BROWNSBORO NEWS

A number of the men of this community are going to help Mr. Henry build his new barn, in place of the one that burned last week. Several men are hauling the hay and soon they will have a barn raising. At that time the men will assist him in the work.

Mr. Monia has his fourth crop of hay down and has it almost in the barn. This fourth crop is due to the late season.

Joe Pool, who has been foreman of the Butte Creek orchard, gave up his position there.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry made a business trip to Medford Monday.

Fred Fridinger of Medford is helping his brother, Mr. A. F. Fridigar, build his house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cowden and two children, Gladys and Robert, visited the Stanley home Sunday.

Mrs. Roscoe Hulke went to the old Van Dyke House to a quilting party

Friday. There were seven women present. Miss Pond from Medford was there and talked on home economics.

The small crowd was due to the people not knowing about it soon enough.

Mr. George Hansen and daughter Mildred made a business trip to Medford Wednesday.

There is some talk of having Miss Pond with us again. Providing we could have a larger attendance so that she could take up more demonstrating.

Some people of Brownsboro have been complaining about the school board spending money to buy new globes and maps. They said if the maps and globes they used when they went to school, which was 15 or 20 years ago, were good enough for them they ought to be good enough for us.

The oxen and cart was good enough for our grandfathers, but that method is not good enough for us in this age.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

On Friday of last week Roy Smith and wife, Mrs. Wm. Perry and her husband's mother, Mrs. F. M. Stewart drove to Medford. Mrs. Stewart is living with one of her daughters, Mrs. J. W. Grover in Medford and has been out here visiting with her son, Mr. Wm. Perry and some of her old friends and neighbors, for during the life of her second husband they resided here.

Mr. Stoddard of Butte Falls, one of the prominent business men of the place, who had been out to Jacksonville on jury duty, was one of the passengers on the Butte Falls stage on his way home. There were three other passengers on the same stage, but I did not learn their names on destination.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cavally of Seattle a traveling man and his wife, who were here soliciting for the Camel cigarettes was here for dinner Saturday.

Miss Patricia Hogan who is teaching in the Butte creek district came out Saturday on the Lake Creek stage and went on to Medford on the Lewis line.

Mrs. Ralph Gardner and her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Nyren of Lake creek came out Saturday and brought out some fine beef and also a lot of grapes to sell.

Porter J. Neff, one of the leading attorneys of Medford was out here Saturday, and I understand that he was looking an evidence in the Raleigh Matthews murder case. And our sheriff, Charley Torill was also out here Friday afternoon and also Saturday on official business.

Mrs. J. Monia and her daughter, Mrs. R. Charley of Brownsboro were here Saturday evening trading.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marshall of Brownsboro were also here the same day.

Pete Young and George W. Daley Jr. were also among the business callers.

Henry Trusty who is engaged on the rock crusher on the Crater Lake highway on the Wm. Von der Hellen contract, came down Saturday morning and remained at the Sunnyside until Sunday afternoon. He works on the night shift and Saturday is his Sunday as he goes to work Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. and works eight hours. He reports that the contractor expects to finish up that job this week.

Among the diners at the Sunnyside Sunday noon were George and Harry Lewis, the two brothers who bought the Jonah farm, a part of which is inside of the incorporated part of our town as when the promoters of the move to incorporate the town they just ran the lines so as to include those who they thought that they could induce to vote for the move, leaving out six families on the upper end of the town and four on the lower end, thus leaving out ten families and that is the reason that only a part of the farm is in the town proper. We also had Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hubbs, one of the leading shoe dealers in Medford, and his brother, T. B. Hubbs and wife of Eugene, Ore., Earl Mathews and Charley Winkles, Harry Pellett and son Alex Pellett of the Gold Range orchard. They were on their way up to the Butte Creek (Corbin) orchard. Mr. Pellett expects to have charge of that orchard this season as Joe Pool, the former foreman has quit the job. Horace Mitchell and Mr. Bolton of Medford were also among the guests, besides four strangers who came in, ate their dinner, paid the hostess and started before I secured their names.

Our old Bible class teacher in the Sunday school, Mr. J. Each, who has been back east on a visit returned last week and was on hand Sunday morning to take charge of his class again. He reports that the weather there has been very much as it has been here, very pleasant, but reports a scarcity of money, as what the farmer has to sell is so low in price that they can hardly live; that corn, one of the staple products of that country, the middle west, is only worth eighteen cents a bushel and other things the farmer has to sell is in the same ratio, and that taxes are high and rent in proportion.

One of our neighbors, Mrs. M. E. Watkins, had a little surprise party at her home Sunday morning when her daughter, Mrs. Guches and four children of Central Point and Mr. Elmer Adams, wife and daughter of Medford and Mrs. Watkins' son-in-law, George Phillips of Eagle Point, and C. C. Beale of Butte Falls came in for dinner and they, Mrs. Watkins and daughter Anna report that they had one of the best times of their lives.

Another one of our old and highly respected citizens, Mr. Benjamin Franklin Clark Edmondson of Butte Falls, passed on to his reward last Sunday, Nov. 6th, 1921, aged 89 years three months and three days. He leaves his wife and six children and three of their children have passed on before. The deceased was a man of remarkable constitution as he was strong and vigorous until the very last of his life and seemed to enjoy not only life, but was a sociable and entertaining citizen and devoted husband and father and true friend. The interment took place in the Butte Falls cemetery on Tuesday, Nov. 7, Rev. J. E. Day of Butte Falls officiating at the grave.

M. D. Foster who is working in the Lake Creek district passed through here last Monday with a lot of finishing lumber for Thos. Farlow. He said that Thomas was making quite an addition to his house in the way of screen porches, sleeping rooms, etc.

I see in looking over what I have written that I have omitted to mention that there was religious services at the Catholic church last Sunday and that W. C. Clements and wife brought the pastor, Rev. Wm. Meghin to the Sunnyside for dinner. (The reason I did not put the announcement in the proper place was that I did not know how to spell the reverend gentleman's name and waited until I could see Mr. Clements to learn.)

Mr. and Mrs. John Long of Derby were here last Monday on business.

Leland Pettigrew, son of Fred Pettigrew passed through here Monday on his way to Medford to see a doctor. He had the misfortune to be thrown from a horse and had his shoulder broken, a serious accident.

Henry Gordon of Fort Klamath came in Monday night and spent the night with us. He came in to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, Mr. B. P. C. Edmondson at Butte Falls, but had trouble with his machine and had to come here for repairs. His wife was already at Butte Falls. Mr. Gordon came back Tuesday night again to get more work done on his car, starting home this Wednesday morning. He reports that there is but little snow on the road and that the road is in fine shape.

MEASLES may be followed by serious cold troubles; use rightly—
