

NEARLY $1000 IN PURSES FOR BIG ARMISTICE SMOKER

The advance seat sale for the smoker put on by the American Legion Armistice day starting at 3 p. m. at the Natorium indicates this will be one of the biggest events of the day. Purses aggregating nearly $1000 have been put up for the matches which include a ten round bout between Frankie O'Brien of Portland and Ben Dixon of Medford and six rounds between Billy Ryan of Portland and Johnny Carlson of Medford, with a snappy six round bout between Joe Blackburn, Medford and Kid Richie of Grants Pass.

Several peppy preliminaries have been carded and in addition to these flat encounters the smoker will include some vaudeville stunts which will keep things moving briskly every minute. The smoker committee promises the patrons of this entertainment a party they will remember for years and as the time is drawing near it is urged that those who intend to be present get their reserved seats at Brown's Clear store while the getting is good.

FLOWERS WANTED FOR APPLE DISPLAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

In order that apples on display at the Rogue River Valley Apple Exposition at the exhibit building may have a more perfect setting on Armistice day when many out of town visitors are expected to call, the committee in charge request those residents having fall flowers to send them in either on Thursday or on Friday morning.

The Apple exposition is being visited daily by hundreds of people, both local residents and tourists. No exhibit has ever been made in the Rogue River valley that has received such favorable comment and that has done more to impress the stranger with productiveness of the valley.

The exhibit building is an ideal location to maintain this display as strangers coming to Medford cannot help but see it, and many travelers on the trains get a glance at it on going through Medford.

The ventilation at the exhibit room is perfect and there being no artificial heat, the apples are expected to remain in perfect condition for exhibit for several months.

NEW MANAGEMENT AT VALLEY GARAGE

The Valley Garage is open for business under the management of J. R. Galbraith and G. L. Cane, two Portland garage men, who recently bought out the interests of Farmer Brothers, the former owners. The new firm will handle battery and electric work, Willard Batteries, oils, greases, and do car washing as well as supply storage and it is the intention of the new managers to maintain the reputation of high class service established by Farmer Brothers. The Medford Velle company, dealers for the new Velle 34 in Medford, have also established headquarters in the Valley Garage building.

Farmer Brothers, who have established a wide reputation for their repair work, will continue their work in the new repair shop at 13 North Grape street, where they have installed new and complete equipment to handle all jobs. This equipment includes a "running in" machine for inspecting and tuning up motors.

An odor of moth balls pervades the atmosphere and there are frantic searches through forgotten barracks bags for "that other puttee" or "that O. The parade committee which has perhaps, the largest task of the entire Armistice Day celebration organization has completed arrangements for the best parade ever seen in Medford, and perhaps in this end of the state.

Marcus Show Full of Pep

The fastest dancing show ever presented on the American stage is this "Cluck! Cluck!" which is the 1921 extravaganza of the Marcus brand. There are six acts of premiere dancers and then of course the Marcus Peaches can all shake a mean hoof—or pair rather. Speed is one of "Cluck Cluck's!!" mainest attributes. The speedy entertainment will exhibit its celerity at the Page theatre, Sunday matinee and night, Nov. 13.

Cecil B. DeMille in "The Affairs of Anatol," now showing at the Page theatre has assembled a cast of such distinction as to restore the descriptive phrase, "all-star cast" to the innocence and frankness of its original meaning.

Back of the story is a lot of human philosophy which is to be discerned by the wise. On the surface, a charming story is told of devotion to an ideal.

The hero, like the principal character in Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird" finds his ultimate happiness at home. After a world-wide search he discovers what the observer knows from the beginning, that peace is not on the frontiers of life but right at the fireside. Life for the hero of "The Affairs of Anatol" is spiced with complications but the conclusions will square with the imaginative ideals of all ages and classes and—both sexes.

Viola Dana as Rialto

Viola Dana, as a federal secret service agent, comes to the Rialto theatre today and tomorrow when the star will be seen in "There Are No Villains," a thrilling story of optimum smugglers on the Pacific coast.

In this story of the operations of a skillful band of crooks, Miss Dana appears in a role that gives her plenty of opportunity to display that versatility which has made her such a favorite of picture fans.

Playing opposite Miss Dana as leading man is Gaston Glass.
