STILL HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT IN IRISH TANGLE

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By Associated Press.) A statement issued after this morning's meeting of the Ulster cabinet members here concluded as follows:

"Sir James Craig (the premier) on behalf of the cabinet of northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

The statement promised by Prime Minister Lloyd George outlining the negotiations with the Sinn Fein representatives had not been received by the representatives of Ulster this forenoon, but Mr. Lloyd George sent word he hoped to be able to supply it during the afternoon, but suggested that his meeting with the Ulster cabinet go over until tomorrow.

The Ulster cabinet planned to hold a meeting as soon as the statement from Lloyd George was received.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By Associated Press.) The session of parliament which opened in February, ends today with the prorogation of both houses by royal commission after the brief autumn sitting which began October 18.

This special meeting, which the government was able to arrange on short notice, due to the fact that parliament had merely adjourned in August instead of being prorogued, was summoned to deal with the question of unemployment. While this problem was duly taken care of the interest of the members has been mainly focused on the Irish peace negotiations.

Several members of parliament, viewing with some apprehension the uncertain state of the Irish situation at the present time, last night urged the government to allow another adjournment instead of the indefinite postponement which a prorogation implies. Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons declared that nothing stood in the way of proroguing the body and reminded his anxious inquirer that Prime Minister Lloyd George had repeatedly promised that nothing would be finally settled with regard to Ireland without calling the house together.

A new session could be opened, he pointed out, should developments require it.

While it cannot be denied that a great deal of gloomy foreboding exists in many quarters it is not believed generally that the peace negotiations are necessarily doomed to a sudden collapse, whatever the attitude Ulster may adopt, but that further negotiations would follow any possible check.

COUNT SZECHENYI TO BE HUNGARIAN AMBASSADOR

Count & Countess Szechenyi

Count Laszio Szechenyi, who, according to reports from Budapest, will soon be appointed Hungarian ambassador to the United States. The Countess Szechenyi is the former Gladys M. Vanderbilt, of New York. She married the count in 1908 and is now in this country.

PLAN LOWER WAGES FOR MILLION MEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Immediate action will be taken to secure reduction in the wages of train and yard service employes, approximating 10 per cent on all lines north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, it was announced today, after a meeting of the presidents of the lines involved.

Reductions, according to L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad will be in line with the decision reached by the railroad executives in Chicago on October 14. The wage cuts will affect approximately 1,000,000 men.

NEW MINING CO. PURCHASES LONE PINE PROPERTY

The Great Western Mining and Developing company which has recently been organized has purchased the six claims several miles southeast of Jacksonville which were formerly known as the Lone Pine mine. The officers of the company are: W. W. Truax, president; B. F. Lindas, secretary; C. C. Clark, trustee. The Jackson County bank will be the depository and the mining operations will begin on the property within the next week or ten days.

The following data is from a certified report compiled by Walter B. Robinson, superintendent of the Blue Ledge mines. There has been 2,000 feet of tunnel work done on the property which is situated on Forest Creek seven miles by macadamized road from Jacksonville, Ore. Numerous bunches of high grade ore have been taken from surface pits along the vein and according to former owners, some of this ore has been found to run as high as $3,000 per ton. In 1915 several hundred tons of ore were mailed which, according to reports plated from $20 to $40 per ton.

Sam Chisholm, a mining engineer who has had six years' experience with the Ray Consolidated Copper Co., at Ray, Ariz., as a foreman and who has had over 25 years' mining experience in Nevada, Mexico, Colorado, California, Idaho and Montana will have charge of the operations for the new company.

J. D. FARRELL WINS AT HORSE SHOW

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 10.—J. D. Farrell of Seattle took honors in three events in Portland's annual horse show last night, his pair of chestnut hackneys, Princess of Mance and Prince of Mance winning three blue ribbons and one red. The victories gave this pair a total of six firsts and three seconds for the three nights of showing and put the Farrel stable in the lead.

Santa Monica, owned by Mrs. Winslow Anderson of Pleasanton, Cal., won first honors in the combination three gaited class. Mrs. C. B. Anderson's The Nobleman, won first in the open five gaited saddle horse event. Mrs. Wayne W. Keyes of Tacoma got second with Hildare.

James McCleave of Victoria, B. C., took first in the lightweight hunters with Vitality. Walter Sport, Jr., of Edmonton, Alta., won second with Domino.

DYING STATEMENT BARRED

pocket. He said Matthews' reputation was good. Winkle said he lived in the Eagle Point district for 30 years. Winkle corroborated the testimony of Smith.

Ernie Dahack, barber at Eagle Point, testified that he talked with Harry Lewis shortly after the shooting and that Lewis told him he whipped his horses and saw nothing.

