LOCAL CRIMINAL PROCESSES HALT AS COURT OPENS

Because of the fact that County Prosecuting Attorney Rawles Moore's time will be taken up with trials in circuit court and in looking after grand jury matters at Jacksonville for the next three weeks or a month, and the fact that there is no assistant county attorney, criminal business locally from the state's end will be practically not looked after for that length of time.

During the big stress of business incidental to the Jacksonville bank trials and other criminal cases during the early part of Prosecuting Attorney Moore's regime the county court allowed him an assistant until such busy period was over, Attorney George Codding served in that capacity for months.

It is pointed out by Judge Glenn O. Taylor and others familiar with the urgent need of an assistant county prosecutor that it would be a paying venture for the county court to provide for such an official, as the times realized from state cases would more than pay the salary of an assistant county prosecutor.

Last Saturday because of Prosecutor Moore being tied up at Jacksonville with circuit court matters no state charges could be brought against the Klamath Falls auto dealer arrested for having booze in his possession and the police made it a city charge, and the $100 fine imposed went to the city treasury instead of the state or county.

Again Tuesday when the two men of the Ashland joyriding party were arrested in Medford a charge of intoxication was preferred against them under the city ordinance, they put up $20 cash bail each for their appearance in police court Thursday afternoon, which it is known they will forfeit by non-appearance. This forfeited money will go into the city treasury. Had Prosecutor Moore not been tied up in circuit court Tuesday several state charges could have been brought against the two men.

GOOD PRICES FOR LOCAL FRUIT IN LONDON MARKET

The first shipment of Rogue River valley fruit to reach London has been sold at excellent prices according to information received today by J. B. Carey, local representative for Dan Wulle and Co. and Guy Conner who represents other British firms.

Seven cars of Rogue River and Grants Pass Newtowns sold in London by Dan Wulle and Co. brought an average of 20 shillings per box which will mean not less than $2 per box here, according to Mr. Carey.

Guy Conner reports that Anjon and Comice pears sold in London brought 30 to 35 shillings per box, small Bosc from 27 to 30 shillings, while he has sold Bartlett in New York recently at $3.50 per box and Jumble Bosc at $4.15. This means from $3.50 to $5.00 per box for pears in London, says Mr. Conner.

It also became known today that Watsonville Newtowns recently sold in England for from 18 to 20 shillings per box.

LEGION DEMANDS DEBS BE MADE TO SERVE SENTENCE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 27.—More drastic legislation governing the transmission of anarchistic and radical literature through the mail has been recommended by Americanism commission of the American Legion here through the report of the commission's director, Alvin M. Owsley, of Denton, Texas. The commission opened its annual meeting yesterday and began consideration of a large number of recommendations to be submitted to the national convention of the legion here next week.

The director's report recommends the passage of a law which would prohibit the sending through the mails of any printed, written, photographic or pictorial matter that has an un-American tendency, and also a clause prohibiting the sale of such matter.

The commissioners discussed the case of Eugene V. Debs, now serving a prison term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, after having been convicted of violating the war-time laws, and Grover C. Bergdoll, American draft evader, now in Europe.

Concerning the Debs case, Lindsey Blaney, of Texas, said: "Debs violated certain statutes of the United States. He was found guilty and sentenced to serve a term in the federal penitentiary and the American Legion proposes to see that he pays the penalty meted out to him by constituted courts. The American Legion stands for upholding law and preserving order and this it is determined to do in this and all other cases."

More appropriate and solemn naturalization ceremonies for aliens were urged in the report.

CANADAY TO TALK ON DISARMAMENT

The Parent Teacher circle of the Jackson school will meet in regular session Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the assembly hall of the building. Attorney Canaday will address the meeting, his subject being the disarmament conference to be held at Washington, D. C. during the month of November. This is a subject of vital interest to mothers and it is hoped every parent will be present. There will be a musical number and the social hour will be in charge of Mrs. Olin Arnsperger. Everyone interested is cordially invited.

TRIGONIA OIL IS NOW ON DISPLAY

The five-quart bottle of oil on display in the window of the Page-Dressler Co. was skimmed from the ballings made at the Trigonía well in three hours time. The oil is of good quality and it is hoped that when the new casing arrives, is set and drilling resumed that paying oil sand will be struck.

Another bottle of the oil is on display in Brown & Brown's.

The Screen

"Courage" Wins Praise

"Courage," well named, well acted and well directed, is a photoplay of compelling interest and fine ideals. It has a fascinating plot and is a great story of a steadfast love, of tragedy, pathos, happiness—and courage, which is the big dominating theme. It opened an engagement at the Rialto theater yesterday.

Naomi Childers, a beautiful and charming actress, in the leading feminine role, and Sam de Grasse as her leading man. The cast is a strong one.

Buster Keaton, the new comedy star was presented to Medford fans yesterday at the Page theatre, for the first time, and far exceeded expectations. He has evolved a comedy idea that is absolutely new. "One Week" has to do with newlyweds who are very much in love, but there the resemblance to the novel of passion ends. For Buster and his bride (played by beautiful Sybil Sealey) encounter all their troubles when they start housekeeping a la carte. The house itself is delivered on a cart, hence the pun.

Hobart Bosworth has never had a role better suited to his strong and pleasing personality than in "The Brute Master," written by Mrs. Jack London. He brings all the wealth of his long experience to the delineation of the giant figure who, while fierce and rugged, still had depths of tender feeling which only the girl whom he loved was able to discover.
