born and partially raised on the old Ball farm near Phoenix and his wife was of the old Heckathorn stock and her mother is now living on Elk creek, one of the early pioneers of this country.

Mrs. McDonald of the Elk Resort was a passenger on the Eagle Point stage on her way home last Monday, taking passage on the Peristat stage for home.

Mrs. Frank True, Mrs. A. G. Smith and John Foster of Medford, were business callers at the Sunnyside.

Will S. Cooper, an attorney of C. H. Natwick, one of our leading road contractors and grandfather of the prize twins of southern Oregon, was among the callers.

the dinner here Monday and there were eight other transients took dinner at the same time.

G. H. Mitchell of Medford passed through here with a load for Joe Hopkins near Crater Monday.

Frank Brown and wife, one of our leading merchants who has been on an extended trip up through British Columbia and through some of the middle states, Illinois in particular, where he visited his brother, Merritt returned the first of the week.

Earl and Sam Courtney, two brothers took the contract to re-roof and repair the damage caused by the fire in the back room of T. E. Nichols' store and have finished the job and at this time are engaged making apple boxes for Mr. Edgell on the Edgell orchard.

Frank Haselton, the foreman on the Antelope orchard was a business caller Tuesday.

From the amount of hay and coal that is being hauled up the country by the big trucks for the Rogue River Canal company they must be expecting to work all winter and spring. Speaking of hauling loads of coal, since they have been hauling such heavy loads, five and a half tons at a load on a truck weighing five or six tons, there are complaints coming in that they are racking the county bridge here in town and in places the two floors are worn through so that it is hardly safe to run over it with an ordinary auto and if they do there are so many nails or spikes left in the planks that there is danger of tearing the auto tires all to pieces.

Mrs. Joe Moomaw who went to Medford a short time ago to be operated on for appendicitis has recovered and returned home again.

Our neighbor, Mrs. N. Watkins, has had her kitchen re-roofed. Her son-in-law George Phillips did the work.

Mrs. Henry Wendt of eastern Oregon came out on the stage and went up to visit her sister, Mrs. Newstrom of Lake Creek.

Fred Pettyscrew who is engaged running the caterpillar that draws the grader on the Crater Lake highway was here for dinner Wednesday and so was Wm. Von der Hellen, Lucius Kincaid of Prospect, J. W. Cutler, the Lake Creek merchant, and the lessee of the Eagle Point opera house was here for dinner.

Thursday evening when I returned from Medford I heard that the house belonging to Mr. Graman and owned by Alvin Conover on Reese creek, burned down but have not heard what the damage was or whether it was insured.

Thomas Vestal was also a business caller of Reese creek.
