

REBEKAHS ELECT NEW OFFICERS AT DIST. CONVENTION

The Rebekah Lodges I. O. O. F. of District No. 12 held their convention at Glendale, Ore., Oct. 29, 1921. When session opened Thursday morning at 10:30, we received a message of the serious illness of the father of our chairman, Sister Peruzzi, of Hope Lodge No. 14, Ashland, which prevented her attending the convention. Sister Pearl of Medford, our vice-chairman, filled the chair.

After a short business session, convention adjourned for lunch at 12:30 and convened at 1:30 for the afternoon session. Ten Rebekah lodges answered roll call, and three visitors. Election and appointment of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Chairman of the convention, Sister Pearl of Medford, Oline Lodge No. 28; vice-chairman Sister Cornell of Glendale Mountain Lodge No. 149; Secretary, Emily Whing of Ashland Hope Lodge No. 14; marshal, Sister Pick of Jacksonville Ruth Lodge No. 4; conductor, Sister Bertha E. Adams, Gold Hill Tenthredin Lodge No. 71; chairman, Sister Burkhardt of Rogue River Line Oak Lodge No. 198; guards, Sister Holdridge of Talent and Sister Norcross of Central Point. Session adjourned at 4:30.

At 6:30 a banquet was spread for the officers and members of the convention. The tables were beautifully and artistically decorated with emblems and flowers in pink, green and white.

- State vs. Johnson. Larceny by embezzlement.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. O. Kowalski

F. G. Maxfield of Douglas county, Ore., was a passenger on the Eagle Point-Lake Creek stage last Monday morning on his way home. He had been visiting his son, J. F. Maxfield near Brownsboro for some weeks.

Among the business callers last Monday were Rube Johnson, one of our retired capitalists, Alex Mathews, E. V. Britton, C. E. Bellows and wife and M. E. Schmitt, three of our daylets, who came in to bring their cream and eggs.

W. H. Crandall also was a business caller. He came in with a lot of fine looking apples that he shipped via parcel post to parties in Fort Klamath.

Mrs. Ira Tongate and two children of Butte Falls came out on her way to Medford and she was met here by her sister Mrs. Ed Cowdon, and Fred Arnes, a brother of J. D. Arnes, superintendent of the Corbin Edgell orchard was also a business caller Monday.

Monday night, Mr. G. E. Merrill of Derby and Earl Zimmerman of Butte Falls were guests at the Sunnyside.

Last Saturday afternoon I met J. W. Recrian, superintendent of the fish hatchery business in this district and he invited me to go up and inspect the dam he has out in on the L. K. Hank place just above town, in Little Butte creek for the purpose of taking fish for their eggs to be taken to the Butte Falls hatchery.

When we arrived we found that he had selected a place on a ledge of rock that extends across the creek and in order to get a solid foundation he built a coffer dam so as to cut a deep cut and force all the water through it, and then built a solid, reinforced concrete dam at the head of the cut with an opening about 3x4 feet square with an almost water tight door to be raised or lowered at will. The next move was to put in another coffer dam so as to force the water from the main stream through the cut so as to draw the water away from where he wanted to build the main dam, and then he drilled holes in the solid rock and bolted timbers 12x12 in. on top of each other, thus making a solid wall and the timbers are so dovetailed together so as to be absolutely solid. He then placed other timbers fifteen feet above the main dam in the same manner and filled in the space with rock and covered the intervening space with heavy plank making an incline, he then covered the whole dam with fir poles five or six inches in diameter, with the ends projecting over the dam so as to prevent the fish jumping over. He has the dam so arranged that it will be impossible for a fish to pass up the creek only as he wishes. When there comes a run of the kind he does not want he can open the flood gate and let them all pass up. He plans to put the fish trap in the cut referred to in the first part of this article, and when he wishes to catch them he can shut the gate and stop the water from coming into the trap so that one can go in and take them without being bothered with water at all. But before finishing this article I must refer to the workman of Mr. W. C. Daley, who did the carpenter work where the timbers were joined together, the joints are so complete that they are air tight and everything fits just as though he had been making a piece of fine furniture, but that is the way he does his work.

Tuesday morning when the Eagle Point-Butte Falls stage came in it was loaded to capacity. It was a Ford and then there came a special load in later, and the result was that the driver had exchanged and put on another car, a Hudson Six, and then he put his passengers first and then packed the mail, parcel post and baggage around them, lashing baggage, freight, etc., on the running boards and over the hood. Some of the passengers had quite a lot of freight in the shape of boxes and bedding, as well as winter supplies they were taking into the hills for winter use.

