LOCAL RED CROSS GIVING AID TO FIRE VICTIMS

One of the principle activities of the Red Cross after care of soldiers and their families in disaster relief, either fire, flood or sickness, major disasters being relieved by the National Red Cross and minor disasters by the local chapters.

The Jackson County Chapter was called upon yesterday to care for a family in Central Point.

Fire had taken everything they had in the world except what clothing they had on at the time, furniture, bedding, clothing and food, leaving them completely stripped.

The local chapter supplied the immediate relief, but much remains to be done.

We will be glad to receive donations of canned fruit and vegetables, dishes, kitchen utensils and any furniture, all of which we will turn over to the family.

They are young people with two children and the man has work, so with a little help now they will soon be on their feet again.

COUNCIL ASKS R. R. RATES FOR LEGION

The city council of Medford has just adopted a resolution requesting the railroads of the northwest to grant the same rates for the coming American Legion national convention at Kansas City, Mo., as have been granted by the eastern railroads.

The resolution recites that the northwestern railroads have refused to grant reduced rates for the convention, and that whereas it is the understanding that an effort will be made to bring the next legion convention to the Pacific coast, unless favorable rates are granted for the Kansas City convention the Northwest will not be very well represented at this convention, and consequently will be hampered in their plans and efforts to bring next year's convention to the coast.

KILGORE DENIES CATTLE TREPASS ON GOVT. LAND

The civil action of the government against Ivan E. Kilgore, prominent Klamath county stockman will go to the jury this afternoon, the case taking longer than expected. Kilgore is being sued for $108 actual damages, and $125 punitive damages, for alleged trespass on the grazing districts of Fremont National Forest reserve.

Kilgore took the stand in his own behalf, and testified that as soon as he received notice that his stock were in the reserve he ordered riders to go to the district and drive off all stock belonging to him. He said that at the time of the complaint he owned in the neighborhood of 1000 head of cattle, and that in July he drove them to the home pastures for branding and sale. Every move of the cows for six months prior, and six months after the alleged trespass was discussed in detail.

The state evidence indicated that the Kilgore stock had been placed so it would stray onto the Fremont reserve, from the Modoc reserve, where Kilgore had a permit to graze 250 head stock, upholding the contention that the suit has within it the embers of a range quarrel between Kilgore and the small stockmen. Kilgore has cattle on a thousand hills, and is one of the largest stockraisers in the state. His ranch in Klamath county embraces in the neighborhood of 2500 acres, the evidence showed.

Clifford M. Vermilyon, a range rider for Kilgore, called as a witness testified that he had been directed by Kilgore to remove all stock from the Fremont reserve as soon as the trespass notice was received, and that he did this all summer.

COOPERATION TO BE FORUM TOPIC

J. J. Webb, a prominent attorney of San Francisco who is at present in attendance at the session of the federal court, will address the members forum of the Medford Chamber of Commerce at the Medford Hotel tomorrow noon.

He has chosen as his subject "Cooperation" and coming from California has the California view point of what cooperation on the part of the entire Pacific coast means.

Members of the chamber will find this to be an interesting forum and are urged to attend.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Considerable interest is being manifested, not only in the schools, but all over the city regarding "Fire Prevention Week" and when the week is over the city will be free of tons of rubbish. If you haven't added your bit do so today.

Questionnaires were sent to the home from the city schools by the pupils to make a practical fire prevention survey and it is hoped all parents who have not already done so are requested to fill them out and return by the children at once.

The Chicago fire which started 50 years ago October 8, in O'Leary's barn, burned for 25 hours, took the lives of 200 persons, made 92,000 homeless and wiped out 18,000 homes and places of business in an area of 2150 acres.

Railroad terminals valued at $2,000,000, hotels appraised at $3,000,000 and churches valued at $2,900,000 were reduced to ruins in the disaster that in all destroyed $192,000,000 worth of property.

The buildings were wooden structures for the most part, with tarpaper roofs. On Sunday, the day before the big disaster, firemen had become exhausted in fighting a $700,000 blaze that gutted four blocks north of the business section.

Mrs. O'Leary's son, James O'Leary, well-known sportsman, still lives in Chicago.