Dahack also testified that Jacks made threats against Matthews, after their fight at the dance last winter. The witness said he was a cousin of the defendant and testified that Jacks' reputation was bad "before and after the shooting." The witness testified that Jacks had a bad reputation relative to women, booze and threats to kill.

John Smith Testifies.

John R. Smith, a native son of Eagle Point, testified that Harry Lewis told him on the evening of the shooting that he had not seen anything of the shooting, and that if he had "had a larger whip he would have gone faster." Witness said everybody was laughing and joking about Lewis being frightened.

Ray Harnish testified that he saw Harry Lewis on the morning of the shooting at his father's (Lewis') barn about 20 minutes after the affray, and that Lewis told him he knew or saw nothing of the affair. Harnish also said he saw Matthews go down the road before he saw Lewis, and that he wore no hat, and his face seemed bloody. The witness said he saw Jacks make a display of a pistol in front of Brown's store last May, when the witness called his attention to the weapon in Jacks' hip pocket.

George Adams testified that last March, while hunting agates on the desert that Jacks and Matthews were riding, that Jacks shouted to Matthews "I'll just give you two days to leave the country or I'll kill you as sure as your name is Matthews." Witness said he knew neither at the time.

Mrs. Lewis Testifies

The first witness called at the Wednesday afternoon session was Mrs. Frank Lewis, who testified that on the morning of the shooting about 10 o'clock she saw Raleigh Matthews riding by her home on a horse at a gallop.

Dr. Chas. T. Sweeney was the next witness and testified that he was called to Eagle Point on the morning of the fray to attend Wilbur Jacks, and that he found him lying on a bed with his knees drawn up as if in great pain. He testified that after administering first aid he brought Jacks to Sacred Heart hospital, and an operation was performed.

The witness said that all four wounds were in the abdominal cavity, and that there were 13 perforations of the intestines.

Dr. Sweeney testified that Jacks died from shock caused by bullet wounds, and described the results of the autopsy, relative to the exits and entrances of the bullets. Dr. Sweeney in response to a question said that but one of the wounds would have increased his chances for recovery.

Dr. Sweeney testified that at 9:30 the next morning after the shooting, Jacks lost his hope and recognized that he was dying, and called the witness' attention to his weakening condition, and thereupon made a dying statement, which was not admitted as evidence.

Testifying regarding a conversation with Jacks on the evening before his death relative to letters, at this juncture E. F. Chamberlain, who testified at the morning session, and a nephew of Jacks, was brought before the court by Attorney Evan Reames, who explained that Chamberlain was violating the court order excluding witnesses. The court disposed of the case by ordering the witness to remain out of the room, and, further, that he would issue an order to hold his pay for attendance as a witness. A few minutes later the court instructed the bailiff to return Chamberlain to the courtroom and withdrew his criticism upon the grounds that the district attorney had given him permission to enter. The defense attorneys however entered an objection to Chamberlain being in the room, and the court ordered him to remain without.

Dr. Henry M. Hart was called as a witness and corroborated in a large measure the technical testimony of Dr. Sweeney, relative to the nature of the wounds, and the findings of the autopsy. Dr. Hart was excused after a short cross examination.

Fingerprint Expert on Stand

Deputy Sheriff Forncrook was called as a witness and testified that he had specialized in finger print and handwriting during his 11 years of deputyship, and that he was familiar with writing. After an objection by the defense, Forncrook was called upon to identify handwriting, and that both papers were written by Raleigh Matthews. The witness identified a packet of letters he found underneath the rafters under the old mill (old Eagle Point flour mill). These are the letters Matthews is said to have written to Mrs. Jacks.

Under cross examination by Attorney Evan Reames, the witness was asked "what right he had to subject the defendant to the humiliation of having his fingerprints taken."

H. E. Campbell, cashier of the Eagle Point bank, testified that Raleigh Matthews carried an account in the bank, and that he was familiar with Matthews' handwriting. Checks written by Matthews were offered as evidence to show the comparison with the writing in the letters. Attorney Reames demanded the checks as the property of Matthews. The witness gave his belief that Matthews wrote all of them.

Sheriff Terrill was also called as a handwriting expert, and said that he had seen Matthews' writing and identified writing as being in his handwriting. The sheriff said he did not consider himself a handwriting expert but comparing it was part of his business. Sheriff Terrill gave an explanation of how handwriting experts operate, which brought laughter from the crowded courtroom. The bench rebuked the audience and said he would deal severely with any further laughter.

W. W. Williams, of Portland, who said he had been a handwriting expert and that it was a large share of his occupation. He said he had made many examinations of forgeries. He was handed the letters and asked to identify them, and said he had spent three hours examining them. The witness gave a long answer on the general characteristics of the two documents. Under cross examination the witness said his usual charge was $25 per diem and expenses.

Sheriff Terrill was recalled to the stand and said he knew Wig Jacks since he was a boy, and that he had been married for 20 years.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says:

"When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2147 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.