Among the passengers were Mrs. S. S. Welch, Prospect, Mrs. F. L. Wynne, Dery, Mrs. Benj. Fredenburg and daughter Miss Ernestine Fredenburg, Mrs. Ira Tongate and two children Mrs. Gleason and son of Butte Falls and Mr. Merrill of Derby.

Jack Hickman, the foreman on the Kingswood orchard, was a business caller and reports that they have all of their fruit gathered and under shelter, that they had harvested three thousand and three hundred and fifty boxes of apples off of six acres of orchard and that the fruit was exceptionally fine in size and quality.

Mr. F. C. Bell, owner of the Rube Creek orchard, was a business caller and reports that he has his fruit under cover, but that it is not as free from worms as it might be.

E. A. Hildreth, Jr., of Butte Falls was here and spent Tuesday night at the Sunnyside.

George W. Barker and family, the prosperous banker of Butte Falls, was a business caller, Tuesday morning. Charley Cingende and J. F. Johnson two prominent stockmen were also here Tuesday and Mr. Williams and family of Medford were here for dinner Tuesday and so was Benj. Edmondson, Jr., of Butte Falls, one of the farmers and stockmen of that section, he remained here overnight.

Mrs. Seaman, wife of a member of the civil engineer force working on the Crater Lake highway, has been up at Talent visiting relatives and Mr. Seaman has been taking his dinner at the Sunnyside hotel during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Polk Smith of this place, a fine eight-pound boy, October 13th.

Lewis Copely, Mrs. John Oberchain and Al Hildreth were passengers on the stage for Butte Falls Wednesday.

Thomas Farlow and wife of Lake Creek passed through here Wednesday, on their way home from Medford, they had been out to take one of their girls to attend the Medford high school.

C. H. Brown, Thos. J. Fish, Jr., L. Kingbird of Prospect, W. Blake of Medford, William Newsbaum and wife of Lake Creek, Mrs. Laura McNicoll and Mrs. Faylow, were dined at the Sunnyside hotel Wednesday.

Died Thursday morning, October 20, after a lingering illness, John Barney McNicoll of Eagle Point. Aged 66 years and 2 months. He leaves his wife, two sons, Oscar and Hugh McNicoll and one daughter, Mrs. Gray of Stockton, California. The remains were interred Friday in the Central Point cemetery.

The deceased was a good citizen and highly respected by all who knew him and as long as his strength lasted was an energetic, industrious hard working man. There was quite a number of our citizens followed the remains to their last resting place.

Mrs. Alice Barry of Portland, a niece of Mrs. W. G. Kightler of this place, has been here the past few days visiting her aunt and uncle.

Thomas Brown of Butte Falls, who has been working over at the Weed saw mill, was a passenger on the stage for home Friday.

BUTTE FALLS

The budget has been prepared and notices posted for the meeting to vote a tax to finance the sum for the ensuing year, November 7th. The amount to be raised by tax is $15,299.42.

After the rain the past few days, sunshine prevails, and the fall weather is sure being most every one out in the open. Of course, we all realize that a long winter is ahead and being isolated as we are, with neither wagon or railroad, now is our last chance before the rains set in for good, but next year look out, we are liable to be with you.

The hunting season closes tomorrow. There are very few hunters in the woods from the valley, as cars have been going out quite frequently the past two days. Very little game has been bagged this season up here, on account of the dry weather, perhaps. Several bear have been killed and are more plentiful than deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Gleason came in Tuesday from a government station, where they spent the summer. They expect to remain for a few weeks.

Ray Spencer has been visiting home folks for a few days, returning to Weed, Cal., Tuesday.

Grandpa Edrinhann is improving slowly at this writing. His daughter, Mrs. Ora Gordon, spent last week with them but has returned to her home at Fort Klamath.

Lester Elias and family are visiting with Mrs. Tongate from Phoenix.

Harry Herreford, Jack Tongate and the two Trephren boys, went out to Brownsboro orchards for several wagon loads of apples this week.

Our school is closed for the week, as the teachers are all out to Ashland to the institute.

Quite a little excitement in town this week, as there is a bunch of surveyors here trying to decide where the railroad bridge across Butte Creek will be built, it seems at present it is to go somewhere near the hatchery.

A car load of Weed employees were out to spend Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. J. Patton lost a valuable cow last week from eating squirrel poison, scattered around, mostly too plentiful.
