Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry. It was very thoughtful of the city of Spokane to welcome Marshal Fuch with "the roar of guns". He never heard any before.

Many people have wondered many times why the enterprising young men of the world do not take up the selling of automobiles as a business. There is an alarming shortage of them. They are only half as thick as sparrows, and as numerous as auto mechanics.

SPANKED

(Corvallis Gazette Times) The O. A. C. football squad returned yesterday from California, and were given a warm reception upon their return.

The Bolsheviks are planning a revolution in America in February. This will be a great success if the country does not run out of rope and telephone poles.

Japan is going to wash and fill and hem and law on the naval disarmament plan until it runs with its wheels in the middle gets up on his hind legs and informs the Tokio government that if the lattership they want the US can build as many of them and not go livery as anybody. The Japs, by their tactics of wanting nothing but the best of everything, evidently have not learned there was a change of administration last March.

Amateur reformers are not as ambitious as formerly, but the highly paid professional is still regulating humanity from his well cushioned swivel chair. Toward Mr. C. L. King of New York City, who is a nabob of the "Social Betterment League of America," argues that all homes be searched once a month, for malt and spiritism liquors.

Nazimova, for whose name everybody has a different pronunciation, appeared at the G. Hunt ceremony last eve, and it was as wet inside as out. The lady shakes a mean shudder when dying.

Old Frederick the Great Chaupin was up from Foots-Crik-Tian. He did not wear his cutaway coat, but was using the glorious Dock Rouse system of wearing a red carnation.

The Arbuckle case is whittled down to the legal oratorical recitations that are the agonizing flesh of all trials. The fat lot of the $25,000 pain-bug auto, the $100,000 palace, the $250,000 cache of booty, and the $1000 imported black plush bathrobe, by next week this time will be falling into cashbins and throwing oatmeal pies as of yore.

WEAK HANDED RAZORS

(Eugene Guard) John Walsh and Harry Veach are back from Portland where they went to learn the barber trade. John and Harry claim the fellows down there whippers are too tough, so they give it up. John is back on in the story for that's again.

"The evidence showed that Mrs. La Breaque took a drink of the moonshine sold by the defendant, and soon afterwards became hysterical" (Portland Telegram). She retained pleasant memories of low amputees.

WINTER WORRIES.

WINTER brings its own diseases, calling for a change of pills; when the climate up and freezes, there's a brand new set of pills as I put away the bottles that the summer saw the joy, for the friend winter then for all the ailments of July. And with glib and emotions to the pharmacy I send, and buy up new pills and potions, hoping they are worth a hoat. Thus the winter time is giving satisfaction manifold for a change minus the worth living, and it's routine makes us old. Every form of stern endeavor should be mixed with harmless play, doing one old thing forever takes one's pep and vim away. I was tired of taking hitters for my sunstroke and my liver, summer days that human critics must consume or lose their lives; now I have my winter ailments, rheumatism, grip and flu, with the usual demerolants of a wishbone or a few ailments more or less distressing, foreign and domestic flia; but I count it quite a blessing to confront new kinds of pills. There is always something cheering, in this happy life we lead; always some attraction nearing, if we only give it heed. When the cold no longer pleases, and the winter seems a cruel spring will usher in diseases of a new and pleasant kind. Now pills are to us something always something new and strange, and the old world goes a whirling down the ringing grooves of change.

N. Y. ELECTIONS PUT SONS FAMOUS MEN IN POLITICS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The recent elections started two members of noted New York families on political careers. One was Frederick Taylor Davison, son of James C. Davison, Medford factor, and the other John Gray Wolf, whose grandfather, the late John A. Grassold, Troy capitalist, furnished the money with which John Krieger built the Senator during the Civil war. Davison was elected to the assembly from Nassau county to fill the seat occupied by Theodore Roosevelt, now assistant secretary of the navy. He was opposed by Pontius Talafarro, a war veteran who, like himself, possessed an enviable record. Wolf also was elected to the assembly, but from Dutchess county. He is a nephew of Dr. William Sewall-Wolf, who married one of the daughters of the late William H. Vanderbilt. He was graduated from Yale in 1915. Both young men have a keen taste for politics. Davison, who is the son-in-law of the Rev. Hildreth Beabody, headmaster of Groton school and once his mentor, recently announced that he would much rather enter politics than become eventually a member of a banking firm.

Japan is going to wash and fill and hem and law on the naval disarmament plan until it runs with its wheels in the middle gets up on his hind legs and informs the Tokio government that if the lattership they want the US can build as many of them and not go livery as anybody. The Japs, by their tactics of wanting nothing but the best of everything, evidently have not learned there was a change of administration last March.

YOU MUST DECIDE

The First National could advertise every day—tell you of real men and women who have been successful through efficiency in money matters. Then we could do the opposite—show you the down-and-outers; people who are failures because they never learned to save. But in the last analysis, IT'S UP TO YOU what effect it has.

NO MORE BOBBINS TO WIND Every woman knows the bother of having to stop and wind the bobbin. Always when you want to hurry most, too. With the Western Electric Two-Spool Portable Sewing Machine you have no more bobbins to wind for you sew direct from two spools instead of from a spool and a bobbin. See how much time this saves you? With this machine you have none of the hard work—it is run by electricity. It is portable, no larger than a traveling bag and as easily carried and put away when you're finished sewing. It is economical, a cent's worth of electricity runs it three hours and it costs less than most makes of pedal power machines. PAUL'S ELECTRIC STORE Main and Central Sts. Phone 90 EASY PAYMENTS
