KU KLUX KLAN WIZARD DENIES LAWLESS CH'GE

Wm. J. Simmons Points to Leading Men in Membership—Negroes Testify Against Secret Order—Texas to Probe Ku Klux Riot.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Defending the Ku Klux Klan, William J. Simmons, its imperial wizard, told the house rules committee today that if it had been a lawless band it could not have obtained such large membership, comprising "the leading men of many communities."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Before calling William J. Simmons of Atlanta imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, to the witness stand, the house rules committee heard representatives of negro organizations today in support of resolutions providing for a congressional investigation of the order.

William Monroe Trotter of Boston, speaking for the National Equal Rights league, the first witness, declared the Klan was "a private unofficial organization, which interfered with personal liberties of peoples, most of whom are outside its membership."

Such interference, he charged, was an attempt to prevent the proper exercise of government.

"The method of coercion," Trotter said, "is shown by the sending of threatening letters to persons to cease doing certain things, and by use of the hooded gown. He characterized the Klan as "a real menace to the sense of personal security of millions of citizens."

The Rev. S. E. J. Watson, a negro preacher of Chicago, told the committee the Ku Klux Klan was proving a hindrance to the progress of the negro by breaking down his morale through fear and terror.

"The claim by the Klan that the negro is seeking social equality is unwarranted," he asserted.

Before long I believe we are going to look back on the past twelve months with wonder," said Secretary Davis. "While we have had a record depression in that time, we are really accomplishing a marvelous work. Getting American business back from a war boom to a sound basis, was one of the most complicated and dangerous situations our leading men in business and industry have ever had to face. SISTER DENNIS RUSSELL IS THE STAR WITNESS

Mrs. Julia Smith Presses Scrap of Brother's Scalp to Check Crying "It Is His, It Is His"—Mrs. Brumfield Takes Copious Notes.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 12.—Two brothers and a sister of Dennis Russell today at the trial of Dr. R. M. Brumfield identified a scrap of hair and scalp taken from beneath the burning automobile found July 13 last, as that of Russell.

Mrs. Julia Smith of Dillard, Russell's sister, pressed the scrap to her cheek and repeated again and again: "It is his; it is his."

She identified a watch and a diary as those of her brother.

Ed and Tom Russell, brothers, both said they were certain the hair was that of their brother.

J. E. Rose of Winston, who said he had known Russell for 35 years; Isidor Selig, Myrtle Creek shoe merchant, who said he sold to Russell in March shoes similar to those partially recovered from the body, and C. W. Parrott, of Roseburg, who told of finding a piece of shoe and the dynamite percussion caps, testified for the state.

A. J. Willard, a barber who cut Russell's hair for six years, said that the "exhibit" was Russell's hair.

Mrs. Brumfield, wife of the accused, who sat near her husband, took copious notes of the testimony with a pencil.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 12.—Dr. R. M. Brumfield appeared this morning refreshed after a good night's sleep to face a procession of witnesses called by the state to connect him with the death of Dennis Russell, whose burned and mutilated body was found in the wreckage of the dentist's automobile July 13.

"Tiny Bill" Kepper, his personal guard, reported that the prisoner's only comment on the trial yesterday was "gee, we've got a remarkable audience today." Dr. Brumfield has shown no sign of distress except to ask for a guard on each side of him as he goes from the jail to the court room.

Witnesses were called today to supply further links in the thread of circumstantial evidence which the state charges fixes the blame for the death of Russell.

U. S. STARTS WORK UPON PEACE PLAN

Delegates Selected By Harding Begin Deliberations—President Explains Position—Complete Disarmament Held Impossible—Halt in Future War Preparation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—American delegates to the disarmament conference at their initial meeting today were understood to have discussed the feasibility of admitting the press to all full sessions of the conference and to have assumed a favorable attitude toward the proposition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Formulation of policies to be pursued by the American delegation at the conference on limitation of armament and Far Eastern and Pacific questions was begun today when the four delegates selected by President Harding to represent the United States held their first meeting at the state department.

Month of Preparation WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A month of careful preparation for the American government's part in the armament conference began today, with the first meeting here of the four delegates selected by President Harding to speak for the United States.

Diplomatic, military and naval data of a specific nature already had been compiled for the guidance of the delegations but the real task of fitting the whole mass of information together and building upon it a constructive program remained to be done by the delegates themselves.

Some hint of President Harding's hopes for the armament conference were given as the delegates were assembled by publication of a letter the president had written in reply to a prayer that he work for "universal disarmament." "Absolute disarmament," Mr. Harding wrote, "was beyond hope of realization," and perhaps not very desirable, but "a reasonable limitation" of armament was a practical proposition with some hope of accomplishment.

Similar sentiments have been expressed generally by military and naval authorities. It is understood that the first consideration of those familiar with the international situation has been rather a "reasonable limitation" of future armament construction than a scaling down of present strength. The latter, it is pointed out, could well be considered after a building program for the future had been agreed upon.

Delegates at Work Secretary Hughes and Senator Lodge both have had repeated conferences with Mr. Harding concerning the conference and the other two delegates, Elihu Root and Senator Underwood, called at the White House and were acquainted with the president's views before accepting places on the delegation.

The letter in which President Harding outlined his hope for "reasonable limitation," was made public at the White House as expressing the executive's attitude toward the views of all those who have written him to work for complete disarmament. The letter was addressed to Miss Ella L. Freed, Brooklyn, N. Y., and was as follows: "My dear Miss Freed: "Your letters among others that come to me suggest a widespread misapprehension as to the aims of the

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE MRS. TYLER, HEAD OF WOMAN'S KU KLUX, FAILS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 12.—Several 32 caliber steel-jacketed bullets and the trail of footprints that ended at the road were all county police had to start on today in their inquiry into what they characterized as an evident attempt last night to assassinate Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, head of the woman's department of the Ku Klux Klan.

Five shots were fired into the bedroom window of Mrs. Tyler's home here, she reported to police headquarters, and while the window glass was smashed the bullets whizzed over her head as she leaned over the bed of her daughter, Miss Doris Tyler who was ill. The bullets were found embedded in the walls of the room. A mysterious telephone call was received by the Atlanta Constitution within an hour after the shooting and a man's voice said: "I just want to say that we got Mrs. Tyler tonight and we will get Colonel Simmons tomorrow."
