According to Portland newspapers no price changes were announced for either butter or eggs in the retail shops in that city for the week's opening, but it begins to look as if fresh eggs have not only reached the high point but are likely to go lower without much delay. While naturally weather conditions for the immediate future will affect the price that consumers must pay for fresh eggs, the supply is increasing faster than the demand.

The Beaver Portland Cement company is installing a fifteen ton Brown locomotive hoist near their cement storage bins to handle a storage of lime rock which is being quarried out at Zaehler and transported to the main plant by the S. P. The primary object of the hoist is to pile the rock in storage to eliminate delay at the main plant during the summer whenever anything goes wrong at the quarry. Plans to use the big crane when the plant is in operation for piling cement clinker in storage for ageing and for handling gypsum will probably be put into execution when rock storage will not be necessary. The Brown hoist was bought in Seattle and is being equipped at the plant with a fifty foot crane and a clam-shell bucket holding one yard. The hoist cost the company about $15,000.—Gold Hill News.

Milk prices are lowered in Medford

At a meeting of the Milk Producers and Distributors held last Saturday it was decided that the price of milk should be reduced. The meeting was well attended and the opinion was unanimous. Among other things of discussion, the quality of milk was brought up and it is a well known fact that Southern Oregon (meaning Medford) has the best milk, containing the highest per centage in butter-fat in the state, which is delivered to the consumers. This statement was verified by Mr. Zimer, Deputy State Dairy and Food Inspector, who was present at this meeting, and was appreciated very highly by the producers.

The price of milk and cream delivered at residences daily, effective December 1st, 1921, was decided on as follows:

Milk, gal., 40c; qts., 11c; pts., 6c. Coffee Cream, gal., $1.50; qts., 50c; pts., 30c; half pint, 15c.

Whipping cream, gal. $2.00; qts., 60c; pts., 35c; half pints 20c. Adv.
