NEW VAULT FOR CO. RECORDS TO BE READY SOON

The work of pouring the cement for the new county vault for the court-house in Jacksonville is proceeding rapidly and the building will be ready for occupancy in four or five weeks. Its cost when completed will be in the neighborhood of $2000. Arrangements have been made by the county court for securing the brick from the old Jacksonville brick kiln which is being torn down.

The entire basement of the new vault will be used for the storage of old county records, heretofore stored in a haphazard manner in the wood shed and the loft thereof. Some of these records date back to 1853, when the documents were written by hand. Practically all of the tax rolls, except those of the current year, occupy a niche in the woodshed. Windows will be placed in the basement, so work can be carried on, also electric lights.

When the vault is completed the recorder's office will be moved to the room now occupied by the county treasurer, and the treasurer's office will be moved to the front, using the vault now in this space.

As soon as the tax rolls for this year are turned over to the sheriff's office, the assessor's office will be moved across the street to the Ryan building, purchased last spring by the county, and fitted up. A part of the assessor's office will be used by the sheriff's office, and another part used in the enlargement of the county judge's office, leaving a small space for the assessor's office, but the main part of their work will be conducted across the street in the annex, which is fire-proof, has a vault and barred windows.

County officials believe that these changes will furnish relief to the congestion in county offices, besides affording long needed and often recommended protection to county records.

COUNTY EXPENSE BOOTLEG RAIDS TOTALS $1684

The series of raids last August against bootleggers and illicit stills cost Jackson county $1684.94, and a warrant for the same has been issued by the county treasurer, and approved by the county court. The raids were conducted by B. S. ("Go Get 'Em") Sandifer, special prohibition enforcement officer, and six assistants. This does not include the witness fees, to be paid, in case the next session of the grand jury returns true bills against the men bound over in the justice court.

The principal item in the enforcement bill is $756 for the salary of six men at $6 per day from August 9 to 21. For auto hire and railroad fare, a bill of $276.49 was submitted and paid. This embraces the expenses of an auto trip to Crater Lake and Prospect, taken by one of the special agents, chauffeur and lady companions.

The hotel bill of the special agents, (board and room), amounted to the sum of $312.05. Evidence and miscellaneous expenses cost $395.99, the evidence being the whiskey, a large portion of which was swigged to determine if it was.

The smallest item on the bill was $4.50 for a telephone message to Salem.

The raids resulted in the arrest of two Applegate and one Evans Creek rancher on a charge of having stills in their possession for which they are now serving sentences in the county jail.

James (Shine) Edwards and John Goodwin, taxi drivers were arrested on charges of selling liquor, and bound over to the grand jury. Ernest S. (Dud) Wolkamott, was arrested in Portland on the same charge. John (Shine) Edwards, for whom a warrant has been issued has not been seen since. Several other warrants were issued, and never served owing to the flight of the suspected citizens. Wig Jacks, bound over as a result of the same series of raids was the victim of a fatal shooting affray.

FIRE LOSS DOUBLES, 15,000 DIE IN FIRES

Fire loss in the United States increased 100 per cent in 1920 over 1917 and 1918. The loss by fire in this country in 1920 came to more than $500,000,000, or $1,370,000 daily.

The loss of lives by fire came to nearly 15,000 during the year, or 40 a day.

1920 Losses Heavy
The fire loss during 1920 was greater than any year in the nation's history with the exception of 1906, when the San Francisco fire occurred.

Incendiarism and unconscious incendiarism, which is carelessness, causes most of this loss. In times when business is bad and companies are facing losses those at the head of industries become lax in their attention to details to prevent fire. This feeling is transferred to employees.

Carelessness and ignorance cause most of the fires. We still have many who believe that if goods and other property are covered by insurance it is not necessary to worry so much concerning fires.

Insurance Burden Shown
Such reasoning is a fallacy. Insurance taxes all of us. It is appalling when one stops to think that for every man, woman and child in the United States there is a fire loss in a year of $5 each. In Europe the fire loss amounted to 25 to 50 cents per capita in 1920.

The average American citizen will listen to fire-prevention talk and be come appalled at the losses. But he soon forgets about the talk. Until the American people realize that a fire not only is a tax upon insurance companies, but on every taxpayer and that 90 per cent of all fires are preventable, we will continue to have our present terrible losses.

B. F. LINDASS ADDRESSES THE CRATERS CLUB

In a brief address before the Craters club last evening B. F. Lindass declared that every community which prospered had its boosters and that no community could advance without men who visioned greater things. Such men he added, were living advertisements of their home.

Two projects deemed of vital importance to Medford and vicinity were discussed at the meeting and the Craters decided to devote their energies to their successful completion.

Rounding out of the organization membership from the waiting list now on hand was decided upon and the body also voted to enter a float in the Armistice day celebration parade.

HISTORY OF THE RED MAN SERIES

THE WINNING OF RED BIRD.

BY "INDIAN" MILLER

Thunder Bird was a great runner of his tribe. He thought no one could beat him in a race. With the idea of beating all the best runners of other tribes, he set out in his best regalia. He went among many tribes; and he beat all others wherever he went until he reached the tribe of the butterfly women. There he learned that the best runner of the tribe was a beautiful girl named Red Bird.

Thunder Bird fell in love with Red Bird and challenged her to run a race with him. Red Bird had announced she would marry whoever could beat her in a foot-race. When she heard the challenge, she said, "Thunder Bird, you will first have to show me that you can run. To prove that you can run fast enough to exercise me, you will first have to run a race with the swiftest runner among our men with heavy stones tied around your ankles."

So Thunder Bird tied stones around his ankles; and with that handicap he beat them all. But he was greatly exhausted from carrying the weights on his ankles. Red Bird did not love him; so no sooner had the stones been removed from his ankles than she urged him to run. She thought that she could certainly beat him while he was tired.

Thunder Bird said, "Red Bird, you can even fly and I will catch you." For a while Red Bird led the race; but Thunder Bird was beside her before the race was half over. Then Red Bird tripped him. But she could not fool him that way twice; and the next time he leaped high over her foot and won the race.

So much did Red Bird admire his wonderful endurance that she really loved him then.
